Bonelli Park Phase 4 bids may get tossed into lake

SAN DIMAS — Likelihood that bids for the construction of Phase Four of Bonelli Park may be thrown out because they are far over the county's estimate came to light today.

In the lowest of three bids submitted a week ago, Pascal and Ludwig, an Upland engineer firm, offered to do the job for $6,291,000, about $1.7 million more than the county engineer had figured.

As a result, the county engineer's office put off recommendations for acceptance by the Board of Supervisors this week.

Phase Four is probably the most important project at the park, where improvements have already reached $15 million. It calls for the development of the picnic area, boat launching and rental quarters, camping area, riding and hiking trails and headquarters building.

A spokesman said the architects, Williamson and Paige, have been asked to review all the bids and make recommendations.

He said the county engineer's Facilities Acquisition and Management Service (FAMS) also has begun a revision of the specifications to see what can be left out of the original proposal.

As a result, a delay of one to two weeks is expected in recommending action to the board.

Supervisor Peter F. Schabarum said any recommendation the county engineer makes is too late to get on the board's agenda Tuesday.

But he said he will bring up the matter verbally, if he receives the information by the weekend.

"Essentially, what we will try to determine," he explained, "is whether to stay with the low bid as submitted, or scale down the plans to about $4.5 million. The county engineer is trying to see how much money he can come up with."

The high bid on Phase Four was the second blow the park suffered this month.

A week earlier, the supervisor knocked out a proposal for the reconstruction of the park's Mountain Meadows Golf Course with private funds in exchange for a long-term lease agreement.

BACK TO PRISON

Coed Eve Pearson, 20, left, is comforted by Deputy Sheriff Arlene Barnes as she leaves an Atlanta court hearing Tuesday to return to prison. Eve is serving a year sentence for stealing a $5 rocking chair from an abandoned house. The former West Georgia College student appeared in court in hopes of the court ordering a review of her case.

Panel vote kills bid for delay

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Finance Committee has cleared the way for automatic imposition next Monday of the one-cent statewide sales tax increase.

The committee, heeding the advice of the Reagan administration and its own fiscal adviser, Tuesday killed on a bipartisan 3-7 vote a bill to delay the increase for two months until June 1.

As a result, the levy will rise from 5 to 6 cents on-the-dollar and from 5 ½ to 6 ½ cents in counties of the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

The increase had been suspended for six months as a method of consuming roughly half of a record $850 million tax surplus. A one-time income tax rebate disposed of the balance.

The committee acted shortly after Gov. Ronald Reagan told a news conference that "fiscal responsibility" would dictate the measure (SB1490) be vetoed if it reached nim.

Sen. Ralph Dills, D-Gardena, the author, told the committee the approximately $102 million the extra levy will produce in April and May shouldn't be extracted from taxpayers until the state was certain the revenue was absolutely needed.

"Our problem is to explain to the people back home why we vote to put a tax increase on them if we don't know if we needed it and we won't know that until May 15," he said.

On May 15, the state Department of Finance will report its revised "energy crisis" revenue expectations to the legislature so next year's budget can be tailored accordingly. No one now can accurately estimate how deeply the energy crisis will have cut into revenue.

The bill was opposed by representatives of the Finance Department, Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post and the state Board of Equalization. They warned of threatened huge unexpected overruns in welfare, Medi-Cal and school costs.

Roy Bell, assistant finance director, testified preliminary indications show inflation is driving up Medi-Cal costs over what had been anticipated and that school expenditures may run $50 million more in the next two years than previously anticipated.

"We do have expenditure problems," Bell said. It would take a significant turn around in the economy just to take care of those problems."

John Vickerman, a deputy to Post, warned of possible inflation and energy crisis-caused higher welfare expenditures in addition to the expected increased Medi-Cal costs.

Vickerman advised it would not be "prudent" now to reduce state revenues in the face of threatened overruns. He said the two-month delay would leave the state on June 31, 1975, with a surplus of only $137 million.

"It's reducing your insurance," Vickerman said of the bill.

Bell and Vickerman declined to offer an estimate on how big the Medi-Cal and welfare cost overruns might be.

Reagan said his budget was keyed to an April 1 resumption of the statewide sales tax and that revenue from it was committed to financing $700 million in property tax relief provided last year by the legislature.

Youth was scout, A-student

Police believe boy, 11, killed family, self

RICHARDSON, Tex. (UPI) — Friends said he was not the kind of boy you'd think would do something like this.

Kevin Nichols went to church every Sunday. He was an "A" student, a Boy Scout and a spelling-bee champ. He was cooperative at school.

But police in this Dallas suburb believe Kevin, 11, killed his father, his mother, his sister and then himself.

The bodies of Robert Nichols, 49; his wife Jeannie, 51; daughter Debra, 13 and Kevin were found in their home Monday night. The medical examiner believes they died last Thursday.

"At school he was always cooperative," Mohawk Elementary School Principal Bill Malcolm said Tuesday. "I don't ever recall that he had any conflict with anybody, either teachers or students.

"It's incomprehensible how these things happen. He was just not the kind of boy you'd think could do something like this."

Kevin's school records showed more A's than B's. He played Little League baseball.

The Nichols' neighbors became alarmed about lack of activity at the house after four days and called Rev. Tom Peel, the minister at Arapaho United Methodist Church. He looked through the sliding glass doors in the family's home and called officers.

Police found Nichols face up, wearing a jumpsuit, in the family room. His wife, in full length pajamas, was in the bed in the master bedroom.

Kevin's body was sprawled on the floor across the room from his sister's, in her bedroom.

Officers found a seven-shot .22 caliber pistol under Kevin's body. They said the boy apparently used the gun to kill the family with single wounds in the head and then shot himself.

The Nichols family was described as "ideal" by their neighbors. They called them "the loveliest people we've known. They were warmhearted, outgoing."

Nichols, southwest editor for Electricity on the Farm, a New York-based magazine, was described as the head of a devout Methodist family. He was chairman of the parish pastor committee which selected Rev. Peel five months ago to transfer here from Cooper, Tex.

Debra sang in a choir. She won a ribbon in art at the 1973 State Fair of Texas.

"She was an average student, responsible, with no problems," a teacher said. "We have had good feelings about her," said another.

Patricia's mother feels hope for safety waning

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst and his wife returned here today from a meeting in New York, where Mrs. Hearst said she was losing hope for the safety of their kidnaped daughter Patricia.

The 20-year-old granddaughter of William Randolph Hearst, late founder of one of the country's first giant media groups, was abducted from her apartment on Feb. 4—51 days ago—by persons calling themselves the Symbionese Liberation Army. (SLA).

Latest development in the case was that two jailed members of the SLA were expected to make a statement this week about the kidnaping. They were being held in connection with a slaying which the SLA claims to have committed.

Patricia's fiance, Steven Weed, said on educational television station KQED Tuesday night that a statement from Joseph Remiro and Russell Little might come today or Thursday. They were charged with the murder last year of Oakland school superintendent Marcus Foster.

The Hearsts were in New York Tuesday attending a meeting of the Hearst Corp. board of directors. Mrs. Hearst, speaking to the New York Post, said, "You try to keep your spirits up, but now I'm finally beginning to lose hope.

"I can't think of any way out of it for Patty now," she said.

"There doesn't seem to be anything more we can do right now. I don't know how you can deal with those kind of people."

Weed, who was with Patricia the night she was dragged screaming from her Berkeley apartment, said Little and Remiro were "anxious that Patty be returned safely for their own sakes as well as hers."

He said they do not have any specific plan but that they wanted to talk in general terms about the kidnaping.

Earlier Tuesday, the director of the Hearst food program, A. Ludlow Kramer, said ransom demands of the SLA for high quality food give-aways to poor people had been met, and it was now up to the kidnapers to begin negotiations for Patricia's release.

Randolph Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, has provided $2 million in free food for the poor. In addition, the Hearst Corp., offered $4 million more if Patricia was released unharmed. Harvey L. Lipton, vice president and secretary of the corporation, said that there were no plans at present for the corporation to change its offer but another board member said that during the meeting "options were considered and contingency plans made."

State's 'rich man' candidate law ruled unconstitutional

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has unanimously ruled unconstitutional a California law setting filing fees for elective office high enough to exclude candidates with modest means.

The Court ruled Tuesday the California requirement that a candidate pay filing fees ranging up to $962 was "not consistent with constitutional standards" because there was no other way for them to get their names on the ballot.

The case involved Donald P. Lubin who was required in 1972 to pay a $701.60 filing fee for running for membership on the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County.

Lubin said he had no resources and no income and was not permitted to gain a ballot spot

He protested to the California Superior Court claiming that statute, by requiring the filing fee but providing no other way of securing access to the ballot, deprived him and others of equal protection guaranteed by the 14th Amendment and rights under the 1st amendment. The superior court denied his case and was upheld by the California Supreme Court.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, in the Supreme Court opinion reversing the California courts, suggested an alternative method to the filing fee if a candidate was indigent, such as petitions.

"Filing fees, however large, do not, in and of themselves, test the genuiness of a candidacy or the extent of the voter support of an aspirant for public office," he said. "A wealthy candidate with not the remotest chance of election may secure a place on the ballot by writing a check."

San Dimas motorcyclist, 16, dies after collision

SAN DIMAS — A 16-year-old motorcyclist died Tuesday about 90 minutes after his bike slammed into the side of a car here.

The victim, Brian Michael Townsend, 619 Pershore St., suffered head injuries in the crash. He was taken to San Dimas Community Hospital, but died at 9:27 a.m.

Sheriff's deputies reported that Townsend was riding westbound in the 800 block of Covina Boulevard when he crashed broadside into the side of a car driven by Dale W. Schnippel, 19, 748 N. Bellview St., San Dimas. They said Schnippel, who was eastbound, was making a left turn into a trailer park driveway preparatory to completing a U-turn.

Schnippel suffered minor facial cuts from flying glass, but refused immediate medical attention.

Townsend was born Dec. 29, 1957 in Ft. Collins, Colo. He came to California 10 years ago and had lived in San Dimas for the past eight years. He was a student at San Dimas High School.

Brian is survived by his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Michael Leist of San Dimas; his father, John Townsend of Denver, Colo.; two brothers, Jim Yates of San Dimas and John Townsend of Denver, Colo.; a sister, Mrs. Terri McQuarrie of El Monte; and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Grant of Seattle, Wash.

Services will be held in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona Friday at 10 a.m. Private burial will be in Pomona Cemetery.

HAMBURG (UPI) — President Tito of Yugoslavia suffered a stroke several weeks ago which paralyzed the left side of his face and closed his left eye, the nationally-circulated newspaper, Die Welt, said today.

"The 81-year old patient is not necessarily in acute danger of dying, but there is no chance of recovery," Die Welt said.

Widow on S.S. wins $1 million lottery

WYANDOTTE, Mich. (UPI) — A widow living on Social Security benefits won $1 million Tuesday night in the Michigan's lottery's 10th millionaire drawing.

Mrs. Katheryn Brosch, 66, of Allen Park, said she would split the prize evenly with the daughter who bought the ticket for her. She said she has been living on monthly Social Security payments since her husband died a year ago.

Former Chino man slain in Missouri; find body in river

LEBANON, Mo. (UPI) — The body of former Chinoan Joseph Norman Woodruff, 31, was recovered from the Osage Fork River Tuesday, 15 miles southeast of Lebanon in Laclede County.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said Woodruff apparently was shot at least once in the head.

Dragging operations started Tuesday morning when a Laclede county deputy found a bloodstained car. More blood was found at a bridge across the river "some distance" from the car, authorities said.

Nixon promises farmers $45 million; schools to gain

Make hamburger out of sagging beef prices

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said Tuesday the administration would buy up to $45 million in beef and donate it as hamburger to school cafeterias in a move to help sagging beef prices for farmers.

The announcement came during a meeting Nixon had with farm editors when he warned what the administration could do was limited "to an extent" but it is expected to have a "plus impact" on cattle prices.

Also in the session Nixon promised America's farmers and cattlemen his administration never again would "go down the road" to price controls.

At the same time, he urged them to increase production to bring down prices.

"The most sensitive part of the family budget is food because that is the one that the housewife has responsibility for, the one she becomes most concerned about.

"Consequently, in this whole area, what we have to be concerned about is to continue to emphasize higher production and not simply higher prices—higher production because if we continue down a road in which consumers again get the feeling that (control) is the only answer, then that will be a detrimental to the nation's farmers where controls have never worked," he said.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, who attended the session, declined to speculate the impact the purchase would have on cattle prices.

If the government purchases push up consumer beef prices, Butz said in answer to a question, the operation could be suspended. He said the commitment is for "up to $45 million" rather than a fixed amount, and said the roughly 50 million pounds of beef involved is not great in relation to total supplies.

Nixon said the prospect for cattlemen generally is good, but there was still "too much of a spread" between what the farmer receives and what the consumer pays in the supermarket.

"I do say that at this particular time that spread is one which most experts would agree is too great, and is one where I would hope that those who are in the retail business, those who are in the middle, will recognize they have a responsibility to reflect the lower prices the farmer is receiving in the prices that eventually the consumer has to pay."

Tax man bangs at British door

LONDON (UPI) — Britons began paying more today for just about everything—from whisky to gasoline, candy, ice cream and potato chips

The tax man hit both the rich and the not-so-rich under the provisions of a grim budget presented to parliament Tuesday by Denis Healey, Chancellor of the Exchequer in the three-week-old minority Labor government.

Healey said a tough budget is essential to pull Britain out of her current economic crisis.

"The picture is a somber one, he told parliament. "It is the gravest situation Britain has faced since the last war."

The tax hikes affected the rich and middle income Britons, but put more money into the pockets of lowest income workers and retired senior citizens.

Healey announced 1.4 billion pounds ($3.36 billion) in tax increases that hit everything from personal incomes to liquor, wine, beer, cigarets, gasoline, candy and ice cream.

But he also announced 500 million pounds ($1.2 billion) in subsidies for foodstuffs as well as higher pensions for retired Britons and increased social security payments. He excused another 1.5 million low income Britons from paying any tax at all.

Healey warned that this was only a first instalment.

He said the Labor government plans a wealth tax and that he will present in a second budget to parliament later this year when he has had more time to look into the nation's economic troubles.

Before presenting his budget, Healey predicted "howls of anguish." He was not wrong.

The Confederation of British Industry, which represents 12,000 industrial firms, commented "The last thing industry needs is hundreds of millions of pounds of unnecessary extra costs."

"The government is soaking everyone," said Michael Pargit, a London stockbroker.

The Brewers' Society said "The chancellor's revenue from beer is now at an all time high."

A spokesman for the candy industries said "A tax on candy is a tax on food."

But the British Dental Association said "This could mean a significant decrease in dental decay of children."

Len Murray, general secretary of the 10 million-member Trades Union Congress (TUC), said "This is aimed in the right direction."

The increased taxes meant an average pack of 20 cigarets went up from 27 pence (65 cents) to 32 pence (77 cents).

A gallon of premium gasoline went up 10 per cent to about 55 pence ($1.32 dollars).

The price of a bottle of whisky or gin jumped from 2.40 or 2.50 pounds ($5.76 or $6) to 2.60 or 2.70 pounds ($6.24 or $6.48).

MURDER-SUICIDE?

Police today are theorizing that Kevin Nichols, 11, shot to death his father, mother and sister, then took his own life in a Dallas suburb. Story appears on Page A-1.

Woman who survived deep freeze dies

CHICAGO (UPI) — Dorothy Mae Stevens Anderson, who in 1951 amazed doctors by surviving a body temperature of just over 60 degrees, has died of pneumonia and congestive heart failure, a hospital spokesman said today.

The "deep-freeze woman" was admitted last Friday to Billings Hospital and died Monday. She was 45.

Mrs. Anderson was found near death in a Chicago alley Feb. 1, 1951, with her blood frozen to a slush, her eyeballs like glass and her legs like cold metal, according to a medical report released later that year.

Her pulse count was 12, compared with a normal count of 70 to 80. Her blood pressure was not measurable and she was breathing only three to five times per minute.

Medical examiners estimated her body temperature dropped to 60.8 degrees as she lay in 12-below-zero outside temperatures. Normal body temperature is 98.6 degrees. Shortly after her rescue, her temperature was measured at 64.4 degrees.

Is measure constitutional?

House okays antibusing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Having brushed aside objections that it may be unconstitutional, the House Tuesday approved a strong antibusing amendment and moved today toward a final vote on the $7 billion federal aid to eduction bill.

The House adopted the antibusing amendment Tuesday and beat efforts to provide more money for urban and affluent schools as it pushed forward to final passage of an aid to education bill substantially different from any before.

The bill has the strong support of President Nixon.

On a vote of 293-117, the House accepted the idea "busing is neither good educational policy nor good social policy" and voted to prohibit busing beyond a student's second nearest school.

The amendment, which was originally proposed by the administration in 1972, allows seven acceptable remedies — except busing —to end school segregation.

It also:

—prohibits busing from one school district to another unless it is proven the district was intentionally drawn to perpetuate segregation.

—prescribes a standard definition of equal educational opportunity and imposes its use.

—allow court-ordered school desegregation plans already in effect to be reopened and modified to comply with the new act.

Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., the most outspoken opponent, called the bill an "assault upon our children...inflaming group against group."

Other opponents, including those favoring a milder antibusing amendment, said it might be unconstitutional since it infringes on the courts' rights to order what can be done to end segregation.

The milder amendment, which was defeated on a voice vote, would have made busing the remedy of last resort to achieve a racial balance in classrooms.

Opponents called it "prointegration, weak antibusing" amendment and said it didn't go far enough to end courtordered busing.

Also on Tuesday, the House deefated a pair of amendments to change the way federal funds to schools are allocated. The effect of the amendments was to funnel more money into more urban and affluent schools.

An amendment by Rep. Peter Peyser, R-N.Y., would have changed the allocation formula so states that spend more on education would not be penalized by smaller federal shares.

It would have required no district get less money this year than it got last year, and it would have given more money to states with more families on welfare.

Another amendment, dubbed "Robin Hood in reverse," would have allocated funds more in line with the actual school age population within each school district. It would also have devoted the funds to remedial education without regard to "any other socioeconomic criteria."

End to Nixon wage-price controls power is voted

WASHINGTON (UPI) — By a vote of 11 to 4, the Senate Finance Committee has decided not to extend the Economic Stabilization Act under which President has been operating for the past 21 months. It will expire April 30.

Nixon has not asked that the act be extended, and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said most of the committee members thought it was time "to let the marketplace be allowed to work" in the area of wages and prices.

The committee decided not even to give Nixon standby controls he could impose should prices and wages begin soaring because, Tower said, it felt even standby presidential controls would have a dampening effect on the economy.

The National Association of Manufacturers commended the committee action.

President E. Douglas Kenna of NAM said the action indicates congressional realization wage and price controls have not worked and in fact have contributed to inflation rather than curing or diminishing inflationary pressures.

"The end of controlls may see some increases in wages and prices, but competition will have free play and prices will find levels in keeping with consumer preferences," Kenna said.

However, Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council erportedly is asking the Administration to begin a last-ditch effort to save the wage-price controls for six more months.

Dunlop told the Washington Post Tuesday rather than have no wage-price legislation at all, he supports a possible Democratic compromise extending the authority until November.

But the Post quoted a Democratic senator as saying "it would take a miracle at this point, and I don't think a statement by President Nixon would mean very much."

Naked man on violent spree; toll is 2 dead, 3 injured

COLDWATER, Mich. (UPI) — A young man, naked and suffering from brain damage, raped and severely beat his step-sister, stabbed to death a teenage girl, then wounded two other persons before killing himself.

Police in this town of 9,000 in central lower Michigan said the toll in the 30-minute predawn spree Tuesday was two dead, two persons hospitalized in critical condition and a third seriously injured.

The attacker was Donald M. Hurley, 22' who died of a selfinflicted .22 caliber rifle slug in his heart. Police said an autopsy revealed Hurley had brain damage from a head wound received years earlier.

Hurley's victims were Victoria Anne Dillon, 18, dead from multiple stab wounds; Louise Starr, 19, hospitalized with a gunshot wound in the midsection; Jeffrey Kemmer, 19, hospitalized with wounds; and Mrs. Dolores Ann Winter, 29, who was severely beaten. Miss Starr and Kemmer were in critical condition.

Mrs. Winter was Hurley's stepsister.

The exact sequence was unclear. Police said Hurley raped his stepsister Mrs. Winter and then beat her severely with a flatiron inside her rural Coldwater home. One of Mrs. Winter's two sons telephoned police he had seen "Uncle Don," naked and beating his mother.

Liz in Hawaii

HAENA, Kauai, Hawaii (UPI) — Actress Liz Taylor is spending a quiet vacation in Hawaii with her brother here.

A United Airlines official confirmed that Miss Taylor flew into Honolulu Sunday morning and then went directly to the Island of Kauai where she was met by her brother, Howard, who has a home here.

Her husband, actor Richard Burton, did not accompany her. He currently is in Rome on a film location.

No charges filed

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — The district attorney's office decided Tuesday not to bring charges against former Beatle John Lennon, who was accused of punching a woman photographer in the eye during a nightclub fracas.

Authorities said there was insufficient evidence for an assault charge. The photographer said Lennon hit her when she took a picture of him being thrown out of the Troubador, a popular folk-rock club, after he began heckling the Smothers Brothers during their performance. Actor Peter Lawford told Lennon to shut up, witnesses said, but Lennon continued until the management ejected him.

Troubador owner Doug Weston said that Lennon had sent apologies to him and to the Smothers Brothers.

Westmoreland files

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — Retired Army Chief of Staff William C. Westmoreland celebrated his 60th birthday Tuesday by filing to run for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Westmoreland, former American commander in Vietnam, paid his $700 filing fee during a small celebration at state GOP headquarters, complete with the cutting of a cake with an American flag and "Happy Birthday Westy" on it.

He also signed an oath pledging to file campaign expense accounts and "not to use liquors and other alcholic beverages to buy votes." The oath, a routine campaign pledge, came within the two-week time limit for filing following the state convention.

Finleys to divorce

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (UPI) — Mrs. Shirley Finley has filed suit for divorce Charles O. Finley, owner of the world champion Oakland A's of the American League.

The suit was filed in LaPorte Superior Court against Finley, a wealthy Chicago insurance executive who also has owned hockey and basketball franchises in Memphis and California.

The Finleys have been married for more than 30 years. The family lives in LaPorte.

Singer arrested

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Ike Turner, of the singing team of Ike and Tina, was arrested Tuesday for alleged use of "blue boxes"—illegal electronic devices that allow users to make telephone calls anywhere in the world without paying.

Police said they raided the Bolic Sound Studios after receiving a complaint from the Pacific Telephone Co., and arrested Turner and four others, including a secretary, a receptionist, musician Dennis Rubinstein, 24, and Roy Robinson, 22, identified as Turner's agent. Mrs. Turner was not arrested.

The secretary was arrested only for an outstanding traffic warrant. Turner and the other three were booked at the Inglewood jail on charges of obtaining telephone service by fraud.

Dramatic cut in highway death toll

Should the nation stay with lowered speed limits?

By KENNETH S. BRADDICK
United Press International

Traffic deaths have been cut by one-third to a half in most states so far this year, and the reduction of highway speed limits to 55 miles an hour as an energy-saver was cited as the life-saver, a UPI nationwide survey showed today.

But in California, which for years has had the worst highway traffic toll of any state in the U.S. and is sharing in the falling traffic toll, pressure is building from lawmakers and law enforcers to switch back to a 65 m.p.h. speed limit.

National Safety Council President Vincent Toofany said: "We believe the fuel shortage had a great deal to do with this reduction...the reduction corresponds almost exactly with an estimate for decreased fatalities our statisticians made at the onset of the energy crunch last November. At that time we estimated traffic fatalities might be reduced by 20-25 per cent annually as a result of lower speeds and reduced driving brought on by gasoline shortages."

In human terms, he estimated the saving at 8,500 lives a year.

All parts of the nation are sharing in the declining highway death toll, attributed almost universally to the lowered speed limits and drastically curtailed Sunday driving because many gasoline stations were closed, the survey showed.

Nebraska, for example, listed 14 highway fatalities since the speed limit was set at 55 m.p.h. on Feb. 28, less than half the 29 recorded for the same period in 1973.

One of the most stunning improvements in reducing the toll has been in Utah where fatal accidents have claimed 15 lives so far this year compared with 70 on the same date in 1973. Gov. Calvin Rampton gave credit to the lower speed limit and "luck," and said he would ask the state legislature to make the 55 m.p.h. limit permanent if the state's residents want.

Maryland's 1974 figure was 100, which State Police Superintendent Col. Thomas Smith said was a "dramatic decrease" from the 195 for the similar period of 1973.

The arguments for and against keeping the speed limit at 55 m.p.h. throughout the country rather than switching back to higher speeds are expressed by authorities in Illinois and California.

Illinois State Police Superintendent Dwight E. Pitman reported traffic deaths so far this year at 329, down 126 from 455 by the same date in 1973. He said the lower speed limit "absolutely" cuts highway fatalities because "it automaticaly reduces the severity of accidents."

California highway deaths dropped 29.9 per cent to 468 in the first two months of 1974 compared with the same period of last year. But Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski called for immediate repeal of the law enforcing the lower speed limit because in his view the reduction is the result of fewer cars on the road—not lower speeds—and as soon as there's plenty of gasoline available again the toll will go back up.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan, speaking after some moves in the state assembly to repeal the reduced speed limit law, said he thinks it should go back to 65 m.p.h. when the energy situation gets better.

Hearings planned on financial site

POMONA — Three public hearings will be held April 22 by the City Council on the proposed vacation of two street portions and an alley in connection with the construction of the Pomona Financial Center on two downtown street blocks.

One of three resolutions of intention adopted by the council calls for the vacation of Thomas Street from Mission Boulevard to Fourth Street.

The two blocks on the east and west of this segment of Thomas will be combined for the office-financial complex, which presently is the first construction phase.

A second proposal is for the vacation of a north-south alley from Mission to Fourth between Garey Avenue and Thomas Street. One of four buildings is proposed to be constructed over the existing alley right-of-way, said Public Works Director Ronald Kranzer.

The third resolution is for the vacation of a long strip 18 feet wide along the southerly side of Fourth between Thomas and Garey.

Another strip of the same width along the south side of Fourth, between Main and Thomas streets, was ordered vacated March 26, 1973.

Kranzer said the two Fourth Street portions areplanned to become part of the center's parking facilities.

L.V. man arraigned in attack on wife

POMONA — Larry L. Miller, 34-year-old La Verne man arrested in the stabbing Sunday night of his wife, was arraigned Tuesday on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon resulting in great bodily injury.

Miller, 1957 Evergreen Ave., appeared before Pomona Municipal Court Judge James H. Piatt who scheduled the preliminary hearing April 2 and set bail at $5,000.

Meanwhile, the victim, Mrs. Linda Miller, also 34, was reported still in serious condition in Pomona Valley Community Hospital's intensive care unit today. She had stab wounds in her abdomen and back and underwent surgery immediately following the incident.

Police said they were summoned to the apartment building by neighbors who said Mrs. Miller fled bleeding from the apartment screaming for help and persued by her husband. Miller, who was gone when officers arrived, was arrested early Monday when he was found in his car parked in the alley behind the building.

Girl dies of injuries

UPLAND — A 16-year-old Upland girl died Tuesday of injuries sustained in a traffic accident last Monday in the 900 block of N. Fifth Avenue.

Miss Tamara Jane Easterling of 1350 San Bernardino Road, Space 87, died following surgery at San Antonio Community Hospital at 4:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Upland police detective Jerry Wulf said this morning that a complaint charging manslaughter against Samuel DeLeon, 20, of 130 E. Acacia St., Ontario, will be sought through the West Valley Deputy District Attorney's Office today. DeLeon, also injured in the traffic accident is now booked in the San Bernardino County Jail on three counts of suspicion of driving while under the influence of a drug. Wulf said the type of drug the driver had allegedly taken before the accident has yet to be determined.

In the accident, according to police reports, DeLeon's car was traveling north on Fifth Avenue when it drifted to the right of the road and rammed into the rear end of a parked truck owned by the Best Cabinet Co.

Miss Easterling, Deborah Marie Saltzman, 16, of 1267 Alta Ave., Upland and Laura Michele Westlotorn, 16, of 8181 Salena St., Cucamonga, all passengers with DeLeon, were injured when the roof of the car was pushed back to the rear seat.

The victim, Herbert T. McCallan, 67, 301 E. Foothill Blvd., suffered head and possible internal injuries and was taken semiconscious to Pomona Valley Community Hospital. His condition today there was reported serious.

Boy testifies in hit-run death

CHINO — A 13-year-old Chino boy Tuesday testified that he saw five Mexican-Americans, two with some type of "bars," chasing after a car that killed another youth in the Alpha Beta Shopping Center parking lot Feb. 8.

The young witness testimony came in the preliminary hearing for the driver of the car, Donald German, 19, of Chino, who is accused of manslaughter and hit-and-run driving in the death of Arthur Sandoval, 17, of 130 Third St., Chino.

The witness, John P. Aubin, told the court that on the night of Feb. 8 he was trying to pick the lock on his bicycle in front of the Slot Car Center in the shopping center when he heard a squealing of brakes. He said he turned and saw a car stop. He said the driver of the car, whom he identified as German, got out for a moment and then got back inside.

"I saw five Mexicans running toward the car," said Aubin. "Two had some kind of bars." The young witness said he saw German's car begin to exit the parking lot in front of Alphy's Restaurant. The witness said the Mexican-American youths kept running after the German car.

Aubin was called to the stand by Attorney Tom Hudson, defending German. Under cross-examination by Daniel Tobias, deputy district attorney, Aubin said he could not describe the bars held by the two Mexican-American youths, other than they were about two feet long.

Another defense witness, Tomothy Finnerty, told the court that he was in the parking lot with a group of nine or 10 Anglos when a car with several Mexican-American youths drove up and one yelled, "You better get out of here. People are hot" Finnerty said they left following saw German's car hit young Sandoval.

Finnerty said just before he saw the accident he saw the victim (Sandoval) "make some type of throwing motion" at the German car

Judge Roy Chapman, substituting for Chino Municipal Court Judge Philip Schaefer, took the case under submission after the defense rested its case. Judge Chapman said he would have a decision on whether there was enough evidence presented to hold German over for trial on the charges in the Superior Court by April 8.

'Mattress' tryouts scheduled by VCT

POMONA — Tryouts for Valley Community Theater's production of "Once Upon a Mattress" will be held at the theater tonight at 7:30 p.m. and Saturday at 2 p.m.

The musical replaces the previously advertised "The Impossible Years" and "Celebration" as the last show of the 1973-74 season.

The musical, written by Jay Thompson, Marshall Barer and Dean Fuller with lyrics by Barer and music by Mary Rodgers, concerns the "inside story" of what really happened to the princess who was so sensitive that she couldn't sleep on 20 downy mattresses when one pea was placed underneath. The Broadway show was the basis for two television specials starring Carol Burnett as the princess.

Baritones, tenors, contralto, soprano, character voice parts and nonsinging roles are needed for the show.

Judy Clem of Upland is directing the production. She has a master's degree in theater arts from Cal State Fullerton and studied two years at the Pacific Conservatory of Performing Arts in Santa Maria. This is her first show for VCT.

All auditioners should be expected to sing, dance and read. It is requested that each bring his own sheet music. An accompanist will be provided.

The current show "Inherit the Wind" runs through April 6. For reservations, persons may call 622-6954.

'Life exists elsewhere'

Debunker of flying saucers dies at 72

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — Physicist Edward U. Condon, 72, who investigated flying saucers for the government and concluded they were merely balloons, birds, airplanes, planets or flights of imagination, died Tuesday.

Condon's study, endorsed by the National Academy of Sciences, said that while intelligent life on other planets outside Earth's solar system almost certainly existed, none of it was flying spaceships to Earth.

A spokesman for Boulder Community Hospital said Condon, a native of Alamogordo, N.M., "died of complications resulting from heart trouble."

Frederick P. Thieme, president of Colorado University where Rondon kept an office and worked after retiring from the faculty in 1970, said "his death will be a genuine loss to the scientific as well as the university community.

"All of us will miss him greatly —his personality and his mind."

Condon was hired by the Air Force in 1966 to head a panel of scientists studying unidentified flying objects (UFOs) and two years later issued a 1,500-page "Operation Bluebook" report debunking flying saucers.

"There is no evidence they (saucers) exist," the report said. "On the basis of present knowledge, the least likely explanation of UFOs is the hypothesis of extraterrestrial visitations by intelligent beings."

Condon's published report, which sold about 200,000 copies, said earth could not expect to be visited by spaceships from other solar systems for at least 10,000 years.

"It is regarded by scientists today as essentially certain that intelligent life exists elsewhere, but with essentially no possibility of contact between the communities on planets associated with different stars.

"We therefore conclude that there is no relation between intelligent life elsewhere in other solar systems and UFO phenomenon as observed on Earth."

16th birthday--convicted of rape

DANVILLE, Va. (UPI) — Robert Darnell Saunders III observed his 16th birthday Tuesday by listening to a jury convict him of rape and sentence him to life imprisonment.

The muscular 6-footer received an additional 20 years for the abduction of his victim, a 22-year-old junior high school teacher. The jury of eight men and four women deliberated about an hour.

Information about his background could not be introduced at the trial in Danville circuit court, but Saunders was first charged with rape at the age of 12. He was convicted on a reduced charge of assault and served time in a juvenile institution.

He was a student at Blair Junior High School in Pittsylvania County at the time of his arrest in Oct., 1973, and has been held in a juvenile detention home since.

George B. Anderson, his attorney, said he would file an appeal to the state Supreme Court after discussing it with Saunders' father, an employe of the Goodyear plant here.

Saunders' alleged victim was the prosecution's principal witness. She said she had returned home from a date and allowed Saunders into her apartment after he claimed to have had an auto accident and asked to use the telephone.

He seized a pair of scissors and forced her into her car, she said, driving it to an isolated field outside the city where he threw her to the ground and raped her.

...And the battle of the birds goes on

GRACEHAM, Md. (UPI) — While Army searchlights lit up his pine grove "like the battle of Britain," Edgar Emrich and his committee of wildlife experts retired to a nearby restaurant Tuesday night to map out the next campaign in Graceham's battle with the birds.

The searchlights, trucked in from Fort Belvoir, Va., were the latest weapon in Emrich's so far unsuccessful attempt to discourage hundreds of thousands of blackbirds and starlings from spending the night in the dense 60-acre stand of white pine.

Did all that illumination succeed where the booming of propane cannons and the shrieking of loudspeakers failed in previous assaults? Mrs. Emrich, who said the place was lit up "like the battle of Britain," wasn't sure. "I think they disappear all right with all the noise and excitement, but then come sneaking back when it's all over."

The idea behind the lights, according to Paul Beale, a Frederick county health department official and originator of the idea, was to "disorient the birds and help us figure out how they are sneaking back to their roosts at night."

The huge flock, at one time thought to have numbered as high as 10-million, apparently has been thinned out to about 500,000. But it is still both an annoyance and a health hazard to residents of Graceham and nearby communities.

All-year school evaluation plan given first reading

By ED PRATHER
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — An evaluation plan for the year-around school program, including a parental survey, was given first reading by the Chino School Board Tuesday night.

The plan provides for evaluation in the areas of student achievement, financial consequences and parental acceptance. The latter has been the central point of controversy since the district introduced the all-year concept last July at Walnut Elementary School and Magnolia Junior High School.

Opponents had frequently charged that the program was being "crammed down their throats." That charge was repeated earlier this year when the board approved extension of the year-around program to the remaining elementary schools, Ramona Junior High School and the ninth grade at Don Lugo High School starting this July.

The parental survey outlined in the evaluation plan will be made on a district-wide basis about March 1, 1975. The district administration's goal is acceptance of the program by at least 75 per cent of the parents.

Dist. Supt. Royace Lapp told the board, and warned opponents of the year-round program, that failure of the district to meet that goal will not automatically kill the program however. The decision to proceed with the program or return to a traditional approach will be made on the basis of the entire evaluation.

At the urging of board member Al McCombs, the board also approved a parental survey of the two pilot schools this September. At that time the two schools will have completed a full year under the year-round program.

In connection with the expanded year-round program beginning this summer, the board approved a $636,469 contract for the installation of air conditioning at five schools. Bond money will be used for the project, although state funds are expected to be received to reimburse the district.

In other business, the board:

— Adopted a classified salary schedules classified salary policies, and classified job descriptions. The district chapter of the California School Employes Association and the district administration had been in conflict in recent weeks over each of these matters, but not quarrel was raised with the board's action. In response to a question from Ted Samodell, chairman of the salary study committee for the district chapter of CSEA, Lapp stated that he "did not foresee any employe not receiving a raise this year."

— Earmarked $46,800 of the 1974-75 budget for the Chino Recreation Commission. Expenditure of the money is contingent upon the city allocating a like amount to the commission.

— Approved the scheduling of traditional school programs at the district's two junior high schools and at Don Lugo High School for students who do not wish to participate in the year-round program. The administration had requested that a traditional program for elementary students be centralized at the Riverside Campus, but agreed to study the matter further at the request of McCombs.

Sacramento summary

The Governor:

Speed—Said he opposed immediate restoration of the 65 m.p.h. speed limit and doesn't think the current 55 m.p.h. limit creates disregard for traffic laws although the lower limit may be one of the first energy conservation steps disregarded.

Politics—Told a news conference he was flattered by an opinion poll which showed he was a favorite presidential contender by county Republican chairmen in a nationwide survey.

On water heaters

When purchasing a water heater, match the size to your needs. An oversized heater will cost you more to operate by heating unneeded and unused water.

Wind them up

Use wind-up or battery clocks.

Warm or cold water

Use hot water only on laundry that really needs it. Consider warm or cold water with use of the soak cycle. Rinse in cold water.

MEASURING NOSES? — Not really. Just a couple of Washington Zoo residents elephanting around.

Two California lawmakers shake hands

Fist fight is blamed on 'tensions'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Democratic lawmaker who was hospitalized after a scuffle with another legislator blames the incident on Capitol "tensions" and operation of the Assembly Transportation Committee.

Assemblyman Kenneth Meade of Oakland, committee chairman, returned to his Assembly seat with a black patch over his right eye, surgical stitches and a bruised head.

He refused to publicly discuss his ruckus last Tuesday with fellow Assemblyman Louis Papan, D-Daly City, a former FBI agent, or to detail whether a fistfight actually occurred.

But he told newsmen, "I will say about MR. Papan, he does have some good moves."

Meade shook hands with Papan as he took his desk after spending two days in the hospital. He was knocked out when he reportedly fell and hit his head on a desk.

Meade said the issue between them "was over the administration of the Transportation Committee."

He said "tensions" over who will succeed Bob Moretti as Assembly speaker as well as his own bill to license gasoline station operators "contributed to a general atmosphere of tension around here."

Meade is a supporter of Assemblyman Willie Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, for the speakership while Papan reportedly supports Assemblyman Leo McCarthy, D-San Francisco. Moretti is a candidate for governor.

At an informal news conference, Meade said he "shares and accepts some of the responsibility for what happened" and added, "I'm quite sure Mr. Papan and I will resolve our differences in private."

The stockily built Meade, 36, a lawyer, said he suffered a gash over the right eye which required stitches to close and a bruise on the left side of his head.

Papan, 46, like Meade, refused to discuss specifics of the incident which occurred after legislators abruptly left a Transportation Committee hearing on Meade's gasoline dealer bill.

Some reports had the two engaged in a "physical encounter." Others said it was a fistfight and another said Meade threw coffee in Papan's face.

Asked whether he thought the affair brought discredit to the legislature, Meade replied: "I think it would be a good idea for all of us to get on with our business and responsibility as legislators."

"This is a pretty intense business up here and there is a lot at stake," he aid. "The leadership thing and the bill, it's caused a great deal of tension."

Measure would make public all hearings

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bill requiring all congressional committee meetings be open to the public except those involving national security deliberations will be introduced by Rep. Bill Gunter, D-Fla..

Gunter said he will offer his proposals is an amendment when a House committee reorganization measure reaches the House floor in the near future.

Guerrillas still hold U.S. oil executive

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — At 37, Victor E. Samuelson was a prototype of the American dream, good-looking with degrees from Cornell and the Harvard Business School and an upward-bound career with Exxon Corp..

He was worth 14.2 million to the company.

Last Dec. 6, Samuelson left his suburban Buenos Aires home suburb, in a chauffeurdriven car, for the regular 50-mile drive to the Campana refinery of Esso Oil Co. of Argentina, where he had been the manager since 1970.

As usual, Samuelson was followed by an automobile carrying two bodyguards, standard procedure in Argentina where 15 foreign executives have been kidnaped during the past two years.

Arriving at the refinery, Samuelson dismissed the bodyguards. The luckless executives abducted previously had been seized from their cars.

Samuelson ate lunch at the Esso restaurant at the refinery. He stood up to leave when several young men at another table got up, drawing guns. Other men with submachine guns entered the restaurant and they pushed Samuelson outside into a car.

On a wall the kidnapers sprayed with paint the letters ERP—initials of the People's Revolutionary Army, an outlawed Marxist guerrilla group that had begun a wave of executive kidnapings in 1971.

A few days later an ERP communique was sent to a newspaper announcing that the ransom for Samuelson was to be $10 million worth of goods to be distributed among the poor. The ERP also sent a photo of Samuelson, standing expressionlessly in front of a poster of Ernesto "Che" Guevara, the Argentine who fought for the Cuban revolution and died leading a Bolivian guerrilla group.

The ERP demanded two ambulance airplanes, 23 vehicular ambulances, the construction of two bridges and 26 schools, distribution of 5,800 blankets, 3,000 toys, 80,000 food packages and other items.

Esso refused to comment on ransom negotiations but business sources said a critical point came in mid-February. The ERP changed its demands to a $10 million cash "indemnization" for the guerrillas and a $4.2 million project to build 42 health posts and food giveaway centers in the flood-ravaged northwest provinces of Argentina. The company said they could not meet the guerrilla demands.

The ERP then warned they would return Samuelson's body wrapped in an American flag. They also sent a personal letter from Samuelson, who had been told he was to be shot.

On Feb. 25, Esso officials sought desperately to reestablish contact with the ERP, succeeding at the last minute after Samuelson was reported to have been taken to a place for execution.

Exactly two weeks later, a nervous Esso driver followed complicated instructions from the ERP to make a drop of $14.2 million dollars, about 290 pounds of $100 bills packed in briefcases.

On March 13, 97 days after the kidnaping, Esso kept the final part of its bargain by sending an ad to more than 30 newspapers announcing the terms of the ransom. Most newspapers published the ad despite a government ban on ERP propaganda that forbids even mention of the guerrilla group.

Then Esso began to wait for Samuelson's release. The days passed. A week passed.

The company expresses no anxiety. "The guerrillas are just waiting for the right moment to free him," an Esso spokesman said.

Ambulance chasers

Time lapse noted in hospital ring probe

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The chief of the county's hospital system has admitted that authorities let 18 months go by before cracking down on an ambulance-chasing ring that operated out of County-USC medical Center.

"We acknowledge that this time period was excessive," said L.A. Witherill in a report released by the Board of Supervisors Monday.

Witherill said reluctance to oust the ring stemmed, in part, from fear of "a severe negative reaction" by the MexicanAmerican community.

Two of the ring's members operated in the hospital's wards and were active in the community.

The Los Angeles Times has reported that the targets of the ring were Spanish-speaking auto accident victims who were steered to selected doctors and lawyers.

Witherill said in his report that action against the two might have been interpreted as racially motivated. The two doubled as ward volunteers.

The Times said that its sources attribute the inaction to hospital administration fears of political reprisals because ring leader George J. Hatcher, 31, was closely associated with a number of political figures.

However, Witherill denied having discussed with Hatcher the establishment of a referral center in the hospital for "Friends of the Friendless," which was used to camouflage the ring's alleged activities.

Antipollution chief quits job after revealed as phony

DENVER (UPI) — "Dr." Gerald P. Wood was paid $23,000 a year for the past three years as chief of Colorado's air pollution control office which has an annual budget of more than $1 million.

He supervised 39 people and did a good job.

"He has worked hard for the agency and the state," said Dr. Edward Dreyfus, executive director for the State Health Department.

But Wood has admitted he has no formal education beyond high school and paid less than $100 for a phony Ph.D through a classified ad in a magazine.

Wood admitted he lied on his application form and resigned, saying he first sought the job as "sort of a joke."

"Frankly, right up to the time I was asked to come in for an interview, I didn't expect to be taken seriously," he said. "I knew there were many very qualified men in the field.

"Once they took me seriously, I leaped at it."

Wood, who holds joint BritishCanadian citizenship, got his "doctorate" in industrial hygiene from Braintridge Forest School in Sussex, England—a mail-order mill. He told the state he graduated from University College in Nottingham, England.

Despite his lack of college education, Wood has managed to train as a technician and to pursue a 25-year career in science. He made his phony diploma stick with the state personnel office that screened applicants. The health department which interviewed him liked what it saw.

But Monday, Dreyfus accepted the 44-year-old Wood's resignation.

"I regret the circumstances which necessitated Mr. Wood's resignation," Dreyfus said. "I hope this action closes once and for all this unfortunate affair."

But he praised Wood for running "an aggressive air pollution control program staffed by competent, qualified and dedicated engineers and technicians."

Wood said he was sorry about the mail-order diploma but said he thinks he gave the state its money's worth.

"I passed the exams and I am quite a good chemist," he said. "I am not a person without knowledge. I knew damned well I could do the job. I have an established reputation as a good industrial hygience and air pollution man. I built that on my own, and I'm afraid it's all been destroyed.

"What I am fearing now is that all this could jeopardize some programs which are now in a crucial phase," Wood said. "I've asked for more than $500,000 to establish an indirect air pollution source control program and it's very important to me.

"I can see the legislature saying, 'He doesn't know what he's doing.'"

Pension restored to mate of man fired after death

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Assocation of Government Employes NAGE) said that the widow of a government employe who was fired six months after he died has had pension and other benefits restored totaling almost $120,000.

The union said the employe, who was not identified, worked for 27 years without blemish for the Defense Supply Agency. Then he started suffering severe head pains and blackouts and was hospitalized twice and arrested once while wandering nude in Washington.

Six months after his death, NAGE said, the DSA decided to fire him, retroactive to a date prior to his death.

Sixteen months after the man's death, the Civil Service Commissions's Board of Review ruled the firing illegal, making his widow eligible for almost $120,000 in life insurance, back pay and a survivorship annuity.

Scandal will not hurt policyholders

CHICAGO (UPI) — The more than 26,000 policyholders nationwide of the scandal-ridden Equity Funding Life Insurance company will regain full protection and financial rights under a plan announced by Illinois and California state officials.

The scandal, termed by an official as "one of the largest financial frauds ever perpetrated," involved the issuance of approximately 60,000 bogus insurance policies with a face value of $2 billion.

The plan, which requires court approval, calls for an Equity subsidiary, Northern Life Insurance Co., of Seattle, Wash., to take over the policies. Officials described Northern Life as "a financially sound and wel managed insurance company," unaffected by the Equity scandal.

Policyholders will have all benefits restored to them, including cash surrender and loan values, said Fred A. Mauck, director of insurance of Illinois.

The plan also settles all claims and liability with the reinsurance and coinsurance companies that were injured by the fraud which has resulted in the indictments of 20 former Equity officials. Their losses were placed at about $2.5 million.

Mauck said 1,200 of the policyholders are in Illinois. The largest number are in California where Equity maintained its headquarters. Pennsylvania and Hawaii also have many policyholders, officials said, with the rest scattered throughout the nation.

The scandal began in 1967 when a group purchased Presidential Life Insurance Company of America, an Illinois firm, changed its name to Equity Funding, and moved its headquarters to Los Angeles.

Officials said the company handled approximately 90,000 policies, two-thirds of them bogus.

The scheme, uncovered a year ago, apparently involved three methods of return on the fake policies. By having a large number of policies, the company's stocks rose. Some of the policies were placed with coinsurance companies with Equity receiving 80 to 90 per cent of the first year's premiums. The coinsurance companies paid off on deaths involving the fake policies.

Scientists puzzle over Mercury's spot

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI — Scientists were "intrigued" today by a huge spot that glares from the face of Mercury so brightly it can be seen from more than two million miles out in space.

"It must be 200 or 300 miles across, at least," a spokesman for the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said.

JPL scientists were monitoring television photos of Mercury, the little known body that is the closest planet to the sun, beamed pack to earth by Mariner 10.

The spacecraft, ending a five month journey through space, was rushing toward Mercury at more thas 25,000 miles an hour today, beginning to pick up speed under the pull of Mercurial gravity. It was to draw within 1.7 million miles of Mercury Tuesday.

The bright spot began to show up in Mariner's photos Sunday, while the spacecraft was still 2.5 million miles away. "It has to be very big to be visible from that distance," a JPL spokesman said.

"The scientists are intrigued by such a large phenomenon. We expect to see some very prominent features as Mariner draws closer, but so little is known of Mercury that we still do not know what the surface of the planet consists of."

A mariner photo of Mercury, taken Sunday, was released by JPL Monday, the first to be made public. It showed a distant silvery crescent against the blackness of space.

Scientists do not expect to begin getting a really good look at the planet until at least today, or perhaps Thursday. Mariner makes its closest approach Friday, streaking at 25,200 m.p.h. across the planet at an altitude of only 415 miles, clicking pictures every 42 seconds, before receding. It will transmit more than 2,000 photos before the mission ends April 11, giving scientists a much better look than is possible from Earth, because Mercury is usually hidden in the glare of the sun.

Cancer optimism: warranted or not?

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (UPI) — A leading cancer researcher predicts at least one form of human cancer will be traced to a virus this year but another scientist says such a conviction is unwarranted.

There has been increasing laboratory evidence during the past few years linking viruses to cancer, but confirmation of such a cause so far has eluded scientists. Proof would lead to an anti-cancer vaccine and mark a major step in the war against cancer.

The question of viruses and cancer was discussed in a series of reports released today at a science writers seminar sponsored by the American Cancer Society. Most researchers, including Dr. Albert A. Sabin of polio vaccine fame, were optimistic.

Dr. Sol Spiegelman, director of the Institute of Cancer Research at Columbia University, predicted one of two laboratories would isolate the first human cancer virus before the year ends.

"Thus far it really looks very good," he said. He would not say which laboratories were doing the work, but said he was familiar with their efforts.

Spiegelman also predicted that within three years, researchers looking for cancer viruses would be able to give doctors a highly sensitive and specific test for specific types of cancer.

"If you have a battery of them (tests), you'll have something that will save thousands of lives."

However, Dr. Paul H. Black, associate professor at the Harvard Medical School, was more pessimistic. He said, "such conviction that viruses are the cause of cancer seems unwarranted and presumptuous at the present time.

"I feel we must pause and consider the available evidence with a more skeptical attitude."

Black, disagreeing with five other members of the panel, said he believed that viruses were responsible for some cancers in mice, chickens and cats, but he said the evidence pointing toward a link between human cancers and viruses may be biased by laboratory techniques and phenomena.

"The task of determining whether viruses are the cause of such cancers will be exceedingly difficult," he said. "Certainly, caution must be voiced at the present time and theories that propose that all cancer-inducing events operate via viral activation seem unwarranted and without substantial evidence."

Sabin agreed that much work remained to be done and said, "We're now at a stage of intelligence gathering and I think the final conclusions may be different from what we have now."

All panelists agreed in reply to questions that the virus work should not be sidetracked and that funds supporting such efforts should not be diverted to other phases of cancer research.

"If you look at the progress that has been made during the last three years, it's absolutely astonishing," Spiegelman said.

Students benefit

Generous someone giving money away

CHICAGO (UPI) — Someone is giving money away to students at Chicago's Roosevelt University—$64,000 so far and more promised to bring the total to $100,000 over the next two years.

No one seems to know who the benefactor is, although a good guess is that the law firm of Elson, Lasser & Wolff has a fair idea. Elson, Lasser and Wolff sends the money.

The common belief around Roosevelt is that the generous someone is a student at the school, even though Roosevelt President Dr. Rolf Weil said he did not know of any students with $100,000 to give away.

Weil said he doesn't particularly care to know. Whoever the someone is, he said, the money is welcome and he admires its source.

"The greatest generosity is that which comes anonymously," he said.

One thing is apparent. The he —or she—sending the money has the welfare of foreign students at Roosevelt, a downtown "subway" school designed primarily for Chicago youths, most at heart.

The directions relayed through the law firm have specified that at least 90 per cent of the money should go to foreign students who can show genuine need. And that is the way it has been spent.

Weil doubted the benefactor was foreign, however.

"Rumor has it that the student is an American student," he said, perhaps one who has made friends with fellow residents at the university's Herman Crown residence hall.

Weil said the money started coming in the form of $30,000 last July. The gift merely stipulated that it should be spent on foreign students.

Weil and other administrators got a further inkling March 7 when a courier from Elson, Lassers & Wolff showed up with a letter.

It started, "It is my pleasure to inform you that our client wishes to give Roosevelt University a gift of $100,000 and that he wants this gift to remain anonymous."

The letter promised more to come. Attached were two stock certificates worth $34,000.

As a result:

—David Klein of Israel drew on the fund last October when he was ordered home to reserve as an officer in the Yom Kippur war.

—When a Nigerian student's father died, the mysterious money paid for his room and board while he arranged for a scholarship from his government.

—Kyung Wha Song of Korea got her flute repaired in time to keep a concert date.

Weil thinks it's wonderful.

"These foreign students have a particular plight," he said. "Even if a student has money in his own country he might not be able to get it. Under the law, he can't seek outside employment and work his way through school.

"Maybe this kind of foreign aid—person to person, private— is every bit as effective or more than government aid. It has the human touch which cannot be applied any other way."

Rehabilitation: a do-it-yourself thing in prison

HOUSTON (UPI) — When he talks about the place he used to call home, Carmen Scoleri says simply and quietly: "Back there."

"I grew up in the joint. I matured back there. I made a lot of good friends back there. But you feel forgotten back there. You feel subhuman."

He talks about prison.

Scoleri is an ex-convict and seven years ago the former heroin junkie vowed to tape the creative talent he found wasting behind the walls "back there."

Today with his wife, Mollie, he operates a prison art gallery from a tiny frame structure that sits on a tree-shaded street in the inner city called Montrose.

"There's no rehabilitation unless you do it yourself," he said, waving his hand over a wall studded with convict art. "The thing that really got me into this is the amount of creative talent behind the walls.

"The guys have really got some good stuff back there."

Scoleri, 44, a native of Philadelphia, echos the feelings of many inmates:

"I feel rehabilitation is a gimmick public relations word. You take a guy and put him in a cage—how the hell do you rehabilitate him?"

Scoleri now makes his living writing music for films and performing with bands and in local clubs, playing the flute and saxaphone. But he spends his spare time and money above living expenses beefing up his inventory of paintings, sketches, sculpture and leather goods he gets from inmates at the Texas Penitentiary in Huntsville.

"It's taken us seven years to get this going. My wife and I started selling out of a Volkswagen. The first year a guy's out is really tough. You got no friends, you got no job.

"What we are trying to do is hire our artists when they get out. That way they will have a chance to make it."

Carmen and Mollie work with about 50 inmates in the nonprofit program and more are getting involved all the time. They have received some help from area churches and are working with city officials to try to get a grant to pay for their gallery operation.

"We make money so they can buy supplies," Scoleri said of the convicts. "I give them their asking price. This is for them."

Texas has no art program in its penitentiary system. The inmates teach each other, but now they can buy their own supplies and do work in their cells.

"The guy has got to do it himself. And recognition from the public does more than anything else. It really counts.

"Their work shows their positive and creative side. We get a steady dose of the negative things that happen in prisons. That's all you ever hear."

NO LONGER A MAN'S WORK — The U.S. Navy's first female aviator, Lt. (jg) Barbara A. Allen, 25, of Long Beach, stands beside her aircraft at the Naval Air Station at Alameda. She is the first of six women flight students to complete flight training as part of Navy's test program.

Boy breaks window, tries to replace it, shot dead

SEMINOLE, Okla. (UPI) — "I broke your window. I'm sorry," 8-year-old Phillip E. Perry scribbled on a piece of paper.

Minutes later, the third-grader was dead, shot in the face by a .22-caliber rifle.

A window pane the boy intended to use to replace the broken one was found leaning against the front porch.

Seminole County authorities charged Carl Franklin Smith, 65, a retiree, with first-degree manslaughter but said the killing was "excusable." He was free Tuesday on $1,000 bond.

Smith told officers he fired his rifle at what he believed to be burglars outside his window Sunday. He said earlier in the evening someone had broken his bedroom window.

Police Chief Harry Wakefield said another 8-year-old boy who was with Perry admitted they had broken Smith's window. He said they went to a vacant house, took out a window pane and returned to Smith's home to repair the broken glass.

Perry wrote the note he intended to leave for Smith. He was shot as he tried to put the new pane in place.

Eating habits probed

What makes women of the South fat?

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Two Texas A&M professors are trying to determine if different ethnic eating habits of women in the South explain why they get fat.

Dr. Roscoe W. Lewis, of the Department of Biochemistry and Biphysics, and Dr. Alice C. Stubbs, head of the Consumer Research Center, are checking the eating habits of 150 9-year-old girls in the Bryant College Station area of Texas.

They are taking part in a five-year program designed to study the importance of nutrition for girls in adolescent growth and future pregnancy. The group includes 50 blacks, 50 Mexican-Americans and 50 whites from different economic backgrounds.

The program was established in eight southern states "because of the diversity of population groups and the effect of numerous environmental and cultural backgrounds which may influence food habits," Lewis said.

Besides Texas, 9-year-olds will be tested in Oklahoma, Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Tennessee, Kentucky and Virginia. Lewis said nutritional health of children in those states ranged from por to excellent.

The girls take personality tests and physical measurements and are asked to list everything eaten in a previous 24-hour period.

The information will be turned into statistical data over five years to "determine what influences economic levels and ethnic backgrounds have on what the girls eat, and what their intake patterns are while it checks the nutritional condition of the subjects in the study," Lewis said.

Eventually, he said, guidelines for nutritional education and food programs for improvement of health will be proposed.

"We want to know why women today are prone to obesity and why they have other nutritional problems," Lewis said. "The age between 9-12 just prior to the childbearing age is an excellent time to study the girls and note the beginning of physical trends."

Lewis said a lack of information about youngsters' choices of food in the southern states has prevented an estimate of their effect on nutrition.

As a result, he said, "the information shortage prevents identification of what food habits need to be changed, and makes it impossible to design food programs to secure the best nutritional results."

Busch flays legislators for juvenile crime rise

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Law enforcement officials blamed county and state lawmakers this week for an "epidemic" increase in juvenile violence and a breakdown in the juvenile court process.

District Attorney Joseph Busch charged the two governing bodies had let the juvenile court system slide into "disgrace" to become a "pigsty."

Juvenile Judge David Kenyon said the system lacks judges, attorneys, probation officers and courts to cope with the rising load of youthful offenders.

"The juvenile court is the most important court in the county," he said. "Frankly, we have let it go down the tubes."

Kenyon was joined at a special Board of Education meeting on community violence by Police Khief Ed Davis, Sheriff Peter Pitchess and Kenneth Kirkpatrick of the county Probation Department.

Sheriff's Capt. Edwin Swanson presented statistics he said showed juvenile violence has reached "epidemic proportions," rising 10 times faster than the population.

The system's deficiencies were blamed for lack of time to counsel youths, rehabilitation failures that returned "hard core" offenders to the street, and the inability of prosecutors to try 16 and 17 year-olds as adults in cases of serious crime.

The board urged the county Juvenile Justice Committee to propose state legislation to "curb the juvenile felon."

Fireman makes call at own shop

GOSPORT, England (UPI) — Part-time fireman David Beale, 29, called out Sunday to fight a blaze, discovered it was his own hardware store afire.

Beale and his fellow firemen managed to save most of the store although stock was damaged.

Woman scuba diver, would-be rescuer drown

AVALON (UPI) — A woman became entangled in kelp while scuba diving off Catalina and drowned along with her companion, who apparently used his air supply to try to keep her alive, sheriff's deputies said Sunday.

Deputies said 45-year-old Eugenia Ludmila Jack's air tank was empty when her body was found by lifeguards. That of her companion, Michael James Erickson, 28, was almost exhausted.

Deputies said that Mrs. Jack's foot became entangled in the kelp 60 feet below the surface. Erickson apparently shared his oxygen supply with her. An autopsy has been ordered.

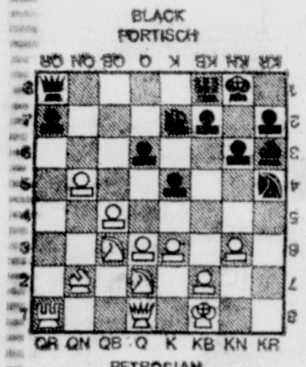
Chess

Poor defense can quicken collapse

By SHELBY LYMAN

Sometimes it is difficult to explain why one side has an advantage in a given position. But anyone who has played chess either explicitly knows or readily understands that a player with passively placed and undefended pieces and vulnerable pawns is at a disadvantage. Especially if he is without counter chances.

(Diagram 1)



White is better. Why?

The position given in our first diagram, which occurred as of the 19th move of the ninth game of the recent Portisch-Petrosian match, resulted in a victory for Petrosian, playing white. Although white is obviously ahead, the victory occurred more quickly than the above inventory of weaknesses, even when seen in relief on the cheesboard, would lead one to expect.

True, black's knight at K2 and his bishop at KR3 are undefended. Their vulnerability will make them excellent targets in the give-and-take to come. Black's QRP and QP fare no better. But for the bonce, the black queen defends one pawn and can move to easily defend the other. In addition, the black knight can retreat to QB1 and defend both. Black may even harass white with 20 . . . Q-R8 check, if preventive measures are not taken.

How is it then that Petrosian (white) was able to effect the collapse of the black forces? And what was his 20th move? Petrosian played 20. Q-KB3! and found the Achilles' Heel of the black position. If you look at diagram two and examine white's threats, you will see why.

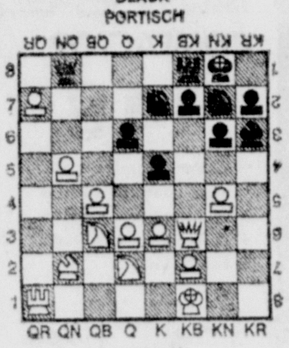
He played 20, Q-B8. Why?

1. White has the immediate threat of exchanging queens. After 21. QxQ, RxQ; there would ensue 22. R-R6, NB1 and after either white knight to K4, white would win a pawn and have a crushing popiece.

The beleaguered Portisch chose to play 1 . . . Q-N1? and avoided the losing queen exsition.

2. If black, instead, initiates the queen exchange himself with 20 . . . QxQ; after 21. NxQ, R-R1 (protecting the RP), white would play 22. P-N4! However the knight retreats, 23. P-N5 wins a changes. But he overlooked another winning white maneuver on the king side. For petrosian answered Portisch's 20 . . . Q-N1? with 21. P-N4. After the answer 21 . . . N-N2, our third position was reached.

(Diagram 3)



He wins a piece! How?

Now Petrosian won a piece! He played 22. Q-KB6, which attacks the undefended knight and Portisch saw that if he saved the knight, white's 23. Q-R4 would attack and win the undefended bishop. He therefore played 22 . . . N(K2)-B4, quaintly lost the knight instead and resigned shortly thereafter.

Thus we have seen that Petrosian's 20th move, Q-B3, created multiple threats, and rent asunder the black position. Portisch, who later in the match rallied to win two splendid games, needlessly accelerated his own defeat with his 20th move. He showed us that bad position plus bad nerves loses more quickly than merely a bad position.

U.S.: Koreans should settle own problems

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department said that a proposal by North Korea that the United States negotiate directly with Pyongyang to solve the Korean problems and end American military aid to the South appeared to be a reformulation of proposals made about a year ago.

A spokesman said the United States still felt the Korean problem could best be settled by the North and South themselves. He referred to the fact the U.N. General Assembly last fall in a "consensus resolution" urged both North and South Korea to continue their "dialogue."

"It should be clear by now that U.S. forces are in Korea to preserve peace and maintain stability on the Korean peninsula," Department spokesman John F. King said.

3 MSAC instructors earn their doctorates

WALNUT — Three Mt. San Antonio College instructors have recently earned their doctorates from UCLA and the Claremont Graduate School.

Dr. Evelyn M. Chamberlin, chairman of the MSAC vocational nursing department, completed her doctoral dissertation on "The Differences in Graduate Success Rate Among Vocational Nursing Programs Operated by Three Types of Educational Institutions" at UCLA.

She found that the size of the faculty and the student body and the size of the vocational nursing program had a significant bearing on the success rate of students in community colleges, adult schools anl private institutions.

A member of the MSAC faculty since 1955, Mrs. Chamberlin has been department chairman since 1958. She presently serves as chairman of the Board of Vocational Nursing and Psychiatric Technicians Examiners' Education and Legislative Committees.

Dr. William King, history instructor, wrote his dissertation on "George Davidson: Pacific Coast Scientist for the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, 1845-1895" at Claremont Graduate School. King surveyed the many contributions made by Davidson in mapping the Pacific Coast from Alaska to San Diego and completing two major land surveys which are the baselines for all other measurements in the state. His many other accomplishments in scientific research and writing rank him as an important California scientist despite his lack of formal education, King concluded.

DR. JAMES D. THOMAS

King has been a evening division instructor at MSAC since 1966 and joined the full-time day facility in 1970. He received his master's degree in history from CGS in 1966.

Dr. James D. Thomas, instructor in philosophy, in his dissertation at CGS, compared "The Self Between East and West — Concepts of Self in Mead, Jung and Mahayana Buddhism."

His work attempts to study the concept of "self" from a fresh point of view and to point to an exchange between the conceptual style of the West and the intuitive approaches of the East in the fields of psychology and philosophy.

Thomas, who joined MSAC in 1962 as an instructor in philosophy, psychology and world religions, has served as part-time chaplain for Boys Republic and as director of an American Friends Service Committee project in Tanzania in the late 60s.

Scripps students net $2,473 by investments

CLAREMONT — Student aid at Scripps College received a $2,473.13 boost last week thanks to the successful efforts of directors of the Student Investment Fund.

When Mrs. J. Stanley Johnson of Altadena established the fund in February 1973 with a gift of $50,000, she stipulated that 5 per cent of the average monthly valuation be given annually to student aid. The average month end market value of the fund from Feb. 28, 1973 to Feb. 28, 1974 was $49,462.58.

Senate okays registration at high schools

SACRAMENTO (UII) — Legislation to provide voting registration for 18-year-olds on their high school campus was approved Monday by the Senate.

The bill authored by Sen. Joseph M. Kennick, D-Long Beach, would require registrars on the campus during the last two weeks of April and September.

Local school officials now make the decision on whether to allow registrars on campus and some of them have refused.

The bill was sent to the Assembly by a vote of 25-0.

Kennick said the bill was requested by the new High School Student Lobby.

The doctor comments

Weight loss helps improve blood fats

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — We read your article about triglycerides. Unfortunately, you gave a lot of information about cholesterol but not about the diet for people who have too much triglycerides in their bloodstream.

I have a count of between 170-175 for triglycerides. The doctor discovered this on a yearly checkup and put me on a diet and then four pills of Atromid-S daily.

My doctor had me avoid generally all sugar, cherries, bananas, grapes and dried fruits. He retired and I have a new one. I don't want to ask too many questions, but he mentions only butter, cheese, full milk and eggs as "forbidden" or taken in small amounts. He did not mention sugar, cherries, bananas, grapes or dried fruit.

Could you write what you think about it or what I should eat to control my trigycleries?

DEAR READER — Triglycerides are fats. Most fats are a combination of three fatty acids (hence the prefix "tri") and glycerine (glyceride).

A few years ago there was considerable enthusiasm about limiting sweets in the diet of persons with high triglycerides. Later, with additional studies, it became more clear that the restriction on sweets usally worked because this decreased the calories and the patients lost weight. The weight loss was the real factor that improved the blood fats.

In your case, as you mention in the rest of your letter, you did not have a significant weight problem. So, your new doctor is reflecting the more recent thinking, that if you don't need to lose weight or limit your calories then the intake of carbohydrates is not so important. It is still generally agreed, though, that it is best to get your carbohydrates from good fruits and vegetables rather than as sweets. That way you get more bulk and needed vitamins and minerals.

For a booklet with more information on cholesterol send 50 cents to "Cholesterol," in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am told that if you get too much vitamin A, or if you eat too many oranges that your skin will turn yellow. Is this true?

DEAR READER — Half true. If you eat a lot of carrots, which are a good source of vitamin A, you can have the carrot pigement in your skin. You sometimes see this in infants who are on baby foods that contain too much carrot. Real vitamin A, as opposed to the carrot pigment, does not do this. You would have to consume a lot of oranges to have such a problem. I have never seen this problem caused by oranges alone.

The pigment in carrots is called carotene. The body converts it to vitamin A, which is much less pigmented. It used to be thought that a yellow pigment signified lots of vitamin A. Pale milk or butter was suspect of being less rich in vitamin A. Then it was learned that as pigment was converted to actual vitamin A that it lost its color. In fact, the less yellow milk contained more vitamin A than the yellow milk.

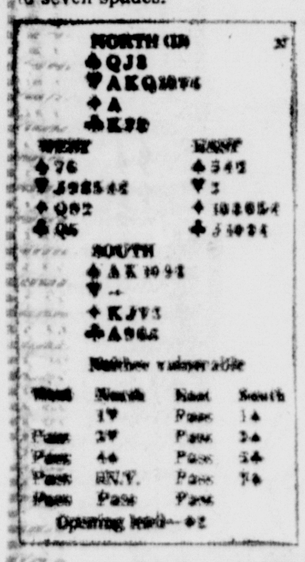
'Mod' bidding in old match

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is another hand from the Culbertson-Sims match of 1935. The bidding in the box is how the hand might be bid today. South merely rebids to three spades after his partner's jump rebid in hearts. North just goes to the spade game. For all he knows South may have six spades to the king and a side queen or so.

Now, South bids five clubs to show that ace. North bids five notrump. This is the grand slam force invented by Ely Culbertson shortly after the match and now a part of most experts' bidding kits. South has two of the three top spade honors and goes right to seven spades.



He wins the diamond lead with dummy's ace; leads the three of spades to his eight; ruffs a diamond with the jack of trumps; draws trumps and claims the grand slam.

In the match the Sims family got all the way to game. Hal opened one heart and jumped rebid to three hearts. Dorothy elected to bid four clubs and when Hal rebid to four spades Dorothy passed.

Culbertson pointed out that in the Culbertson system South would have responded two spades, not one and that a slam would have been reached.

It would also have been reached by almost any players anywhere in the world yet there was a good reason why Hal and Dorothy missed it. Dorothy was accustomed to having Hal take control at all times. When Hal just went from four clubs to four spades, Dorothy forgot that Hal had opened the bidding and then shown great excess values by jumping at his second turn.

Mexico fines boat captains

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Mexican authorities have fined four American shrimp boat captains for sailing into Mexican waters behind a fellow shrimper whose boat had been boarded and towed into port.

A Mexican gunboat Saturday took into custody the shrimp boat Vilco in a dispute over fishing rights. The Vilco was part of a fleet of 25 American shrimpers off the Yucatan Peninsula where Mexico claims a 12-mile seaward boundary.

Vilco owner Robert H. Villers, Fort Myers, Fla., said his son and skipper, Joseph, radioed that the four captains had been fined $80 to $120 and would be free to leave once the fines were paid. The boats were the Mr. Tom out of Cameron, La., and Lady Helen, Frank and Louise, and Doncelyn, all out of Fort Myers.

The U.S. Coast Guard had asked the Mr. Tom to follow the Vilco into Isla Mujers harbor to collect information for a possible harassment at sea investigation. Once there, Villers' son reported, authorities boarded the Vilco and asked how many shrimp were in the icehold and the number of nets aboard. Later, an armed guard was posted on the afterdeck, he said.

The elder Villers expressed surprise that charges were not filed Sunday.

"But I expect they will charge my son Monday and hold a hearing," he said. "I suppose they will take the shrimp and the nets. That's why the armed guard."

A spokesman for the Coast Guard's search and rescue center in New Orleans said the incident had been referred to the U.S. consulate in Merida, Mexico. But Villers said his son told him he had yet to see the consul.

Man wounded during quarrel

POMONA — Raymond Godfrey, 57, was wounded slightly Monday morning when he was shot while struggling with Larry Mitchell Darby, 22, at 2044 Pennywood Place, police reported. They later booked Darby on suspicion of assault with intent to commit murder.

The victim was grazed on his right side by a bullet from the .22-caliber rifle Darby was holding, officers said. They said the incident followed a quarrel between the two, at the address where both resided.

FIRST OFFICIAL MEETING — Atha Mathieu, the 12-year-old Parks and Recreation Commissioner from San Anselmo, Calif., attends her first official meeting and later commented, "It was not really challenging." The seventh grader took notes on details of the commission's $252,663 budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year. Asked if she would tell her schoolmates about the meeting, she replied, "No, they wouldn't understand. They wouldn't even care." Atha was appointed to the commission.

Seattle voters to decide on marijuana sale

SEATTLE (UPI) — Seattle on Tuesday will become the first major city in the nation to vote on a proposal to legalize possession or nonprofit sale of small amounts of marijuana.

The initiative in the municipal election is sponsored by a group which calls itself BLOSSOM (Basic Liberation Of Smokers and Sympathizers Of Marijuana).

The measure eliminates all city penalties, both civil and criminal, for private possession of less than 40 grams, or about 1.6 ounces, of marijuana by persons 18 or older.

The initiative also would legalize nonprofit private sale of less than 40 grams of marijuana by persons 18 and over.

Although BLOSSOM managed to gather enough signatures to certify the initiative for the ballot.

LOVE AND WAR

Back in 1890 in this country the young man was most likely to get married, if ever, when he was 26.1 years old. As for the young woman then, she was most apt to go to the altar when she was 22 years old. But these median marital ages started to drop at the century. And by 1960, the typical lad on his wedding day was 22.8 years old, and the bride, 20.3. Now that age is going up again. Not much, but some. In 1970, both the bride and groom were half a year older on the wedding day. And the matrimonial scholars who study such matters say this trend is good. Excellent, in fact. Means happier couples, they say.

Do you realize one out of every three people in Great Britain has no teeth at all? Bear in mind, the British eat more candy per capita than any other people worldwide.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS

Q — "What proportion of the dogs in this country are purebreeds?"

A — If you mean dogs whose parents are the same breed, but not necessarily registered, figure one out of every three.

Q — "Recall that ban-the-bra thing sometime back? Are bra sales still down because of that?"

A— No, they're said to be up again. Understand the girdle business is down, though. Because of pantyhose and pantsuits.

Q — "Where does 'Overindulging the children' rate on that famous list of the seven money traps in matrimony?"

A — It's No. 6. No. 1 is the urge to splurge. No. 2, too much house. No. 3, too much car. No. 4, a hobby that keeps getting bigger. No. 5, a company expense account. No. 7, clothing.

Did I tell you that 75,000 horses are slaughtered every year in this country for food? Mostly, the meat is shipped overseas. By eight big horse meat packers whose operations are checked out regularly by Federal inspectors.

Instant abortions likely for Sweden

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Bowing to public pressure, the Swedish government is proposing a no-questions-asked free abortion program up to the 12th week of pregnancy.

At the same time the nation's birth control program would be expanded in an effort to cut the number of unwanted conceptions.

The draft legislation announced recently in a joint statement by the Justice and Social Affairs ministries, would go into effect Jan. 1, 1975. Its passage through parliament is all but assured.

For years a number of women's group have been pressuring the government on the issue and public opinion polls show about 10 per cent of Swedes asked felt a woman should be free to decide for herself whether she would have a baby.

"The main point of the program is that from now on women will make decisions regarding their own bodies," said Justice Minister Lennart Geijer. "If a woman decides she wants an abortion, she can have it without any questions asked up to the 12th week."

Although abortions are legal even under current laws, it has been difficult to get them without some delay. A woman must obtain affidavits to the pregnancy by two physicians and this may take up to several weeks.

"With the new law it will only be a matter of two or three days before a woman can have her abortion done," Geijer said.

To avoid a heavy increase of abortions, the government is proposing free contraceptive consultations and cheaper contraceptives.

"The very heavy increase in abortion that we had during the early 1970s is now diminishing," said Social Affairs Minister Sven Aspling. "Now we want to prevent a new increase.

"We do not want abortion to be regarded as a contraceptive method. Instead we still provide free consultation and cheaper contraceptives."

Under the government program, contraceptive pills would cost a maximum of $3.00 for one year. Other types of contraceptives will be provided free at the first consultation, but will have to be paid for after that.

To get abortions between the 12th and 18th weeks of pregnancy will be difficult and will require a visit to a psychologist.

"This is to give the doctor information on the woman's mental condition—it is known that the risk of mental harm is greater after the 18th week when the woman can feel the foetus moving," Geijer said.

At the stage of pregnancy, he said, it was felt the woman should be told exactly how the abortion would be carried out, since abortion after the 12th week is more complicated, and about the possibilities of keeping the baby.

There are still those who oppose abortion on the ground the unborn child has a right to life.

In one of many television debates on the issue, one woman gynecologist said, "we still do not know when life actually starts and as long as we don't we should be very restrictive on abortions."

Pair booked in Texas airport extortion plot

DALLAS (UPI) — FBI agents have arrested two men for trying to extort $127,000 from the president of Braniff International by threatening to destroy the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport control tower.

Agent J. Gordon Shanklin identified the suspects as Jerry Lynn Orrick, 28, and William Wade Fuller, 38. They were to be arraigned today before a U. S. magistrate.

Shanklin said Braniff President C. Edward Acker received a letter Friday demanding that money be dropped in a potato sack at a site near Dallas by noon Sunday.

FBI agents, police and sheriff's deputies joined in arresting Orrick after he allegedly picked up the money and attempted to drive away in a pickup truck Sunday. Fuller was taken into custody three hours later in a tavern.

An airport spokesman said searches of the control tower uncovered no bombs.

Trustees reaffirm support of bicultural program

By PHYLLIS CANNON
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Parents, teachers, teacher aides and administrators crowded the school board meeting Tuesday night and listened 75 minutes while eight persons pleaded for continuance of the district's bilingual-bicultural program next year.

"Your presentation has been well received," said Dr. James Bell, board chairman. "The board does not intend in any way to cut this program if we can possibly help it. We've had few programs during my board tenure that have shown such positive results.

"I can't promise you how much we can do, but the board is committed."

Bell said that if the June 4 tax override is successful part of this money would be diverted into the bilingual-bicultural program.

"We will do everything we can to maintain the present standard, and do what we can to expand," he said.

Those who addressed the school board, asking the district to fund the bilingual-bicultural program next year if it is unsuccessful in obtaining additional federal-state monies, were Judd Ellson, president of the Associated Pomona Teachers (APT), Lexington bilingual teacher June Russell, Roosevelt liaison Cruzita Alvarado, Garey PTA President Nancy Lopes, Hamilton School Principal David M. Burriel, Washington School Principal Jim Taylor, Maria Teresa Curiel, a parent, project supervisor-counselor Kenneth A. Noonan and Martha Gonzalez, bilingual resource specialist.

Miss Gonzalez showed a color film on the bilingual-bicultural programs in Pomona classrooms.

The school board last June adopted a statement of commitment to the bilingual-bicultural program, now ending its fifth year in the district. Funds are to terminate June 30, but administrators are "pulling all the stops," Noonan explained, in applying for federal and state funds for next year.

Pomona schools have an enrollment of 19,464. More than 4,000 have Spanish surnames. More than 3,000 come from Spanish-speaking homes. Only 1,052 are enrolled in bilingual classrooms.

Several of those who addressed the board spoke in Spanish, and Hilda Reyes translated what Ellson said for the Spanish-speaking in the audience.

In other actions, the school board:

—Commended the Garey High School varsity basketball team for its showing this season.

—Set a special meeting for 5 p.m. on April 16 to consider pupil personnel items.

—Approved 22 new and revised courses for junior highs and high schools next year. These are in the areas of art, foreign language, home economics, industrial arts, language arts, physical education and science.

—Agreed to send four staff members to 25 colleges and universities in four states to recruit Mexican-American teachers for next year.

—Approved an interdistrict attendance agreement for next year with the Claremont Unified School District to allow Pomona's educable mentally retarded students to attend classes in Claremont.

—Agreed to contract with the county for educational television and film service next year.

—Was informed that the completion date for the new Roosevelt Elementary School has been extended once again to May 24.

—Gave first reading to revisions of seven regulations concerning classified personnel and dealing with the district employe directory, salary guides, substitute pay rates, overtime, overtime for exempt positions, personal illness and leave authorization for inservice training.

BUSINESS, SCHOOLS GET TOGETHER

Change in street name is coming before planners

POMONA — A proposal to rename a section of Roselawn Avenue to Humane Way will be considered by the Pomona Planning Commission tonight.

The commission meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. in the City Council chambers.

Bruce Richards, executive director of the Pomona Valley Humane Society, had sought the name change to better reflect his group's work in the local area.

That section involved extends from Mission Boulevard to Valley Boulevard. A small segment — between Pomona Boulevard and the Union Pacific railroad tracks — is not being considered.

Other agenda items include:

— A request by Leonard Crites for a conditional use permit to expand an existing board and care facility at 692 E. Phillips Blvd. He proposes to add an eight-room, 16-bed unit.

— Discussions of a sign control proposal and massage parlor amortization.

Need for more Pomona doers Rotary theme

POMONA — What Pomona needs is more doers, men like Ignacio Palomares and Ricardo Vejar, who homesteaded this valley in the 1830s.

So stated Clem Neibel, a past president of Pomona Valley Historical Society, in an illustrated talk before the Rotary Club on Tuesday in which he showed color slides of old Pomona.

"Pomona is the center of the valley and has everything going for it except the negative attitude of some of its citizens," Neibel said. "The old lady (Pomona) is not dead. She's a sleeping beauty waiting to be awakened" by an enlightened citizenry, he stated.

Neibel called for all residents to get involved and participate in neighborhood and community events during Pomona's centennial celebration in 1975. Neibel is chairman of the Pomona Centennial Commission which is making plans for that observance.

Claremont councilmen are protesting selection of site for new post office

By GOERGE MacLAREN
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — The City Council Tuesday night directed the city staff to write letters to federal authorities to protest the U.S. Postal Service's startling selection of land at the northwest corner of Arrow Highway and Bucknell Avenue for a new Claremont post office.

City Manager Keith Mulrooney said he was appalled that the Postal Service had selected the site which the City Council in June 1972 had ranked last on a list of eight possible post office sites.

Mulrooney said that in August 1972 he had notified an official of the real estate division of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers that the council, the city Planning Commission and the Chamber of Commerce had all agreed that their first choice for a future post office site was the land next to the new city police facility on Bonita Avenue.

Mulrooney recalled that of the eight possible sites reviewed with the federal official at that time, the Bonita Avenue site ranked highest.

Mulrooney noted that in 1970 President Nixon issued an executive order which requires that in considering federal building locations, officials must look at the long-range social, physical, and economic impacts of such a location on the community, and that such building plans must be compatible with local city building plans and growth objectives of the community.

Choosing the Arrow Highway location "would be a flagrant violation of Nixon's executive order," Mulrooney said.

Mulrooney received the surprising news of the location choice March 19 from Warren K. Branscum, general manager of the real estate division for the U.S. Postal Service.

Branscum in his letter said that the Postal Service recognizes the importance of inter-governmental cooperation and objective evaluation where local interests are involved.

"I would appreciate any comments or data you may have which would assist us in the timely planning and acquisition of this facility," Branscum said.

Mulrooney cited a letter from Congressman Jerry Pettis in September 1972 in which Pettis agreed that building a post office would do much to advance the concept of a city center on Bonita Avenue next to the new police station.

Pettis has said that "I'll add my voice in support of the city's preference by writing to th Postal Service."

Mulrooney explained that the location chosen by the Postal Service is three acres of choice industrial property.

Mulrooney recalled that the council in giving the Bonita Avenue location top priority chose it because of its convenience to the retirement homes, to the community's college population, and to the village business community.

He said that the Arrow Highway site, on the other hand, would exist "in isolation rather than as part of the governmental complex."

Committee to study boxing club quarters

POMONA — City and school officials Tuesday named a fact-finding committee to look into the possibility of finding other quarters for a boxing club presently housed in the gymnasium of Education Center.

The lease with the club has expired and school officials say the gym is needed for storage.

Named at a joint meeting Tuesday to represent the school board and City Council were Mayor Kay J. Lepire, Councilman Ben Ochoa Sr., and school trustees James Bell and Ken Pine.

They will meet April 4 with Tony Cerda, director, and Fred Bellows, president, of the Pomona Athletic Club, formerly the Sacred Heart Athletic Club.

City Administrator Jerrold Gonce said alternatives were available to the gymnasium site but he thought it would first be necessary to sit down with club representatives for a "give and take" session.

Two candidates to address Demo club

CLAREMONT — Two candidates who are seeking the Democratic nomination in the 62nd Assembly District will speak to members of the Eleanor Roosevelt Democratic Club tonight at 8 here.

Jerry Jordan of Covina and Mark V. McManus of West Covina will present their views at a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McCarthy, 1920 Indian Hill Blvd.

Mrs. Leisa Bronson, president, will preside. Mrs. Rene Bartlett is social chairman and Mrs. McCarthy, program chairman. Refreshments will be served.

South Hills center needs nurse help

POMONA — South Hills Neighborhood Service Center is seeking voluntary nurses to staff its Monday night clinics.

The clinics are held at the center at 1170 W. Fremont St. each Monday from 7 to 9 p.m. College students assisting now will have to leave April 8 to take midterm examinations.

Qualified persons interested in assisting at the clinic are asked to call 623-8602 or 623-8603.

The service center offers human support services dealing with life's problems each Tuesday from 7 to 9 p.m. Professional counseling is available without appointment.

Additional information is available by calling the numbers listed above, or by dropping in at the center.

For Cucamonga Channel

Supervisor asks U.S. aid

CHINO — County Supervisor Robert Townsend doesn't want a repeat of the 1969 floods.

Heavy run-off water then overran the banks of the Cucamonga Channel, causing heavy damage to homes, industry and businesses in the West End of San Bernardino County.

He is seeking federal funds to help improve the dirt channel to increase its carrying capacity.

Despite a recommendation by the California Water Commission that $5 million for the project be included in the new federal budget, President Nixon's proposed budget excluded this.

"I have meetings scheduled next month with Rep. Jerry Pettis and Sen. Alan Cranston to see if they can have the federal budget appropriation committees reconsider the needs and priority for this project," said Townsend.

"I have hopes I can stimulate enough interest to preserve the project so we can start with the initial construction during the spring of 1975."

The U.S. Corps of Engineers, he added, has completed or is completing all the pre-construction designs and basic engineering needed to start actual construction. Also, all the necessary property has been acquired.

Townsend noted several other state projects were omitted from federal funding. "A total of $96 million was sought for flood control projects in California, with only $46 million included in the proposed budget."

The Cucamonga Channel system, which includes Cucamonga Creek, Deer Canyon Creek and Demens Creek, is designed to carry storm water from the foothills above Upland and Alta Loma to the Prado Basin south of Chino, a distance of about 14 miles.

The proposed project includes lining the channel with concrete walls and floors to better confine the run-off water, widening some areas, and building debris basins at the mouths of Cucamonga, Deer, Demens and Hillside canyons.

The total project is estimated to cost nearly $62 million and could be completed within five years if funding is made available, said Art Sidler, county flood control director. Of this amount, $49 million would be sought from federal sources and $12.5 million from state and county flood control district funds.

If funds are included in the new fiscal year budget, bids on the first contract could be received by the spring of 1975, he added.

"We propose to start in the Prado area and work upstream. The $5 million would finance a two-mile section."

Sidler noted that the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives approve the final budget, and thus it is important to have appropriation committees in both to insert the funding in the final budget.

A loud crash awakened me at 4:30 a.m. one day in October 1973.

An 18-year-old girl had run into our parked car in front of our house. We brought her in until police arrived to see that she was all right.

She had taken the car she was driving without permission. She has no driver's license and was on probation at the time.

We have been trying to get someone to help us. Our car can't be repaired. We have no insurance because my husband has been out of work since January 1973. I work to meet our living expenses.

We both have had surgery this year so you know that our money is short. We have contacted everyone we know and they just keep putting us off.

The girl was in a foster home. This seems to be our problem. No one seems to think that we need any help for that reason.

We have been told that the State of California has some responsibility in cases like this but each time we call anyone we are told someone will get on it right away and then we don't hear anymore. We can't even talk to the same person again. — Mr. and Mrs. R. Y., Ontario.

We learned that the girl went to jail as a result of the accident for violation of parole, and her foster sister's car, the one she was driving without permission, was also damaged when your car was hit.

Since your difficulty didn't fit into any of the usual categories, we wrote directly to Gov. Reagan. Our reply was a brief note from James D. Garbolino, assistant legal affairs secretary in the governor's office. He said your situation was difficult to resolve and he and his associates would try to find some possible solutions.

You got a letter from James W. Chapman Jr., deputy director of the Department of Motor Vehicles. He said that unfortunately no information regarding the damage to your car was submitted to his office within 50 days of the date of the accident. He said this precluded action under the California Vehicle Code.

You told us that you had filed a report immediately so we wrote to Chapman. He told us he was sending you a cost estimate form to be filled out by a garage man.

Later you were notified that, as the value of your property damage was not in excess of $200, the department was unable to assist you.

You told us you had failed to obtain a copy of the garage man's report but that he told you verbally the cost would be between $300 and $400. He said it would be foolish to spend that much on the car since it was old.

You sold the car for $50, for parts, to get it off the street.

The doctor comments

Many medicines can help gout patients

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband has the gout. His doctor tells him this is hereditary. We know of no one in our family who has had this ailment or disease. The doctor said that in time the kidneys could be severely affected, and there is no cure, so therefore in time it could be fatal. Is there no way to help this condition? Thank you for any information you can give.

DEAR READER — I suspect you have misunderstood your doctor. While gout has a tendency to be hereditary, it isn't always so. Some family members may have had high uric acid levels, the substance that causes the gout, and not had gout attacks.

Yes, there is a lot that can be done to treat gout. It is no longer the terrible disease it was once. There are medicines to relive the pain during an acute attack.

There are medicines to help wash out the excess uric acid through the kidney. Allopurinol (Zyloprim) is very effective in stopping the body cells from overproducing uric acid. Kidney problems from gout are almost unknown in properly treated cases today. It used to be a problem, but it is a whole new ball game today.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Now everybody admits that vitamin E won't cure heart attacks or make one beautiful, but do you think it would mature cataracts, in softening the lenses that have a tendency to get rigid?

Also, do you think it would help muscular dystrophy in humans, in conjunction with other vitamins?

DEAR READER — Judging from my mail not quite everyone yet admits to the lack of usefulness of vitamin E pills or capsules. And, in regards to cataracts or muscular dystrophy, the answer to both questions is no.

The National Academy of Sciences Committee on Nutritional Misinformation recently described the many claims for vitamin E as "not backed by sound experimentation or clinical observations," and labeled such claims "Misleading."

Despite all the claims, the only use for additional vitamin E today appears to be in premature infants and patients who have had problems absorbing food from the intestinal tract.

Let me point out that this is not one man's opinion or the opinion of the American Medical Association but the prestigious National Academy of Science.

For additional information on nutritional needs, you may want to send for the "Balanced Diet" booklet. Send 50 cents to cover costs to "Balanced Diet," P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What is a normal potassium count? What are the effects of a low potassium rate, and what common foods help build up this level?

DEAR READER — The normal level is 3.5 to 5.0 milliequivalents per liter. This is fairly technical, but it is in units used for the measurement. Low potassium levels affect the heart's action and make it more susceptible to irregularities. Low potassium levels are also associated with weakness, but usually these people have enough other medical problems that it is impossible to separate this problem from the other problems.

Low levels are particularly troublesome for patients taking digitalis heart medicines. In these instances, the patient is particularly likely to have heart irregularities.

Potassium is abundant in many foods, but the best sources are the fresh fruits; oranges, lemons, grapefruit and bananas. A good way to build up your level is to use a glass of orange juice three times a day. Or, you can use a banana as a substitute for the orange juice.

Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but because of the volume of mail he cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. Write to Dr. Lamb in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Inventor's device makes blind 'see'

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — A device its inventor says will make it possible for the blind to "see" through their sense of touch was demonstrated here today by the inventor.

The device consists of a portable computer with a television-type lens and a jacket full of electrodes. For the demonstration inventor Zaid Diaz used two men said to have been blind from birth.

They walked around a room without running into obstacles, found and identified objects, recognized persons, and read pages from normal books.

Total weight of the equipment is as demonstrated is seven pounds. The person using the gear carries the small television-computer in his hand, and wears the jacket so that its 3,600 tiny electrodes touch the skin of his back. Diaz calls his device Opticron and said so far he has produced only two of them. He placed their cost at $10,000 each.

"We cannot commence largescale production until we have solid economic backing," the inventor said. "And we will not begin training more blind persons in the use of the Opticron because it would be inhuman to teach them to 'see' and then make it economically impossible for them to get the device they need."

Diaz, 35, said one of his demonstrators, Jose Luis Cuevas, was the inspiration for the invention. He said he met Cuevas at the Puerto Rican Blind Museum in Caguas.

Paying only lip service

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

Shocking Pink, where are you now? Passionate Persuader, where have you gone? Who has taken away Erotic Red and Playful Peppermint and Seductive Rose? Ou sont les nieges d'autre temps?

At the recent meeting of the secrefaries of Interior, Agriculture, and Health, Education and Welfare, various proposals, all ineffectual, were made on ways to end the desperate shortage of lipstick in this country.

As taxpayers, I feel we have the right to hold the federal government culpable for letting this shortage develop. Official Washington (whatever that is) had been warned repeatedly by conservationists and cosmetologists of the increasing shortage, predicting the lipstick curnch. High tariffs on attar of roses, oil of eucalyptus and red crayons have cut down on needed imports. Nixon's secret agreement to ship the Russians 200,000 barrels of eau de cologne, frankincense and raspberry Jell-o has added to the pressure. When the Arabs cut off our supplies of olibanum, cochineal cream and camel fat, the crisis was upon us.

It is a common sight today to see the long lines of women at the cosmetic counters of drug and department stores. Many get up early in the morning, to wait at the door of a shop believed to have received a shipment of lipstick the day before. When a woman buys her Cherry Delight (one to a customer) she hurries off to call her friends so they can rush down. By noon the drug store is out, and a sign is hung in the window: "Sorry. No lipstick." Thousands of women are turned away, pale-lipped and disappointed.

Most places require that you show a lipstick tube more than half used up. Topping off the tube is frowned upon.

Many states have tried various plans of rationing with indifferent success. Colorado has issued Lipstamps good for one Love's Ember per week for female types from teeny-boppers to the Lawrence Welk set. A brisk black (or red) market promptly sprang up, with three Love's Embers being worth the Crimson Lust and a jar of face cream.

Idaho decreed that women could only wear lipstick on the day of the month matching the last letter of their first name on an odd-even basis. Thus the Adels, Jeans and Sarahs appear rosy-mouthed on even days and the Catharines, Claires and Dorises could only red-up on odd days. The Idaho Motor Patrol (IMP) has been taking the taste test of female motorists to see if they have been violating the law. Those IMPish handkerchiefs are a sight to see after a busy day.

Across the nation lipstick-jacking flourished. Truckloads of cosmetics were forced off the road and emptied by masked gunmen. Burglars breaking into drugstores ignored the narcotics and went for the lipstick counter. brink's armed guards stood by as cases of lipstick were unloaded in a Chicago department store. A wealthy dowager has taken to keeping her lipstick in her safe deposit box with her tiara and diamond bracelets.

Here are a few tips for conserving lipstick:

—Eat carefully. Dab lips geetly with napkin.

—Drink your martinis through a straw.

—Don't lick your lips nervously, even if your teen-age son is driving.

—Share the kisses.

Peruvians fear attack by Chile

LIMA (UPI) — "Thank God for Salvador Allende; he kept Chile in such chaos she couldn't attack us until now," a wealthy Peruvian said.

Even foreign residents here heard such remarks frequently. An Army officer told a friend a surprise attack could come across Peru's southern border with Chile "at any minute". Businessmen said a war was just what the Chile's junta—which deposed the late President Allende—needed to distract Chileans from their economic depression.

The influential Peruvian newsmagazine Oiga headlined its lead article this week: "Winds

In 65th Assembly race

Candidate Bader files tax report with cities

Pomona city Councilman Charles W. Bader, showing an income of $30,804 and a federal tax payment of $4,974, is the first candidate to file copies of his 1973 income tax report at the offices of city clerks throughout the Pomona Valley.

Bader is a Republican candidate in the 65th Assembly District. He is the first of the Assembly, Senate or congressional candidate in the June 4 primary to take the step to make copies of his income tax report public. It is optional and is not part of the requirements of the new financial disclosure law.

Bader, a realtor, is president of D and R Properties, Inc., of Pomona and Newport Beach. He filed a joint return with his wife, Rosanne, a teacher in the Pomona Unified School District.

The candidate urged his fellow candidates in both the Republican and Democratic party primaries to also file their income tax reports.

"The confidence of voters in their representatives today is at an all time low. It is the responsibility of candidates and office holders alike to help restore that confidence. This can only be accomplished if candidates are totally open and above board with voters," he said.

Snake support is a big boa

By ERMA BOMBECK

No one agrees with a columnist 100 per cent. I know that. But when I did a piece recently on ten reasons for not letting your son have a pet snake, I would have been willing to bet public support was unanimous. (People have been swept into the White House on a lesser platform.)

Not true. It seems there are a few readers who, through our sloppy mental health laws, contend man's best friend is a snake coiled at his feet.

A mother of two children from Morristown, Tenn., said that snakes are much maligned and that she loves them for several reasons.

1. They discourage dallying by door-to-door salesmen and pamphleteers when you answer the door wearing a smile and a four-foot black snake.

2. Unwanted company doesn't hang around long when you say, "Be careful where you sit. One of my boa constrictors is missing."

3. Snakes do not bark at odd hours or turn over garbage cans.

4. Snakes are affectionate. After all, how tight can a dog or cat hug you back?

5. You get real looks of respect from other mothers when you give a snake program at the school and let each child touch it. (I got a flash for you, Cora. That look isn't respect. It's disbelief until they can get you into a home.)

A youngster from Howell, N. J., wrote that snakes are easy to take away from their parents (they don't want them around, either), they are odorless and are in fact just as afraid of you as you are of him.

I have always had a theory that some fears are normal. . that it is abnormal to be able to keep breathing when you see a flashing red police car light in your rear view mirror. . .to remain conscious when the oxygen mask drops down before you on an airplane. . .to keep cool when you near your doctor whisper to your nurse, "ARE YOU SURE?" . . .to remain calm when you are called by the principal in the middle of the afternoon who says, "Your son has something he wants to tell you."

As for snakes, maybe our fear of them is handed down from one generation to another. All I can say is, mother and I were walking around the farm one day when we spied a snake coiled in the sun. We flanked his right by half a mile while mother shouted, "Is he following us?" I glanced back briefly in flight and yelled, "Not on foot!"

Jury finds Garrison innocent

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A federal jury Tuesday found District Attorney Jim Garrison innocent of income tax evasion charges.

The jury deliberated only a few minutes before ruling.

Garrison, acting as his own lawyer, complained that the federal government's case against him was "as confusing as a Chinese laundry in a thunderstorm."

After his closing arguments Monday, Garrison told reporters he probably paid too much in taxes.

"I could have taken a $500,000 deducation and given my Kennedy papers to the Audubon Park Zoo," said Garrison, referring to a much-publicized investigation in which he contended the assassination of President Kennedy was a conspiracy hatched in New Orleans.

Both sides rested their cases Monday and the jury began its brief deliberations Tuesday.

Antismoking crusaders going after billboards

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The antismoking crusaders are taking aim at those bigger-than-life cowboys and bathing beauties who — cigarette in hand — smile down on the nation's motorists from billboards across the country.

Action on Smoking and Health (ASH), a nonprofit group which played a big role in driving cigarette commercials off television and radio, now has asked the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) to ban tobacco advertising on billboards.

One of their primary arguments is that children—even before they can read—are exposed to super-sized authority figures, happy, healthy, and smoking. The billboards force themselves on the occupants of a passing car, the group contends, and may have an uncontrolled subliminal impact, especially on the young.

In addition the organization's petition to the FTC contends that the present health warning, required by law on all outdoor tobacco advertising, is "too small to read from more than 120 feet" in a passing car. It is not "clear and conspicuous" as the law mandates, ASH says.

A passenger in a car traveling 30 m.p.h. passing within 20 feet of a cigarette billboard would have about 2.6 seconds to read the warning, the group contends.

"The warning required on the cigarette billboards is 14 words in length. An average reading speed for adult, educated, literate Americans is approximately 250 words per minute.

"Thus, even assuming that the motorist instantly located the warning, and looked directly at it during the entire period that he was within viewing range, he would not be able to read the 14 words of the warning in 2.6 seconds."

Both the Outdoor Advertsing Association of America and the Tobacco Institute think the whole thing is a lot of nonsense.

Quite apart from the merits of ASH's case, they don't believe the FTC has the authority to ban an entire form of advertising. It was Congress, they point out, and not the FTC that forced an end to broadcast cigarette commercials, although the FTC's persistence had a lot to do with it.

ASH contends the FTC has authority to act under its power to stop "unfair and deceptive" trade practices and advertising. There is precedent, it adds, in the fact that the state of Utah banned tobacco ads from billboards, posters and the like nearly 50 years ago.

In any event, the industry does not regard the petition as an immediate threat.

"I will say this," said a spokesman for the Outdoor Advertising Association: "They will not be happy until they get the magazines and newspapers, too."

Bills restoring 65 speed limit introduced

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Separate bills to restore the state's maximum 65-mile-an-hour speed limit were offered Monday in the House and Senate.

Both would repeal legislation setting the limit at 55 as a means to conserve energy.

Sen. David Roberti, D-Los Angeles, authored the senate version (SB1904).

The other measure (AB3494) was introduced by Assemblyman Walter Karabian, D-Los Angeles.

Both measures came on the heels of a call by California Highway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski to restore the 65 m.p.h. limit as soon as practical.

Both bills carried an "urgency" clause and would take effect upon signature of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Foreman claims he requires rest

CARACAS (UPI) — Heavyweight champion George Foreman, who needed only five explosive minutes to demolish a Ken Norton who lasted 24 rounds against Muhammad Ali, said today he needs to rest his injured right knee before risking his title against Ali in Africa in September.

"I need some rest," declared the unmarked champion during a victory celebration after his technical knockout triumph over Norton at exactly 2:00 of the second round Tuesday night.

"I"m really in bad shape."

You couldn't prove that statement by Norton, who made the mistake of thinking he could trade punches with Foreman and paid for it by taking three painful trips to the canvas before referee Jimmy Rondeau mercifully called a halt to their scheduled 15-round title bout, unbeaten Foreman's 40th win and second title defense.

The 25-year-old champion, hardly looking "in bad shape," had a post-midnight victory snack on the poolside terrace of his hotel, while crowds of wellwishers pressed around.

Both Foreman and Norton, a 28-year-old ex-Marine, agreed that the challenger had made a serious mistake trying to trade punches. Norton, who'd only been knocked out once previously and had split a pair of 12-round decisions with ex-champion Ali, came out swinging and landed the first punches of the fight.

Norton, who weighed a career high 212 ¾ pounds, admitted afterwards in the dressiong room that he felt tense. It showed, especially in the second round when Foreman dropped him twice for the mandatory eight-count and then hit him so hard his head bounced off the floor before Rondeau stepped in.

Norton managed to lift himself off the floor and guide himself to his corner by following ropes, collapsing with both arms over the top strands and looking down at his handlers.

"I tried to think him out of position—I should have boxed," said Norton.

Foreman agreed.

"He was thinking he was a puncher also so he started to load up a couple of hooks and I went under them and took a little of his heart," the champion said.

Foreman bounced up and down in his corner before the fight, showing no signs of pain in the damaged right knee which sent him to a hospital earlier in the day. But he said in his dressing room that the knee hurt and he was just putting on a show.

His personal physician, Dr. Peter Hacker, said he applied ice packs to the knee during the early hours of the afternoon and six hours before fight time pumped it full of novocaine and cortisone.

"He couldn't have fought the way the knee was in the morning," Hacker said.

The 224 ¾-pound Foreman, fighting at his heaviest weight ever, traded punches during the first round, getting in a good left and taking one in return. But in the second round he stalked Norton, dropping him with a right to the head after softening him up with a right under the heart.

"I could tell, once I softened him up with a couple of body punches, that the fight was mine," he said.

While the crowd of 10,000 — only two-thirds filling the Poliedro stadium because there was live home television in Caracas —booed Foreman and cheered Norton, it saved its lustiest yells for ex-champion Ali.

Ali, who is supposed to fight Foreman at Kinshasa, Zaire (the old Belgian Congo) in September, predicted afterwards that he would regain the heavyweight title he lost when he refused to obey a draft order. "Foreman was meant for me," he said.

Norton, who broke Ali's jaw in their first fight, agreed that he was the man to beat Foreman because he was a better boxer.

Foreman was guaranteed $700,000 against 40 per cent of the total revenues while Norton will take home $200,000 against 20 per cent. The fight was telecast live in 70 countries, but ticket sales for closed circuit viewing were reported slow in many areas.

The purse for the Foreman-Ali fight will be $10 million, money put up by Swiss businessmen representing African interests.

There was some doubt whether or not last night's fight would take place until two hours before the 10:30 p.m. edt because of a dispute over the referee.

Earlier in the day, Foreman's manager-trainer, Dick Sadler, won a fight with the local boxing commission by getting it to agree to an American referee. Then, as the crowd was arriving for the fight, Norton's co-manager, Art Rivkin, insisted that the referee be Rondeau, from Washington, D.C., rather than Waldemar Schmidt of Puerto Rico.

Lutheran of La Verne moves into league

There will be a new high school team to watch next year in the Pomona Valley.

Lutheran High of La Verne will be moving from primarily a freshman team up to the varsity level and will be competing in league play instead of freelance.

The parochial school will be one of two teams being added to the Arrowhead League, in which Webb School of Claremont has been competing.

The other team which is being attached to the Arrowhead will be Lutheran High of Orange. The addition of those two teams will expand the league to eight teams next year.

"We have some fair athletes for a school our size," said Lutheran athletic director Steve Miller. "I think it'll be good for us. It'll be a challenge."

Miller went on to explain some of the difficulties a freelance school faces as far as scheduling goes.

"Being a freelance school, it's impossible to schedule," added the A.D. "If you're a 1-A school sometimes you end up playing a much bigger school like Pomona, who we played in football this year."

Of course, Lutheran didn't face the bigger schools' varsity teams since the La Verne school only had freshmen to work with. So instead, it went up against junior varsity and other frosh teams.

Lutheran won't have a four-year program next year, but will be competing against other four-year schools with a three-year load. The first year, the La Verne team will be competing without seniors.

"I took a look at what we'd have after this year and figured we'd have an enrollment of somewhere between 500 and 550 students," started Miller, who also coaches football, baseball and wrestling at Lutheran. "I looked at the Olympic League but they weren't too excited about adding more teams. So then we went to the Arrowhead League.

"I think we can do a good job next year," he added. "About half of our athletes are from the local area, with a few of them coming from Temple City."

Lutheran claimed a record of 4-5 last year in football, a 12-10 mark in basketball, and is currently riding on a 6-2 season in baseball.

Porter going to Brazil

Cleve Porter, the San Antonio League's Most Valuable Player this year in basketball, will be leaving this afternoon for Brazil with nine other California high school all-star basketball players.

Porter was one of a dozen players chosen to the high school all-star team, which is being sponsored by the Amateur Athletic Union (AAU). The 6-foot-5 senior will compete with the touring all-star team in Brazil for two weeks. The team, coached by Ernie Thuring, has been practicing at Pepperdine College in Malibu the past week.

Shrine coaches named

Paul Womack of Redlands High and Hal Lambert of Taft High in Woodland Hills have been named co-coaches of the North team for the 23rd annual North-South Shrine Football game, scheduled for Saturday, July 7 at the Rose Bowl.

Womack and Lambert have a combined total of 30 years experience in coaching football, during which time each has coached their respective teams to numerous championships.

Valley athletes honored

Six valley athletes have been named to the Prep All-America Football program for 1973-74, as announced by the editors of Coach and Athlete Magazine.

Criteria by which these athletes were nominated by high school coaches, athletic directors, college recruiters and sports writers across the country include: outstanding athletic ability based on career records, sportsmanship, leadership and service to team and community.

Each local winner's athletic achievements will be presented in the 1973-74 Prep All-America Football Award Yearbook to be published in June.

The six valley athletes include Bruce Abraham of Claremont, Tom Brown of Ontario, Ricardo Hermocillo of Upland, Bill Houtz of Alta Loma, Walt Kaufman of Chaffey, Manuel Mendez of Ontario, and Lance Parrish of Walnut.

Grid fans watching for Sun

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — The Southern California Sun (World Football League version) came out from behind clouds of obscurity Tuesday.

Yes, folks, there really is such an organization. From all appearances there will also be a football team of that name.

Head coach Tom Fears will guest on the KABC radio Sportstalk program Thursday at 5 p.m. The public can call in and question Fears about the Sun (That name certainly lends itself to all kinds of plays on words).

Some of the team officials, General Manager Fred "Curly" Morrison, owner Larry Hatfield and Fears were formally introduced to the press at a luncheon at Anaheim Stadium Tuesday.

Club offices are under construction on the second floor of the stadium. The organization is so new that most of the office staff have only been working together this week and few know each other or club officials.

But make no mistake about it. Unless the rest of the WFL collapses, the Southern California Sun will be playing the Portland no-name-yets Thursday, July 18 at Anaheim Stadium.

That game is slated for national television (TVS network) but will be blacked out in Southern Calif.

It will be the first of a 10-game regular-season home schedule. There are no pre-season contests.

"We're going to have a football team anyone from Orange County is going to be proud of," promised Morrison. "We'll have the finest facilities any professional football club could have."

Morrison is so new at this that he inadvertently excluded Los Angeles, San Bernardino, and Riverside Counties.

But the spirit, enthusiasm, drive, and determination are there.

Aside from James McAlister, Kermit Johnson, and Booker Brown, the quantity of known talent is negligible. But then, most people had never heard of many players who became stars when the AFL opened shop.

Morrison introduced two experienced pro players signed by the Sun (Somehow that just doesn't sound right. But it is and we'll all have to get used to it).

Former Ram defensive back and kick returner Gene Howard is the better known of the two. The other is Jesse Kay, a quarterback who played for Saskatchewan.

The club has signed a total of 12 former NFL players. But only a few are known to the public. Former Rams Joe Carollo, Wendell Tucker, Henry Dyer, Don Parrish, and Wayne Estabrook (Whittier College and Rams taxi squad) top the list.

Former USC stars Don McCall and Sam Dickerson fall into the same category. Add to that defensive tackle Jim Norton and tight end Jacques McKinnon (San Diego Chargers) running back Clem Turner (Cincinnati) and you have just about run the gamut of everyone generally known.

"We haven't been able to announce our college signings because of eligibility in spring sports," said Morrison. Nor can we announce the NFL free agents we're talking to. But we have signed 25 of the 35 college players we've drafted. We will have 91 or 92 rated football players."

Oh yes, one other thing. The Sun uniform colors will be Magenta and Orange.

Minnesota stops Kings' streak

By United Press International

The Minnesota North Stars' faint hopes of overtaking the Atlanta Flames for the fourth and last playoff spot in the West Division of the National Hockey League are still flickering today.

The Stars came up with a 5-1 victory Tuesday night over the Los Angeles Kings at Bloomington, Minn., to move within five points of the idle Flames. The victory broke the Kings' record winning streak at 11 games and tonight the North Stars are back in action again at Pittsburgh with a chance to cut Atlanta's margin to three points.

Danny Grant and J. P. Parise had two goals each for the Stars against the Kings. Murray Oliver got the other Minnesotta goal and Bob Berry notched the only score for Los Angeles.

Lakers play reserves

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — "No team will dominate the playoffs," said injured Los Angeles Lakers star Jerry West.

"I still think Milwaukee is the team to beat," said his coach, Bill Sharman.

The Lakers closed their season Tuesday night with a 121-115 loss to the Seattle Sonics. Los Angeles, NBA Pacific Division champion, finished with a 47-35 record.

Los Angeles opens the playoffs against the Bucks Friday in Milwaukee.

"I expect Oscar (Robertson) to play tough in the playoffs, but they'll miss Lucius Allen," Sharman said. "They won't be as quick."

Allen is injured.

Sharman played his reserves most of the fourth period Tuesday night as the Lakers tuned up for the match with Milwaukee.

"I don't know what my status is. It's up to Sharman," said West, who has a pulled abdominal muscle and hasn't played much lately.

Dodgers place Tommie Agee on waiver list

VERO BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Veteran Tommie Agee was placed on waivers by the Los Angeles Dodgers Tuesday, and the club also put Ken McMullen on the restricted list.

The Dodgers got down to the 25-man limit by optioning 12 players to the minors.

Agee, a 31-year-old outfielder, came to the Dodgers last December in a trade with St. Louis for relief pitcher Pete Richert. Agee batted .177 with St. Louis and .235 with Houston last season.

McMullen, a veteran third baseman, left camp on March 17 to be with his ailing wife in Oxnard, Calif., and it was not known when he would return to the club.

The 12 players optioned to the minors and awaiting assignment are pitchers Bruce Ellingsen, Greg Heydeman, Rex Hudson, Rick Nitz, Rick Rhoden and Eddie Soloman; catcher Kevin Pasley; infielders Ivan Gekess and Terry McDermott, and outfielders Orland Alvarez, Henry Cruz and John Hale.

Ron Cey and Jim Wynn each hit home runs and Willie Crawford had four singles Tuesday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 9-5, for their 10th straight exhibition win.

Angels' Sands hikes average

TUCSON (UPI) — The hitting of the California Angels' Charlie Sands is getting to be unreal.

And so is his batting average.

He continued his sizzling spring with three hits Tuesday as the Angels edged Cleveland 5-4 in the 11th inning.

That made his batting average .688. He has four home runs, including a grand slam.

Lee Stanton's run-scoring single gave California the 11th inning victory over the Indians.

It scored Joe LaHoud, who had singled off loser Steve Blasteric.

Poly spikers 'welcome' old coach

P-B Staff Writer

Cal Poly's head track coach Fred Jones isn't feeling any pressure from anybody, and yet his Broncos are still enjoying a very successful season.

"Since we're building a whole new program at Poly, there isn't any pressure on us to do well," stated the Broncs first-year skipper. "But I feel we can surprise a lot of people."

He has already, and he would like to surprise a few more this coming weekend when his Broncos go up against Nevada Las Vegas and Long Beach State in a double-dual meet on the Poly track.

There is one major reason why Jones and the rest of the Broncos want to do exceptionally well this weekend. Ron Allice, who built Cal Poly into a powerhouse in track, is the head coach at Long Beach State. Allice left the Bronco campus last year to take the new job.

"I know Ron can't wait to wipe out Poly," grinned Jones. "But I feel if they (Long Beach) let down just a little, we'll get them. We already beat Las Vegas earlier this year."

Jones wasn't overwhelmed with Poly's performance in the Santa Barbara Relays over the weekend. But he had a reason to be a little subdued.

"We limped to Santa Barbara," he stated at the weekly track luncheon Tuesday at the Castaway Restaurant in Pomona. "One of our relay men, David Frierson, came up with a little soreness. We had to go without him last week and he's doubtful again this week. It kind of wipes out our relays and it takes a lot away from our sprints."

Triple jumper Emory Montgomery was the Cal Poly star at the Relays by winning his specialty with a jump of 48-9¾.

But Jones was particularly pleased with the efforts of sprinter Jerrold Curry.

Curry ran a 47.7-second quarter mile last weekend, and thus was named the valley athlete of the week in the college division.

"He's just been astounding me each week with his improvement," Jones boasted about his sprint star.

Over on the junior college level, Citrus College sprinter Browning Allen was voted the valley JC athlete of the week after winning the 100 and 220 while also running on the two relay teams against San Bernardino Valley College.

Allen is a former star at Claremont High.

QUOTING THE COACHES:

Don Ruh, Mt. San Antonio —"I was very pleased with our meet against Cerritos (116-29). I thought some of the highlights of the meet included Dave Krogh's 211-11 in the javelin, Erich Scott's 48-5 in the triple jump and Steve Miller's 6-7½ in the high jump . . . Krogh has had an injured shoulder and arm and hadn't thrown this year prior to the Cerritos meet. Scott's mark, I think, was the best in Southern California this year. And Miller's jump was his lifetime best . . . About our meet with Santa Ana this weekend: They're not very deep, but I think they're better than their previous scores have inicated. We'll make a lot of adjustments this weekend and do a lot of juggling."

Vince O'Boyle, Citrus — "We ran without Rick Wilmoth and Paul Nelson last week against San Bernardino. Wilmoth wasn't feeling well and Nelson felt a twinge after the 440 relay, so we pulled him out of the rest of his races . . . We're coming along in the field events . . . Friday we meet Palomar and I expect it to be very close It might come down to the mile relay. I don't think our mile relay team has really been pushed yet. I think we're capable of getting under 3:20. It should be an interesting matchup between Palomar's Anderson and Wilmoth in the 220. We can't let them sweep the shot put and the discus."

Chuck Hicks, Chaffey — "We lost the 440 and mile relays against Grossmont, and that's the first time that has happened in several years . . . I think we have a believable chance of winning against San Diego this weekend. They're a spotty team, so I think we'll probably beat them . . .Richard Jimenez broke his personal record in the three mile against Grossmont (14:56.1), and Craig Weber is coming along. Both of those guys came down with a touch of the flu and are just now getting back in shape."

Pat Mulcahy, Pomona-Pitzer — "I think some of our highlights from last week came from Bill Taylor who ran the 440 in 49.0 and the 220 in 22.1, and from Randy Luce who doubled in the mile (4:23.7) and the three-mile (14:50.2). Other than those two our performances were kind of spotty. Right now I think we're kind of stuck in the field events. They haven't seen much competition, but I think our non-scoring meet with Westmont, Cal Lutheran and Southern Cal College this weekend will provide some tough competition."

Upland, Iles nab SAL win over Damien

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Staff Writer

UPLAND — Steve Iles fired his second straight four-hitter Tuesday for Upland High, as the Highlanders blanked San Antonio League foe Damien 3-0 in a game played at Memorial Park Tuesday afternoon.

The win keeps Upland and Montclair all knotted up for the SAL lead, both teams with 3-0 league marks.

It was the second route-going win in a row for Iles, and with the shutout he has now unraveled 13 straight scoreless innings in loop play.

What shaped up to be a pitching duel between Iles and Damien's Frank Pastore proved to be just that until Pastore tired in the later going.

Through four innings, Upland had managed no runs and only one hit from the deliveries of Pastore, but touched him up for one tally in the fifth, and put the game away with two runs in the sixth on some razzle-dazzle base running.

Damien actually mounted the first scoring threat of the battle, as Dean Sickles and Dan Monroe stroked back-to-back singles to open the fourth.

John Pignotti then sacrificed the runners to second and third, but Iles kept them right there as he got Bart Sullivan to fly out and fanned Gerard Piccioni.

Pastore survived a mild Upland threat in the fourth, but was touched for a single run in the fifth.

Hurler Iles drew a one-out walk and pinch-runner Marty Bordato stole second and third. But Pastore fanned Mark Schneekluth.

Dale Arneson got the run home, however, driving a hard single past Spartan first sacker Steve Schiro.

The one run was all Iles was to need, but the Highlanders put things away with some aggressive base-running in the sixth. Russ Feaster and Tony Votaw singled, with Feaster taking third on Votaw's hit. Damien brought in Larry Pekarcik to pitch, but Feaster broke for home and Votaw for second on a Pekarcik delivery.

Second baseman Billy Karr took catcher Pignotti's peg and returned it home, but his throw sailed past Pignotti as Feaster scored. Pignotti then threw wildly trying to get Votaw at third, and Votaw raced home for the third and final run of the game.

Upland remains undefeated with its 3-0 mark in the SAL, while Damien, a pre-league pick to win the title, falls to a 1-2 SAL ledger.

Bonita, San Dimas gain piece of 4-way Hacienda tie

Billy Bumstead pitched and hit Bonita High to a 9-2 romp over Ontario Tuesday afternoon to move the Bearcats into a four-way tie for the Hacienda League lead.

In other HL action, San Dimas blanked Sierra Vista 3-0 to gain a piece of the dogfight with Gladstone and Alta Loma.

Chaffey High remained atop the Citrus Belt League standings with a 1-0 win over Ramona while Rowland dropped a 2-1 decision to Baldwin Park in Montiview League play.

Bumstead pitched four innings of three-hit baseball to post his fifth straight win, third in league play, and added two hits in three trips to the plate.

After Ontario had taken a 1-0 lead in the first inning, the Bearcats knotted the game at 1-1 in the second as Carl Davis doubled and Bumstead singled him home.

Bonita scored three times in the third as Jim Hathaway singled and moved to second on an error and scored on Harold Drake's single. Drake reached base on an error and Davis' fly ball scored Lacheur.

Steve Hines, who went two-for-three, triple home a fourth inning run.

Bumstead, who had his scoreless string of 22 innings snapped in the first inning, was relieved by Richard Ortega who hurled three hitless frames.

Bonita is now 3-1 while Ontario fell to 1-3.

Dave Maloof, with seventh inning relief help from Paul Willman, threw a one-hitter as San Dimas shutout Sierra Vista 3-0, to gain a piece of the four-way tie in the HL.

The Dons were only able to hit five balls out of the infield against Maloof, now 2-0, with the only hit being a Pete Saldana single in the fifth inning.

San Dimas staked Maloof with a first inning run as Jim Richards walked, advanced to second on a passed ball, moved to third on Jerry Levereau's single and scored on a ground out.

The Sanits added a pair of fifth inning runs as Andy Hegal singled and scored on Kent Williams' triple. Levereau singled, his second of the game, to drive in Williams.

San Dimas, 6-4 overall, visit Royal Oak (2-2) Friday in a crucial league contest. Sierra vista fell to 0-4.

Alan Lupinetti doubled home the only run of the game and Larry Garcia fired a two-hitter as Chaffey High nipped Ramona 1-0.

The only run in the contest came in the fourth as Wally Reed walked and was sacrificed to second. Lupinetti then doubled to right to score Reed. It was Lupinetti's second straight game winning hit.

Garcia (4-1, overall and 4-0 in league) continues to dazzle CBL opponents as the junior southpaw allowed just two scratch singles and has now allowed just one run in 23⅓ 3rd innings.

Chaffey, 7-4 overall and 4-0 in CBL play, won its protest of the Eisenhower game and will be replayed from the fifth inning on. The date has yet to be announced.

Eric Short (1-1) fired a four-hitter in a losing effort.

Ray Duffy (two-for-four) singled home Rick Camacho for Rowland's run.

Game under protest

Cavs 2-hit 'Pack

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

MONTCLAIR — Brent Jetton and Mike Medeiros teamed up to check Claremont on just two hits Tuesday afternoon as Montclair edged the Wolfpack 3-2 in a San Antonio League cruicial battle.

Wolfpack coach Steve Lambert filed a protest in regards to the last out of the game for the Wolfpack.

With two outs and a runner of first in the top of the seventh and Montclair leading 3-2, Claremont's Tony Janusz hit a one-hopper that struck umpire Glen Rogers, who was standing between the pitcher's mound and second base. The ball was retrieved by Medeiros who threw to first for the final out of the game.

Lambert is protesting the rule that states when the ball strikes the umpire without passing an infielder, other than the pitcher, the batter is awarded first base and the runner on first advances to second.

Montclair's win imporves its SAL record to 3-0 and keeps coach Tom McFadden's team deadlocked with Upland, a 3-0 victor over Damien, for the top spot.

The loss dips Claremont's mark to 1-2 despite the fact that Wolfpack pitchers have allowed just nine runs.

The closely played contest featured outstanding pitching by Claremont's Harry Brown (2-1, 0-1) and Montclair's Jetton (3-1, 2-0).

Jetton, a southpaw off-speed specialist, had a no-hitter going until the seventh, despite walking three batters and throwing two wild pitches in the sixth when the Pack scored their first run.

Then in the seventh, Dave Aguilera doubled to left for the first Claremont hit.

Jetton, who had been shaky in issuing five walks and three wild pitches, was relieved by Medeiros.

Medeiros who extended his scoreless string to 14 innings, struck out a batter and gave up a bloop single to right by Danny Thomas, with Aguilera stopping at third. Todd Ervin hit a ground ball to second baseman Tony Esquibel who stepped on second for the force out but threw late to first with Aguilera scoring on the play.

Janusz then hit the controversial ground ball for the last out.

Brown was impressive in a losing role. The tough-luck lefthander gave up just four hits but was touched up for three unearned runs in the fourth.

Gary Baker started the fourth inning spurt with a one-out single. A walk to Medeiros put runners on first and second.

Jim Brown's ground ball was booted by third baseman Thomas to load the bases.

Brown then unleashed a wild pitch that rolled out of play allowing Baker and Medeiros to score. Esquibel then lifted a scoring fly ball to center to drive home Brown.

Claremont, now 6-4 on the season and the loser of two straight, have collected just 10 hits in its three SAL games. The 'Pack host Garey (1-2) Friday.

Montclair, now 7-3 on the year, host Upland Friday in a battle for the top spot. Medeirs (2-1, 1-0) is scheduled to start.

LOS ANGELES — The Los Angeles Rams added eight more free agents to the list of players who will be given opportunities to win jobs with the team for the 1974 season, including wide receiver Claudie Watson, a former Ontario High, Chaffey College and Cal State L.A. standout.

Watson, 6-1, 170, and George Kiss, 5-9, 190, a kicker hopeful from California (Davis) are the lone Golden Staters. The others:

Running back Jeff Horsley, 6-0, 211, North Carolina Central, drafted on round 10 by New Orleans in 1973; defensive back Joseph Larkin, 6-0, 195, Boise State; wide receiver Joe Petty, 6-3, 197, Arizona State, drafted on round 16 by San Diego in 1973; center Marvin Roberts, 6-2, 237, Michigan State, drafted on round 6 by San Diego in 1973; defensive tackle Ralph Sargent, 6-4, 245, Newberry, signed as a free agent by Kansas City in 1973; and running back Thomas Thompson, 6-1, 215, So. Illinois.

Vol spikers test Bruins

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Dynasties at UCLA are not confined to basketball.

Jim Bush's track team — winner of three straight NCAA titles -goes after its 22nd straight dual meet win against Tennessee Saturday at the Bruin campus.

But even that win-streak may come to an end.

"If we still had Clim Jackson, I don't think anyone would beat us," Bush said in an interview. "As it is we have to give up nine points every meet in the high hurdles. That's a lot of points to overcome."

Jackson, who quit the team to concentrate on an acting career, now runs for the Beverly Hills Striders and turned in a 13.8 last week.

Lutheran wins for 7-2 record

LA VERNE — La Verne Lutheran High extended its baseball record to 7-2 in its first season of diamond action, posting a 4-3 win over the Webb School JVs Tuesday.

Bret Reinhard hurled the victory for the Trojans. Dale Coleman broke up a 3-3 tie in the eighth with a triple to drive home the winning tally.

Next game for Lutheran will be Friday, as it hosts the Upland JV squad.

Pomona tracksters remain unbeaten after easy victory

While Ganesha High is trying to retain its San Antonio League track title, there seems to be one team which is capable of knocking off the defending champs—the Pomona Red Devils.

Pomona remained undefeated for the year by tearing into Damien Tuesday afternoon, 81½-37½, picking its fourth league win of the year.

The Red Devils won every event except for the four sprint races and the 440 relay, capturing firsts in 10 of the 14 events.

Rob Lamb of Damien doubled in the 100 and the 220 after winning with times of 10.2 and 23.5. The Spartans also won the 440 and 880 before Pomona really started to tear loose.

Ken Dent and Berry Boettcher tied for the victory in the mile in 4:50.0 minutes, and then the same two plus Ed Davila crossed the finish line at the same time in the two mile in 10:30.0.

Andre Hall again scored a dual victory in the hurdles, claiming the 120 highs in an incredible 14.5 seconds and the 180 lows in 20.1 seconds.

What was even more incredible, the Pomona and Damien 440 relay teams finished in a dead heat in 45.3 seconds—accounting for the split point in the final scoring.

Gary Rice was named Pomona's athlete of the meet after winning the pole vault at 12-feet even.

In other SAL track meets Tuesday, Claremont coasted to an easy 72-46 win over Garey and Upland nipped Montclair 62-56.

Claremont won all but four events on the varsity level against Garey, but three of those four Viking wins were claimed by Stanley Webster.

Webster won the 100 in 10.3 seconds, the 220 in 23.6 seconds and the long jump with a leap of 21-feet, 4 inches.

Bruce Abraham was the only Claremont trackster to pick up a double win, collecting the twin killing in the hurdles.

The 6-foot-4 center from the Wolfpack basketball team cleared the 120 highs in 15.3 seconds and the 180 lows in 20.9 seconds.

Claremont is now 3-1 in the SAL, while Garey drops to 0-4.

The Upland-Montclair meet went right down to the final event, the mile relay.

In that event, which Upland won with a time of 3:33.7, the Highlanders' Steve Scott outlegged Montclair's Filbert Gonzales on the final quarter mile leg. Scott won the 440 earlier in the day with a 50.1 second clocking.

Montclair sprinter Jerrard Bryant was the only double winner in the meet, capturing the 100 in 10.0 seconds and the 220 in 22.9 seconds.

All the SAL schools will be competing in the Chino Relays at Chino High Friday night. Chino is the two-time defending champion of its own relays.

Hacienda League track action will continue Thursday afternoon with defending league champion San Dimas hosting Bonita, Walnut entertaining Sierra Vista and Ontario welcoming Alta Loma.

All meets begin at 3:15 p.m.

Needless to say, San Dimas shouldn't have much trouble with Bonita since the Spartans are still unbeaten while the Bearcats have yet to win a league outing.

The big showdown in the Hacienda won't even be presented in the valley. One of the three unbeatens in the league will go down to defeat when Royal Oak meets Gladstone.

Giants do their thing in track

P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — It's four down and three to go for Ganesha High's track team.

The defending San Antonio League champion Giants put together another convincing performance Tuesday afternoon on the Ganesha track.

Winning nine of the 14 events, coach Bud Petersen's Giants pocketed SAL victory No. 4 by whipping the visiting Chino Cowboys, 72-46.

Ganesha remains unbeaten in league play with three meets to go, but is still tied with Pomona for the lead. The Giant-Red Devil showdown will be staged next Thursday at Ganesha.

Before Chino could realize what was happening, Ganesha had run off to a quick 18-0 lead with sweeps in the 120 high hurdles and the shot put. It looked like the Giants were ready to make it 23-0 after the 440 relay, but the hosts were disqualified in the four-man relay on a zone violation. Ganesha had been clocked at 44.1 seconds in the relay and apparently had it won, but Chino was given the credit for the victory with no time recorded.

It was really no contest after the first couple events. Ganesha just kept pulling away and eventually held a 59-18 edge after nine events. That's when Chino started closing the gap with impressive showings in the high jump, 220 and pole vault.

But since it only takes 59 points to win a high school dual track meet, Chino had no chance of pulling off the victory in the latter stages.

Middle distance man Glen Harter turned in another two fine outings in the 880 and the mile. The Giant star clicked off the half mile in 1:58.4, and then two varsity events later ran the mile in 4:37.3.

Harter wasn't the only Ganesha double winner, however.

Hurdler Charles Stewart won both of his events, taking the 180 lows in 19.9 seconds and then 120 highs in 15.0.

Two sophomores to watch for in the future turned in their usual top perforamnces again Tuesday.

Chino sprinter Jayson Law doubled with a 9.9 victory in the 100 and a 22.6 win in the 220, which was an upset over his teammate Don Cossey.

In between Law's two triumphs, Ganesha sophomore sprinter Carl Bailey walked away with a 52.9 second win in the quarter mile.

Both teams split the field events with Chino's Bill Langarica claiming the high jump at 6-0 and Cossey winning the pole vault at 11-6. Kevin Braxton gave Ganesha a first in the long jump with a leap of 20-6½, while Jan Parkson again placed first in the shot put for the Giants with a heave of 50-5¼.

The only other individual winner Tuesday was Ganesha's Pat Staley in the two mile with a clocking of 10:26.4.

Mounties dump Dons, 6-2

SANTA ANA — Mt. San Antonio scored all six of its runs in the fifth inning Tuesday to post a 6-2 South Coast Conference triumph over Santa Ana.

Jim Vallone hurled the win, which enabled the Mounties to keep their slim hopes for the SCC title alive. MSAC is now 6-4 in the South Coast, while red-hot Cerritos ran its SCC mark to 10-0 with a narrow 3-2 win over Fullerton.

Santa Ana had taken a 2-0 lead off Vallone in the third. The Dons combined a single, a walk, a hit batter, and two MSAC errors for two unearned runs.

That lead held until the fifth, when the Mounties lowered the boom on Santa Ana pitcher Mark Chittenden.

Mike Parkinson led off the frame with a single. Steve Monka walked, and Pat Corcoran's one-bagger loaded the sacks with no outs.

Jeff Corkill's fly out failed to advance the runners, but Don Cashen singled to score Parkinson, making the score 2-1 in Santa Ana's favor.

Chittenden looked like he might get out of the inning with the lead as he retired Jerry Hatley with the runners holding. But Mark Bumstead singled to left to score Monka and Corcoran and the Mounties had the lead.

Kevin Bell made sure it stayed that way, as he followed Bumstead's hit with a booming, 400-foot homer to left which resulted in three more Mountie scores.

Vallone, a freshman left-hander from Glendora, made that advantage stand up. He pitched a six hitter for his third win of the season, fanning three and walking three in the process.

The loss dropped Santa Ana into a tie for second with MSAC. Both clubs are in the unenviable position of having to hope that Cerritos, winner of 38 in a row over two seasons, falters in the second half of the loop season.

MSAC will continue conference action Thursday, hosting Fullerton. Freshman Ralph Beltran is expected to get the starting nod for the Mounties.

It was gloomy day for baseball teams

Tuesday was something of a gloomy day all around for local college nines, as Pomono-Pitzer dropped a 4-1 decision to Redlands, while Cal Poly and Azusa Pacific dropped decisions to the raindrops, wet weather forcing cancelation of their baseball contests.

The Sagehens got off on the right track in their Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference battle with Redlands, Biff Sherman's inside-the-park homer in the top of the first getting the Hens off flying with a 1-0 lead.

Hurler David Jones held that lead until the seventh, when Redlands scored three times to ice the contest.

Jones got himself in trouble in that frame by hitting Mike Fulmer, who was leading off the inning for Redlands. Fulmer promptly stole second and scored on Bruce Thrush's single, knotting the contest at 1-1.

Bob Fee, the next Redlands batter, reached base as Jones picked up his grounder and threw wildly past first. Thrush scoring on the miscue and Fee getting to second. Art Salveson made it 3-1 as he singled in Fee.

Redlands hurler Mike Savage got his own insurance run in the eighth, as his infield hit drove in John Berg.

Savage settled down after Sherman's homer to silence the Sagehens the rest of the way. He wound up pitching a seven-hitter for his first win on the season after reporting late from the basketball squad.

The loss dropped Pomona-Pitzer into a tie for the SCIAC cellar with Cal Tech. Both the Hens and the Beavers have 0-4 league marks. Redlands is now 1-3 in the conference.

Whittier was topped from the top-spot in the SCIAC Tuesday, as Occidental dumped the previously-unbeaten Poets by a 9-2 count. Whittier is now 4-1 in the SCIAC while Oxy made its 1974 debut in the conference a successful one with the triumph.

Cal Poly's scheduled doubleheader at UC Santa Barbara was washed away due to rains which fell all night in the coast town. Coach John Scolinos reports that the twinbill will probably not be reslated.

Azusa Pacific lost a single game with Cal Lutheran due to the rain, as the Cal Lutheran field was too wet to be played on. The Cougars are going to travel to Thousand Oaks to try it again today, with the 3 p.m. starting time against the Kingsmen to hold.

Cal Poly will play host to Pepperdine today, weather permitting. Dee King is expected to get the starting nod for the Broncos.

Binford may not give green right away

INDIANAPOLIS, Indiana (UPI) — If the 33 drivers in this year's 500-mile auto race are not in their proper positions when they roar down the main straightaway for the start, they won't be given the green flag.

"If anybody is out of position, we will wave them on for another lap—and another if necessary—until they are right. The drivers should not be surprised if this happens," warned Tom Binford, the new chief steward for the Memorial Day classic.

With fuel consumption a critical factor in this year's race, those extra few laps could spell the difference between winning the lion's share of a million-dollar purse and running out of fuel somewhere around the 2½ mile track. The cars will be limited to 280 gallons of methanol, considerably less than the 350 gallons allotted last year.

The start of last year's rain-plagued race was marred by a first-lap accident which nearly took the life of driver David "Salt" Walter, seriously injured several spectators with burning fuel and knocked several cars out of competition. Binford is determined this won't happen again.

Though he refuses to criticize his predecessor—Harlan Fengler, a controversial figure who was chief steward for the last 16 Indianapolis 500s—Binford said, "There have been some mistakes made in the past. Some changes are needed and we will make them and build on them."

"No one man made it bad," he said, "and no one man will make it good. Harlan Fengler was a dignified and dedicated person, a credit to the sport. I have only admiration for him."

Binford, a pipe-smoking Indianapolis businessman, is no stranger to auto racing. He was president of the United States Auto Club for 11 years, and currently is president of the Automobile Competition Committee for the United States (ACCUS) and is the ACCUS delegate to the FIA (Federation Internationale de L'Automobile), the major racing sanctioning organization in the world, headquartered in Paris.

The 33 cars have, by tradition, started in 11 rows of three —which many people consider too dangerous on a narrow track built for the 100-miles per hour speeds of 50 years ago.

"I would prefer to have them start two abreast," Binford said, "but it can be done with three if we're careful." However, there is little chance, he said, that the starting lineup would be changed this year.

Binford plans to find a high vantage point, perhaps atop the main scoring tower, from where he can survey the field of cars as they come out of the fourth turn and down the straightaway toward the start-finish line.

"I don't yet know where, but I will be up high," he said. "I will be in constant communication from that position with starter Pat Vidan and can tell him whether or not to start the race."

Binford also feels two other changes are necessary to insure a safe start.

"The speeds at which the cars make the final pace lap must be increased to at least 100 m.p.h. Perhaps even that is not enough, maybe it will require 125 or more.

"We must also get the pace car completely out of the picture by the time the speeds pick up," he said.

The track has been changed greatly since the 1973 race. Seats around the track have been moved back about 20 feet to protect the spectators, the wall has been increased 18 inches in height, and the pit entrance has been revamped so the cars will now enter from early in the fourth turn.

"We'll have the pace car out of the drivers' view much earlier," he said, "Then it's up to the drivers and myself."

Grand American West at OCIR

Garlits the one to beat once again

IRVINE — When he was in the midst of a points battle for the National Championship in the top fuel division, Don Garlits brought a revolutionary bull-bodied streamlined dragster to Orange County International Raceway for the next to last Grand American event last summer.

The car proved to be something less than anticipated and Garlits fared poorly in the meet, the first Grand American ever held at OCIR. James Warren, driving for the injured John Wiebe, won the top fuel division and put Wiebe in first place over Garlits in the point totals.

Garlits subsequently won the National Championship at the wire in the final series meet at Fremont Raceway (in a conventional racer) but little has been seen of the innovative streamlined dragster.

"Maybe we were a little ahead of our time," lamented Garlits, designer of the unique entry. "It very nearly cost us the title last year."

Back in the cockpit of his renowned black-painted digger, Garlits is, as usual, the one to beat when the Grand American moves to OCIR April 5-6-7 for the third knot on the 19-race string. In the 1974 series inaugural at Phoenix in January, "Big Daddy" Garlits made it known he was more interested in a winning performance than an experimental one when he set both ends of the national record for elapsed time at 5.78 seconds for the quarter mile and for top speed at 247.25 miles per hour.

Unfortunately for the Seffner, Fla. resident, a bizarre brake failure at the starting line eliminated him in the final round and his opponent, Mike Wagoner, coasted to victory.

Garlits has an opportunity to take over first place before the series reaches Orange County as the second race in the series, the Northern Nationals, takes place at Fremont this weekend.

Because of his reputation and, of course, his national records set this year, Garlits should rate as the favorite in the OCIR meet. But the competition will be fierce.

Perhaps the hottest and most consistent entry is the "Real Don Steele" car, piloted by Larry Dixon, and reported to be the only Chevy-powered dragster to reach the five-second bracket.

And, drivers like Tony Nancy and Dennis Baca always make for tight competition.

Garlits' penchant for winning "the big ones" — like at the last Supernationals, as well as the Grand American finale — makes him the target of everyone.

The top fuel show isn't the only competitive field at the Grand American West. Don (the Snake) Prudhomme will be at the wheel of his new "Army 'Cuda" funny car while his ex-teammate, Tom (the Mongoose) McEwen will handle his "Navy Duster".

OCIR's gates will open at noon on Friday, April 5 for the opening of qualifying and time trials. On Saturday, April 6, gates open at 10 a.m. for additional qualifying, trophy runs and first round eliminations for top fuel, funny car and pro comp classes.

Gates open at 8 a.m. Sunday, April 7 for amateur class time trials and eliminations.

Sports news in brief

NATIONAL BASKETBALL ASSOCIATION fans showed their affection Tuesday night for two stars — Dave DeBusschere, who is going away, and Oscar Robertson, who may be. The two stars were given nights and responded by helping their teams score victories. DeBusschere, who is retiring to become general manager of the rival New York Nets of the American Basketball Association, scored 11 points to help the New York Knicks defeat the Philadelphia 76ers, 117-90, while Robertson, who may retire after the playoffs, tallied 14 to help the Milwaukee Bucks beat the Kansas City-Omaha Kings, 118-98. In other action, Rick Barry scored a stunning 64 points for the Golden State Warriors in a 143-120 victory over the Portland Trailblazers.

TWO YOUNG AMERICANS were major upset winners in the first round of play Tuesday in th WCT Kemper Invitational Desert Tennis Tournament at Palm Desert. Hard-serving Roscoe Tanner from Canoe, Ga. eliminated second-seeded Bjorn Borg of Sweden 5-7, 6-3, 7-5, while 21-year-old Harold Solomon of Silver Springs, Md. demolished British star Roger Taylor, 6-0, 6-0.

THE KANSAS CITY ROYALS placed pitcher Nelson Briles on the disabled list Tuesday and asked irrevocable waivers on catcher-outfielder Carl Taylor and first baseman-designated hitter Gail Hopkins so they could gain their unconditional release.

THE MILWAUKEE BREWERS optioned former star pitcher Bill Parsons to their Sacramento farm club. The team also cut pitchers Steve Barber, Bill Wilson and Mike Strahler.

Slalom at fairgrounds ends with 17 winners

POMONA — The OttoKros Racing Team and the Mestizo Sports Car Club sponsored a sports car slalom over the weekend at the Pomona Fairgrounds and ended up passing out awards to 17 class winners.

The winners were Paul Volmer in a TR 250, Bill Hedigan in a Corvette, Bill Monson in a Tiger, Jim Wahl in a Datsun 2000, Rick McDermed in a Sprite, Craig Smith in a Renault, Harvey Kaufman in a Vette, Don Paul, Steve Gardner in a Tiger, Wade Warenbrock in a Midget, Ted Starkey in a Mazda, Walt Trugstad in an X119 Fiat, Lovie Booth in a Saab 99E, Bob Langdon in a Vega, Jim Gallagher in a Mazda Lotus, Jim Hicks in a Corvette and Robert Kelleher in a Corvette.

The slalom course, as developed by OttoKross Racing Team and Mestizo Club members, presented a variety of open but challenging maneuvers with average times in the low 80-second time bracket.

Volmer's fast early day time of 71 seconds held until the late day modified classes took the course. That's when a three-way dual developed between Lotus Super 7 drivers Ed Randolph and Jim Gallagher and Chuck Greenwalds Chevy 4 powered Sprite.

Gallagher's Mazda-powered Lotus put him on top of the group for the fast time of the day in a final lap time of 68-plus seconds.

Southland racing

POMONA — On Sunday, the Motocross clubs of Alta Loma, Chaffey, Montclair and Upland high schools will face off in the first District moto-cross race.

The race will take place at Claude Osteen motorcycle park in Pomona on a specially prepared course. It will begin at 10:00 a.m.

Aparicio, Cepeda looking for work

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (UPI) — Luis Aparicio and Orlando Cepeda, two of baseball's brightest stars for more than a decade, both admitted Wednesday that being released by the Boston Red Sox to make room for younger men probably means the end of their baseball trail.

Outright release of the 40-year-old Aparicio and the 36-year-old Cepeda was announced by the Sox Tuesday in one of spring training's biggest surprises.

Even though new Red Sox manager Darrell Johnson explained that room must be made for other, younger men, both veteran stars were coming off 1973 season that would be rated very good for almost any other players.

"I'm going home to Venezuela," said the obviously disappointed Aparicio, who holds just about every record in the book for shortstops after an 18-year career that saw him picked for the All-Star team 11 times. "If I got another offer from another team, I'd have to think about it."

Cepeda, who slugged 20 home runs for Boston last year as the Beantowners' "designated hitter," was more openly upset by his release than Aparicio and said it "probably" meant he never would play again.

Cepeda, one-time "Baby Bull" of the San Francisco Giants who has been reduced in recent seasons to just a batting role by knee trouble that has necessitated several operations, blamed Johnson directly for his release and complained that the new Red Sox skipper "did not give me a fair opportunity."

"He only played me in four spring games," said Cepeda. "All winter long he said he did not want me on his ball club. I don't know why."

Cepeda, who was the National League's "Most Valuable Player" in 1967 while a member of the St. Louis Cardinals, admitted that, despite the hints Johnson has been dropping that caused him to "kind of" expect the axe, "no matter how prepared you are, things like this do come as a shock."

"That's life," he said with a shrug. "You aren't going to be ready for everything."

Cepeda went off to a screening of Tuesday night's heavyweight championship fight and planned to get a night's sleep before contemplating what he'll do next.

Among the records Aparicio holds are the major league marks for most consecutive years (nine) leading a league in stolen bases, most years leading a league in chances accepted by a shortstop, most double plays by a shortstop, most games by a shortstop, and most assists by a shortstop.

Johnson, who succeeded Eddie Kasko as manager of the Red Sox this year, said releasing Aparicio was a special jolt.

"I have to feel badly that in my first year as a major league manager I had to release a certain future Hall of Famer," Johnson said. "But I elected to go with my two young shortstops, Rick Burleson and Mario Guerrero."

Johnson said he let Cepeda go because "I have some batters on my bench whom I can use as designated hitters." He named Dick McAuliffe, Bernie Carbo, Cecil Cooper, who is hitting over .400 in spring training, and Carl Yastrzemski, on the days when Yaz is taking a rest from duties in the field.

Released along with the two veteran stars was 35-year-old righthanded pitcher Bob Bolin, who had a 3-4 record last year.

If Wooden returns he'll use old style

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — "If I'm back, I'll revert to my old style."

The UCLA Bruin basketball team without John Wooden is hard to picture, but so was the team's failure to capture its eighth straight NCAA title in Greensboro, N.C.

"For the first time in my career, I believe I became complacent this season," the coach said Tuesday, flying home from an NCAA tournament without a title for the first time since 1963.

Wooden, without making excuses or criticizing his team, blamed himself for losing the title.

"I personally lost the Notre Dame game through my own complacency and after that, Bill Walton's injury softened me on the team as a whole.

"I eased my discipline in some areas, such as dress and promptness," he said. "I think because I became more lax in some of these areas, there was a carryover onto the court.

"I wasn't able to get the same discipline I had there the last two years."

Wooden didn't claim to have all the answers to explain the Bruin turnaround from the straight undefeated seasons.

"I'm not saying we should have won but we were so close we could have won—if just a couple more things had gone right for us," he said.

What went wrong was hard to describe, he said, except that "for some strange reason this wasn't the type of team that withstood prosperity real well."

"Several times we weren't ready to protect leads. I just didn't get what I wanted done across to the players in certain situations."

Cards, Bruins, Devils take two in a row

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) — Stanford, UCLA and Arizona State took 2-0 records into the third day of competition today in the annual Riverside intercollegiate baseball tournament.

In Tuesday's action, a three-run inside-the-park home run by Bruin catcher Venoy Carrison in the fifth inning boosted UCLA to a 4-2 victory over Tulane.

Stanford shut out Wisconsin, 11-0, with a five-run explosion in the eighth inning and three more runs in the ninth. Stanford shortstop Steve Davis collected three hits in the game, including a homer, and batted in three runs. He now is 6-for-10 in the tournament, with two triples, a double and a home run.

Centerfielder Tom Sain's two-run homer in the third inning led Arizona State to an 8-3 win over Oregon. Second baseman Bump Wills, son of ex-Los Angeles Dodger baseball star Maury Wills, stole two bases, got two hits and scored four runs for Arizona State.

The University of California at Riverside defeated Brigham Young 4-3 in 10 innings. Brigham Young loaded the bases in the bottom of the 10th inning, but was unable to score.

Oregon defeated Tulane, 8-7, in a night game, stealing eight bases in the process. Don Reynolds, also a football star at Oregon, had two hits and two stolen bases.

Palomares wins in junior track

POMONA — Carson James registered a double win and anchored the winning 440 relay team as Palomares routed Marshall 57-29 in Monday's junior high track action.

James captured the 100 yard dash in 10.7 and came back to win the 220 yard dash in 24.0. Teammate Anthony Miley broke his own school record in the shot put with a put of 48-11. He shattered his own mark of 48-10 set last week.

The Panthers (4-0) battle Emerson Thursday afternoon for the Mt. Baldy League track title.

Tryouts for class 'A' club

ONTARIO — Tryouts for free agent ballplayers will be conducted at John Galvin Park Saturday and Sunday for the new Northwest League class A team located at New Westminster, British Columbia.

Player-coach Frosty Kennedy will conduct the tryouts beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday and noon Sunday. Kennedy, a Southern Californian, is chief of scouting for the new franchise which will be called the Frasers.

Jim Jarvis is the field manager of the club and former Claremont-Mudd student and NAIA District III publicist Dean Taylor is the general manager.

The Frasers will play practice games at Claremont-Mudd field June 1-14 before opening the 84-game regular season scheduled June 20 in New Westminster.

Hoosiers favored to grab seventh straight NCAA title

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The Indiana Hoosiers are favored to take their seventh straight NCAA swimming and diving championship title in competition that begins here Thursday.

More than 500 athletes from 92 schools will take part in the three-day event at the Belmont Plaza Olympic pool. The competition marks the first time in more than half a century that the championships are being held in California.

Testing Indiana coach James "Doc" Counsilman's athletes will be such challengers as the University of Southern California, Tennessee and Washington.

Tennessee was second last year in the NCAA competition third. The Trojans have fi- at Knoxville and USC was nished second to Indiana four times in the Hoosiers' six-year streak. Said USC coach Peter Dalano:

"If we do reasonably well, we should be able to finish at least second."

Indiana has tough competitors like John Kinsella, Jim Montgomery, Mike Stamm and Fred Tyler. Each is able to compete in three individual events as well as relays.

Waiting for a Hoosier slipup will be such top performers as John Naber, Steve Furniss, Joe Bottom and Jack Tingley. Furniss is the defending champion in the 200 individual medley.

West Coast competitors will include UCLA, Washington, Stanford and College of the Pacific.

Southern schools in the meet, besides Tennessee, include new swimming contender Alabama, and Atlantic Coast Conference winner North Carolina State.

The strongest eastern entry is regarded to be Harvard, but the school may not have enough overall strength to challenge for the top spot.

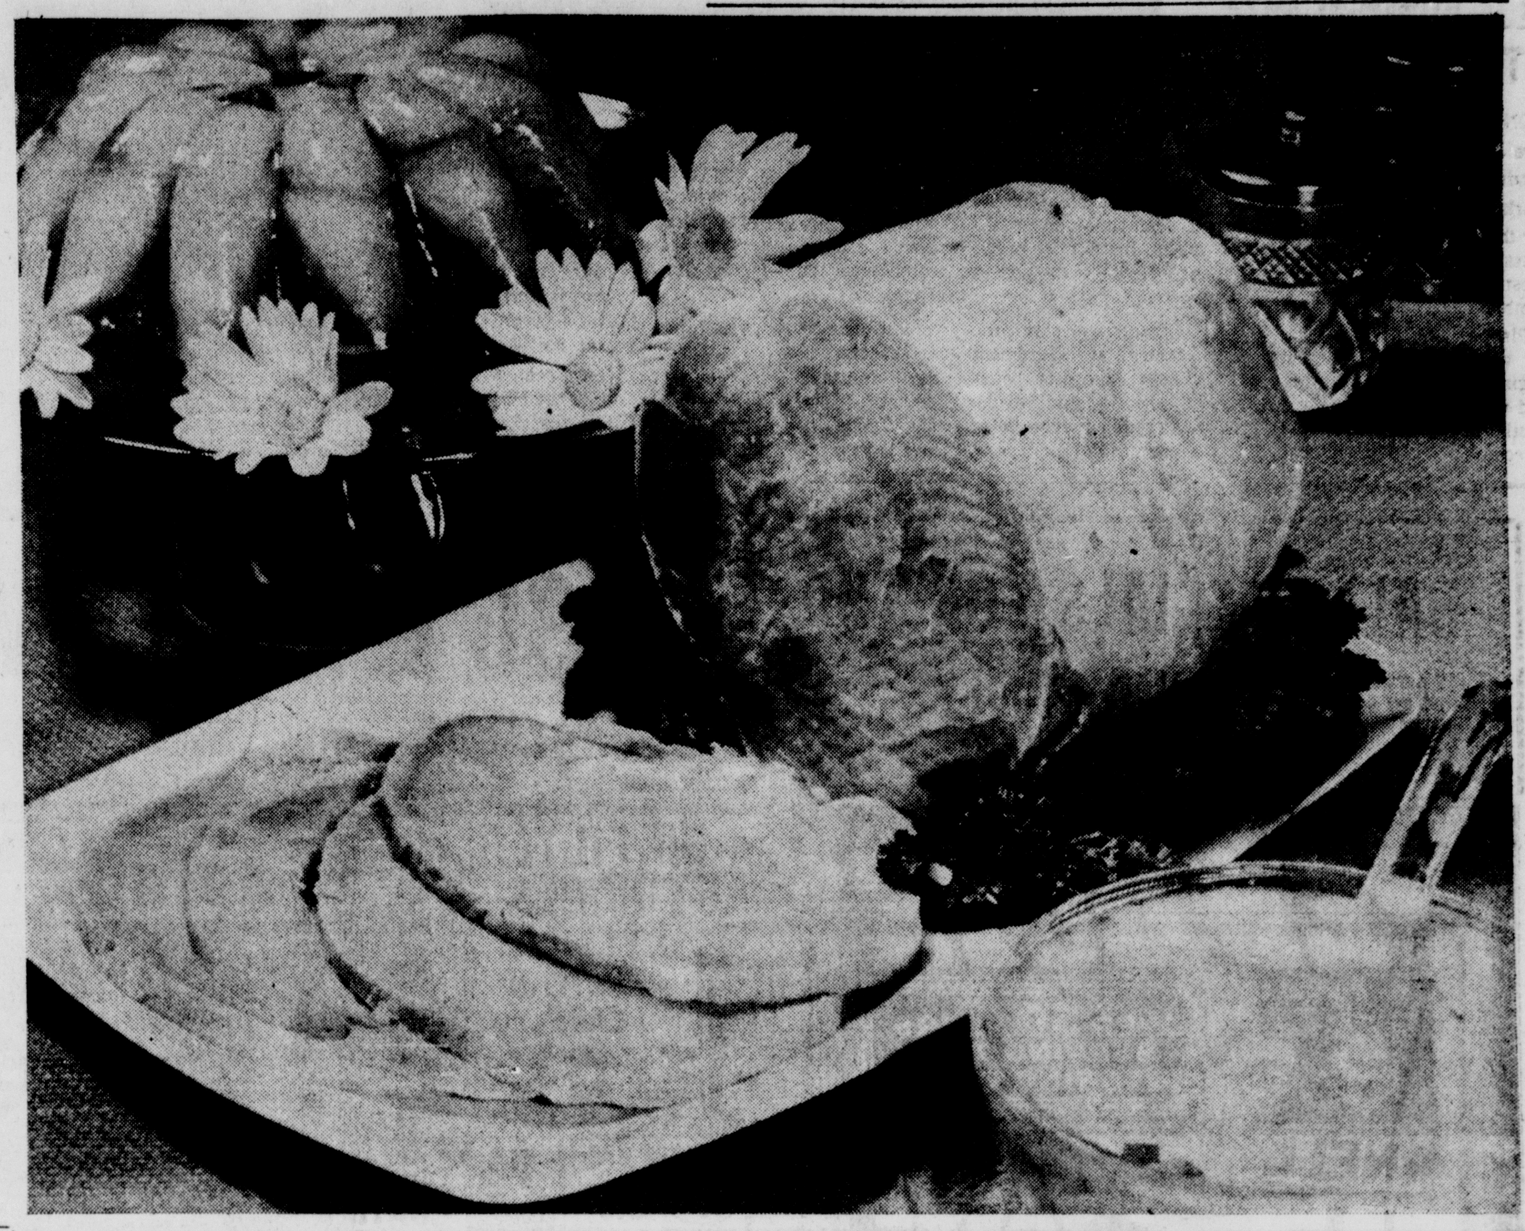
EASTER ENTREE

A hostess ham makes the perfect traditional entree for the family's Easter dinner. Place a four-pound ham on a rack in an open shallow pan. Add ½ cup of water and heat for 1 hour at 325 degrees. Turn ham over and heat another 1¼ hours or to an internal temperature of 140 degrees on a meat thermometer. Let set about 10 minutes. Then carve and serve with Golden Cheese Sauce. To prepare sauce, combine an 11-ounce can of cheddar cheese soup with 1 tablespoon milk in saucepan. Heat, then add 1 tablespoon green onion, 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley, ⅛ teaspoon dill weed and 2 chopped hard-cooked eggs. Spoon hot sauce over ham slices. If sauce is too thick, or is made ahead and reheated, add another tablespoon of milk.



Dishes fit for Passover observance

Passover (April 7-14) is the holiday on which Jews throughout the world celebrate their liberation from slavery in ancient Egypt. It is a joyous time, with the Seder table gleaming with the best in family crystal and silver. Traditional are the symbolic foods: matzos, roasted lamb, roasted egg, bitter herbs (usually horse radish); Charosis (a mixture of fruit, nuts, cinnamon or ginger) and sweet wine. Matzo Cheese Dreams and Passover Pancakes fit well into menus of the eight-day observance.

MATZO CHEESE DREAMS

1 cup cottage cheese
¾ cup finely shredded yellow American cheese
¼ teaspoon kosher salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika
4 unsalted matzos, cut in quarters
2 eggs, beaten
3 tablespoons peanut oil

Combine cottage cheese, American cheese, salt and paprika. Divide cheese mixture and carefully spread on 8 pieces of matzo. Top each sandwich with remaining pieces of matzo. Dip in beaten eggs, then fry in peanut oil until golden brown on both sides. Makes 8 sandwiches.

PASSOVER PANCAKES

3 unsalted matzos
3 eggs, beaten
½ teaspoon kosher salt
2 tablespoons peanut oil
Dair sour cream
Honey
Cinnamon sugar

Break up matzos and soak in warm water for about 1 minute, then drain. Combine eggs and salt. Stir in matzos. Blend. For each pancake, spoon ¼ cup mixture onto hot (375-degree) griddle coated with peanut oil. Fry until golden on both sides. Serve with sour cream, honey or cinnamon sugar. Makes 7 pancakes.

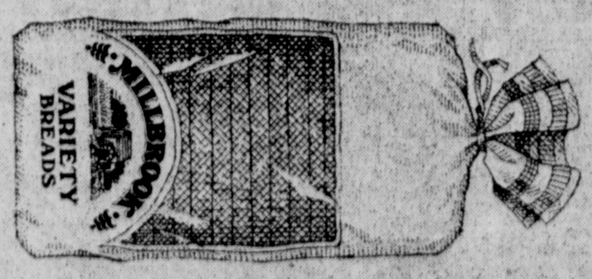
COME MEET OUR FAMILY

We've come up with a whole family of quality variety breads that recapture the hearty flavor our European ancestors took for granted. They're all full of Old World ingredients and slow-baked to get the most from them.

DUTCH DILL
A 19th Century Pennsylvania favorite. Dutch Dill is a light brown, open-grain loaf made of coarse rye meal and fine rye flour, laced with tangy chopped onions and pungent dill seeds.

BAVARIAN PUMPERNICKEL
If your name happens to be Schmidt or Herrmann, your forebearers probably ate lots of Bavarian Pumpernickel. It's a dark, savory blend of rye flours, caraway seeds and selected spices.

Among the many talents 19th Century European immigrants brought to their adopted land was an uncanny knack for baking bread.



Our family numbers eight delicious breads in all: Dutch Dill, Bavarian Pumpernickel, Holland Krunch, Buttermilk, Cracked Wheat, French Sourdough, Up-Side-Down White and Up-Side-Down Wheat. Your family will like all of them.

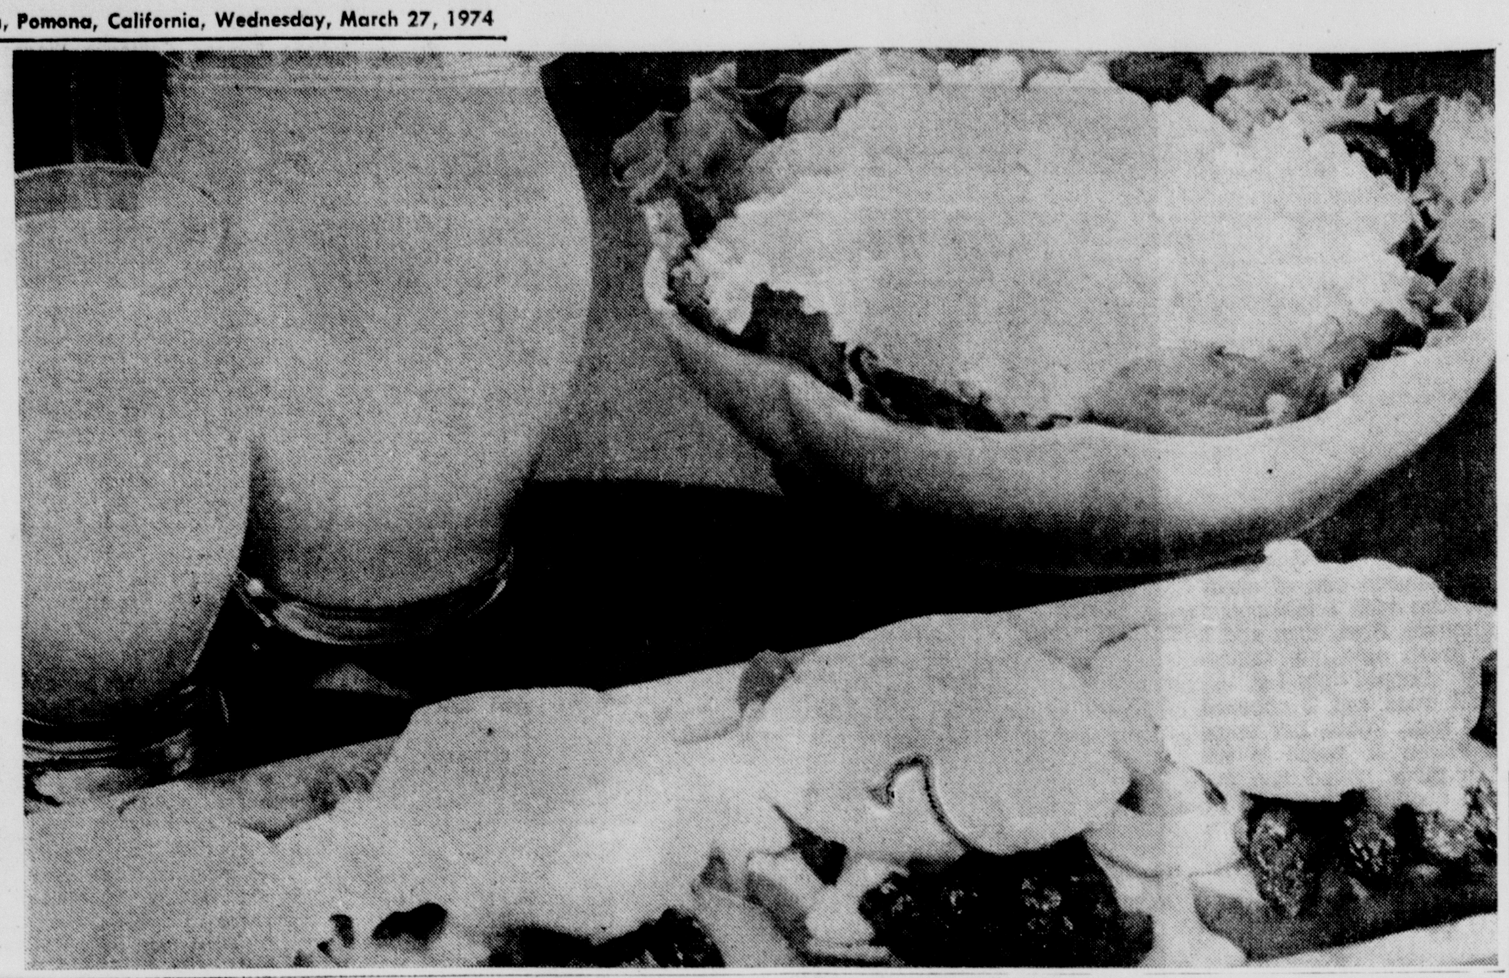
Educator says U.S. system not doing job

CHICAGO (UPI) — More than 30 million persons have failed to make their way through the American school system and not enough is being done about them, a Wisconsin educator said recently.

"The level of school attainment continues to rise," Jack C. Ferver, director of the University of Wisconsin's extension education division, told an accreditation group.

"But we have a lot of people who have not completed high school," Ferver said. "Of those in the 25-29 year old bracket, 22 per cent have not. In the 45-54 year old bracket, 41 per cent have not."

Ferver, in a speech prepared for delivery at the 79th annual meeting of the North Central Association, said "We are dealing with more than 30 million people. There are a substantial number of critics that say the failure is not of these people but of the system."



PROTEIN FEAST

The family will get all the protein it needs in this quick-to-fix meal of fresh cooked asparagus tips served on toast chunks and topped with poached eggs. The eggs, in turn, are topped with a favorite rich cheese sauce. Serve with fruit and cottage cheese arranged on a bed of lettuce, and a pitcher of milk.

The traditional Easter breakfast gets a new sparkle

Easter is the time for a very special breakfast or brunch. But don't put all your eggs in one basket! Count on all-season cranberries to add enticement to a bevy of colorfully bright and delicious recipes to serve on this happy morning occasion.

Eggs at Eastertime are a tradition which actually predates the Christian era. During pagan times, eggs, symbolic of fertility, played an important role in the rites heralding the coming of spring. Our merry custom of egg rolling is actually based on the ancient Anglo-Saxon ritual of scattering eggs over the fields to insure the fertility of the land.

Here are five new berry breakfast menu ideas for your family's Easter morning celebration. Each can be relished all year long as well — not only on Sundays.

Cranberry Ham and Eggs is a quick and easy dish for the whole family. Cranberry-Orange relish combines with diced bacon and minced celery to encircle the top of this breakfast casserole, and bring it an unusually flavorful flair. Along with it, serve a large pitcher of sparkling cranberry juice garnished with floating orange pinwheel slices.

For a heavenly hearty brunch, Berry Saucy Waffles will be greeted with pleasure. This recipe comes up sweet and spicy with a mixture of jellied cranberry sauce, orange juice and dried onion soup combining to glaze sausages and apple slices. No egg hunt here — they're well hidden in the frozen waffles that just need toasting. To titillate the taste buds even further, serve tall glasses of Cranapple Bunny Bounce.

Last, but perhaps most tempting, are Cranberry Pancake Rolls. What a delight to serve before the family joins in an annual egg-rolling excursion. These delicate pancakes can be cooked ahead and kept warm in the oven while you prepare the fruitful filling of whole berry cranberry sauce and applesauce tingling with cinnamon and nutmeg. This breakfast deserves a special drink, and individual servings of Grape-Berry Bonnet will blend perfectly with your cranberry pancakes.

So out with the recipes — a parade of berry brunches that are bound to please all that glorious morning.

CRANBERRY HAM AND EGGS

- 4 thick slices baked smoked ham
- 8 eggs
- Salt and pepper
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 4 slices bacon, diced and fried until crisp and well drained
- 1 cup cranberry-orange relish
- ½ cup minced celery

Butter a 1-quart shallow baking dish heavily. Use ham slices to line the bottom and sides of dish. Break eggs one by one into the ham-lined dish. Sprinkle eggs with salt and pepper. Cut butter into pieces and sprinkle over the eggs. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 to 35 minutes or until eggs are set but the yolks are still soft.

While eggs are baking, mix crisp bacon, cranberry-orange relish and celery in a saucepan. Keep warm over low heat stirring occasionally. Spoon relish around the outer edge of the baking dish and serve at once. Serve with a pitcher of cranberry juice cocktail with floating orange slices.

BERRY SAUCY WAFFLES

- 2 pounds country or breakfast sausages
- 1 can (1 pound) jellied cranberry sauce
- 1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed and undiluted
- ¼ cup dehydrated onion soup mix
- 4 cooking apples, cored and cut into ½ inch thick slices
- 2 packages (10 ounces) frozen waffles

Fry sausages in a large skillet until brown. Remove sausages and drain off drippings leaving about ¼ cup in the skillet. Add cranberry sauce, orange juice and onion soup mix. Simmer until mixture is smooth and bubbly. Add sausages and apple slices and simmer for about 5 minutes or until apple slices are tender but still hold their shape. Heat waffles according to package directions. Place waffles on a serving plate. Add sausages and apple slices. Spoon sauce over waffles and serve at once. Serve with glasses of Cranapple Bunny Bounce.

CRANAPPLE BUNNY BOUNCE

(Serves 4)

- 2 cups cranberry-apple drink, chilled
- 1 can (12 ounces) apricot nectar, chilled
- Chilled ginger ale

Mix cranberry-apple drink and apricot nectar. Divide between 4 tall glasses. Add ice cubes and fill glasses to the top with ginger ale.

CRANBERRY PANCAKE ROLLS

- 6 eggs
- 2 cups milk
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 1-3rd cup sugar
- Butter or margarine
- 1 can (1 pound) whole berry cranberry sauce
- 1½ cups thick applesauce
- ½ teaspoon each nutmeg and cinnamon

In a bowl beat eggs until fluffy. Gradually beat in milk. Gradually beat in flour. Stir in vanilla and sugar. Let batter stand, at room temperature, for 1 hour, then stir again. Spoon about ¼ cup into a 7-inch diameter skillet that has been buttered and heated. Brown pancake on one side, turn and brown other side. Stack pancakes and keep them warm in a 200 degree oven.

When all pancakes are made, for filling, mix cranberry sauce and applesauce with spices in a bowl. Spoon some of the filling on a pancake and roll up like a jelly roll. Repeat until all filling and pancakes are rolled. Place rolled pancakes, side by side, on a serving platter and serve at once. Serve with Grape-Berry Bonnets.

GRAPE-BERRY BONNET

- 2 cups (1 pint) grape-cranberry juice drink
- 4 teaspoons instant tea, lemon flavor
- 2 cups (1 pint) ginger ale, chilled

Combine grape - cranberry juice drink and tea and stir until dissolved. Stir in ginger ale. Pour into tall glasses. Add ice cubes. If desired, garnish with swizzle sticks piercing grapes and lemon quarters.

Dog sled race not even close

NOME, Alaska (UPI) — Carl Huntington of Galena, Alaska, literally ran away from the field in winning the 2,000-mile trail dog sled race from Anchorage to Nome.

Huntington, 26, an Athabascan Indian, reached Nome shortly after midnight Saturday. The race began in Anchorage March 2.

Race officials said the closest of the 38 other competitors still in the race was about 100 miles behind Huntington when he crossed the finish line.

Doctor says all necessary vitamins can come in diet

Nutritionists stress that the best way for the majority of persons to get all the vitamins necessary for better health is through a balanced diet. But to pay for the necessary meat, fowl, fish or eggs, fruits and vegetables, cereals and dairy foods each day may at times stretch the budget to the limit. Or so some people believe.

Therefore, many turn to vitamins believing them to be a substitute for eating a variety of foods. In fact, many take them in massive doses believing they will perform miracles without considering the costs of this faddist "megavitamin therapy" as part of a weekly budget.

But Philip White, Sc.D., director of Department of Foods and Nutrition of American Medical Association, warns of the possible danger in self-prescribed doses of vitamins.

In a recent issue of Today's Health, he states:

Vitamin A is vital to overall vision, growth and bone development in youngsters and the health of tissues lining our bodies inside and out. It is present in eggs, butter, cream, cheese and fortified milk. Other good sources are meats, deep yellow and dark green vegetables. Overdoses of vitamin A can lead to thinning hair, mouth ulcers, extreme fatigue, anemia, inflammation of the optic nerve and an alarming build-up of pressure within the head that mimics a brain tumor.

Vitamin B. The B-complex vitamins seem to work in concert. They are important to the body's over-all functioning, especially in the nervous system, the circulatory system, digestion and metabolism. Because the B-complex vitamins do work together they need one another. Thus a surplus of one could lead to a deficiency of another. And certain of the B vitamins are known to interact with other drugs which could lead to serious trouble.

Vitamin C is essential to the maintenance of health. The supply must be replenished daily because man cannot synthesize or store it. Marked deficiency can lead to scurvy, with extreme weakness, deterioration of gums and excruciating joint pains.

Studies of the efficacy of massive dosages of the vitamin in controlling or preventing colds have been inconclusive. In short, the jury is still out. There are respected figures on both sides of the controversy which has raged ever since Dr. Linus Pauling's book appeared which recommended massive dosages of vitamin C to combat the common cold. Most physicians, however, advise against the practice because they don't know what the long-term effects of overdosage are.

Vitamin D is naturally formed within the body by the action of sunlight. It is also found chiefly in fortified milk, margarine, cereals, buter, eggs and liver, plus saltwater fish.

The vitamin aids in the assimilation of calcium and other minerals essential to good bone development. Therefore, the need for the vitamin decreases dramatically as we grow older. Some of the results of overdoses are nausea, appetite loss, kidney stones, increases in blood-cholesterol levels, bone fragility and dangerous boosts in blood pressure.

Vitamin E. The vitamin's function is still not fully understood. Also, the recommended daily allowance is easily obtainable from common foods. Yet an extraordinary number of claims have been advanced for vitamin E, including boosting sexual prowess, prevention of heart attacks, averting miscarriage, relief of constipation, curing cirrhosis of the liver, staving off aging, smoothing wrinkles, relief of arthritis, banishing body odor, etc.

None of these claims has been proven, Dr. White concludes.

Butterfly buff collects 25,000

BERLIN (UPI) — Dr. Ernst Urbahn, 86, of the East German town of Zehdenick an Der Havel has a collection of 25,000 butterlies of 2,500 different species.

He plans to leave the collection to East Berlin's natural history museum, the East German magazine Wochenpost said.

Cook shows off with these molds

Feel like showing off! Get out your prettiest fluted or scalloped mold, fill it with one of the delicious chocolate desserts, given here, chill and unmold. Serve with mountains of whipped cream (or low-calorie whipped topping). . . and, if you really want to gild the lily, a garnish of fresh strawberries or other fruit.

It's a question of calories. If you're not overly concerned, try the Blender Chocolate Mold. This recipe goes together in minutes, thanks to the work of your blender. And quick and easy though it may be, it's a dessert deserving of its place along with the best of your treasured chocolate classics.

When calories DO count, the Calorie Counter's Chocolate Mold is your answer. Sweetened with a calorie-free sweetener instead of sugar, this attractive molded dessert can be enjoyed for a modicum of calories, namely no more than about 50 per serving.

BLENDER CHOCOLATE MOLD

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold milk
1 cup milk, scalded
¾ cup sugar
6 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup light cream or milk
8 to 10 ice cubes

Sprinkle gelatin over ½ cup cold milk in 5-cup blender container. Allow to soften a few minutes. Add hot milk, cover and blend until gelatin is dissolved. Add remaining ingredients except ice cubes and blend at medium speed until smooth.

Add ice cubes a few at a time, blending after each addition until ice is melted. Let stand in container a few minutes until mixture begins to thicken. Stir gently to remove foam. Pour into a lightly oiled 1-quart mold or individual dessert dishes. Chill mold about 2 hours before serving, individual dishes about ½ hour. Serve with whipped cream, if desired. Makes about 8 servings.

CALORIE COUNTER'S CHOCOLATE MOLD

1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
2-3 rds cup nonfat dry milk powder
2 cups water
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
3 tablespoons unsweetened cocoa
¼ teaspoon salt
Liquid noncaloric sweetener to equal ½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla

Soften gelatin in ½ cup cold water; set aside. Stir milk powder into 2 cups water in medium saucepan; blend in egg yolks, cocoa and salt. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture just begins to boil; remove from heat. Stir in softened gelatin, liquid sweetener and vanilla. Pour into a 2-cup mold. Place plastic wrap gently on surface; chill until mixture is firm, several hours or overnight. Remove from mold just before serving. Garnish with fresh fruit or low-calorie whipped topping, if desired. Makes 8 servings, each about 50 calories without garnish.

Ritual could rob wine of pleasure

By AILEEN CLAIRE
(Second of a Series)

Wine can be as complex or as simple a subject as a person wants to make it. One of the problems until the last decade has been for self-styled arbiters to make the buying, storing, serving and drinking of wine such a rigid and snobbish ritualistic event in Amerian homes that they almost drained the glass of any enjoyment.

Fortunately, the turnaround is well under way. Too much was written merely about the proper selection and service of wines, and this was followed rigidly by those who wanted to impress. What delight is there in being served a wine at dinner and told this is a $35 bottle of Chateau Haut-Brion (in other words you had better like it or turn in your "chic" badge)?

How much better to serve the wine and suggest that you selected this for the pleasure of your guests. In wine-producing countries, the natives drink wine just as most Americans drink tea and coffee. They drink the wines at varied times of the day without performing a ritual. They enjoy it as a beverage, as a thirst quencher, and as part of their daily diet.

Most wines are called table wines, and they are served to quench your thirst and also to complement the flavor of the food you are eating. Wine is the fermented juice of the grape. However, many are familiar from childhood with wines made from fruits and vegetables such as "elderberry wine," "parsnip wine," and "strawberry wine." The volume of these is slight, and they are usually homemade.

Browsing about a shop that has an extensive display of wines is as pleasing to some as shopping at a fresh fruit and vegetable market or seeing a range of beautifully packaged cosmetics and fragrances. Wines to select from are varied and fall into five primary classifications. These are natural wines, fortified wines, amatized wines, sparkling wines and carbonated wines.

Americans are fortunate that wines in all of these classifications are shipped from every wine-growing country in the world for us to sample as a drinking adventure.

NATURAL WINES — Also known as still wines or table wines, these are the result of the fermentation of the juice of the grape. They usually have an alcoholic content of 9 to 14 per cent. All table wines are still wines. Some well-known still wines are Burgundy, Alsatian, Bordeaux, Italian Chianti, German Rhine and Moselle and Beaujolais.

FORTIFIED WINES—Wine with a distilled spirit, usually brandy, added during the production process is known as a fortified wine. These often are called dessert or aperitif wines and contain 16 to 21 per cent alcoholic content. These can be either dry or sweet. Some popular fortified wines include Sherry, Port, Madeira, Malaga, and Marsala.

AROMATIZED WINES—Certain herbs or barks are added to fortified wines. These include brand names such as St. Raphael, Dubonnet, Byrrh, Campari. Vermouths are white wines that have been sweetened, strengthened, and flavored with herbs. French Vermouth tends to be dry and pale, while Italian Vermouth is sweet and brown in color.

SPARKLING WINES—This is a complex process which, like wine itself, was the result of an accidental discovery. A secondary fermentation is induced within the corked bottle during the final aging period, thus producing natural bubbles or effervescence. New bulk processes are changing the production techniques somewhat but not the quality of fine sparkling wines such as Champagne, Sparkling Burgundy and German Sekt.

CARBONATED WINES—Although these are sparkling wines in a sense, the bubbles or effervescence are not formed naturally or from the fermentation process. The wine is charged with carbon dioxide during the production process.

Portability saves

Use portable appliances when possible as they generally use less electricity—many act as serving dishes, too, with fewer dishes to wash.

A pound of rice serves 18 people

You may not have stopped to think about it, but a pound of rice does go a long way. In fact, all three of these recipes can be made from a single pound of rice. Cabbage Rose Salad, Chili Chicken, and Italian Beef Casserole. Three main dishes — 6 servings each. Uncooked, a pound of rice measures just over 2 cups. This cooks up to make 7 cups (14 half-cup servings of hot buttered rice) or these three delicious recipes.

Translate those figures into dollars and cents and you'll find that each half cup of cooked rice costs less than a nickel. And you thought a nickel couldn't buy anything these days.

Rice is often considered a gourmet food because it is a part of so many international dishes. And it does taste good with steak and shrimp. What's surprising is that it tastes equally good with ground beef, chicken, luncheon meat, tuna, and the other economy meats we are all using more often these days.

You can be economical with a flair, too, as shown in Cabbage Rose Salad. And it's as simple as arranging four or five of the outermost leaves of the cabbage on a platter before filling with the salad mixture of rice, shredded cabbage, crushed pineapple and luncheon meat strips. Not only does it look inviting, but it also tastes good. The dressing contains, in addition to mayonnaise, cream cheese and pineapple juice. Celery seed provides the seasoning accent.

CABBAGE ROSE SALAD

1 medium head cabbage
6 to 8 radishes, sliced
½ cup chopped green pepper
2 cups cooled cooked rice
½ cup grated Cheddar cheese
1 package (6 ounces) ham luncheon meat, cut in julienne strips
1 teaspoon celery seed
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 can (16 ounces) crushed pineapple (drain) reserve juice
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese (room temperatures)
¼ cup mayonnaise

Choose a cabbage with full outer leaves. Wash cabbage. Carefully remove 4 or 5 outer leaves. Refrigerate. Shred remaining cabbage. Add radishes, green pepper, rice, cheese, luncheon meat, seasonings, and pineapple. Blend cream cheese, mayonnaise, and pineapple juice until smooth. Pour over vegetables; toss lightly. Chill. Arrange reserved cabbage leaves on platter to form a "bowl". Spoon rice mixture into cabbage "bowl". Makes 6 generous servings.

CHILI CHICKEN

1 cup chopped onions
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 cups chicken broth
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms with liquid
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon each chili powder and salt
¼ teaspoon each oregano and pepper
½ teaspoon sugar, optional
2 cups chopped cooked chicken
3 cups hot cooked rice

Saute onions, green pepper, and garlic in butter until onions are soft but not brown. Stir in remaining ingredients, except chicken and rice. Cover and simmer about 10 minutes. Add chicken and cook 5 minutes longer. Serve spooned over beds of fluffy rice. Makes 6 servings.

ITALIAN BEEF CASSEROLE

1 pound lean ground beef
1 cup chopped onions
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 cups cooked rice
1 can (10¾ oz.) condensed cream of celery soup
½ cup sour cream
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1½ cups grated Mozzarella cheese
1 package (10 ounces) frozen brussels sprouts, cooked, drained, and cut in half lengthwise
Paprika

Saute meat, onions, and garlic until meat loses its pink appearance. Stir in rice, soup, sour cream, seasonings, and half of the cheese. Add brussels sprouts. Turn into a greased shallow 2½-quart casserole. Top with remaining cheese. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

A fruit ambrosia does double duty

Fruit may appear in many guises during a meal. A Baked Spiced Fruit Ambrosia certainly whets the taste buds of dessert fans. However, this dish also may be served with a meat dish.

BAKED SPICED FRUIT AMBROSIA

1 can (1 pound 13 ounces) sliced peaches
1 can (1 pound 4 ounces) pineapple chunks
1 can (1 pound 1 ounce) apricot halves
½ cup maraschino cherries, halved
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice, divided
1½ cups all-purpose flour
1-3rd cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
1 can (3½ to 4 ounces) shredded coconut

Drain canned fruits, reserving ½ cup of one of the syrups. In a large bowl combine the reserved syrup with the fruits, lemon peel and juice and 1 teaspoon of the pumpkin pie spice; mix well. Spoon into a buttered 12 x 8 x 2-inch baking dish. Combine flour, sugar, salt and remaining 1 teaspoon pumpkin pie spice. With a pastry blender cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs; stir in coconut. Spoon evenly over top of fruits. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven for 40 minutes or until hot and topping is browned. Serve hot as a meat accompaniment or warm as a dessert. Makes 10 to 12 portions.

Man drowns in Colorado

BLYTHE (UPI) — A 20-year-old man died during an early morning swim Sunday in the backwaters of the Colorado River 10 miles from here.

Friends of Kenneth Hall said "he seemed to be all right" and suddenly "just went down." Two friends spent several minutes searching for Hall when he did not come back to the surface.

Sheriff's deputies were called and the youth's body was recovered about 90 minutes later. An autopsy has been ordered.

Lenten fare can be rich and tempting

A dish as rich and tempting as Quiche Lorraine may not seem like the typical Lenten fare—but it can be. Bacon bits stand for bacon in this meatless cheese pie. And because these bacon-flavored bits are made from soybeans, they're high in protein.

Gouda or edam cheeses imported from Holland add to the nutritional count and distinctive flavor. This versatile cheese pie can be served as a main course or as an appetizer.

DUTCH CHEESE PIE

- 2 medium onions, sliced
- ¼ cup butter
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 4 eggs
- 1 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 4 tablespoons bacon bits
- 2 cups shredded Holland edam or gouda
- 1 9-inch pie shell, unbaked

Saute onion in butter in large skillet over low heat until tender. Stir in flour. Remove from heat. In a separate bowl, beat eggs, milk, and seasonings.

Fold in onions, bacon bits and shredded imported Holland edam or gouda cheese. Pour into prepared pie shell. Bake at 400 degrees for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake 25 to 30 minutes until center is firm. Cut into wedges. Makes 6 servings.

To serve as an appetizer, substitute 11-inch unbaked pie shell for 9-inch pie shell. cut into about 20 pieces.

Schools need spirit of fun, prof believes

CHICAGO (UPI) — It's time to take a serious approach to the idea of having fun in school, a professor of education said today.

"The potential for joy and exuberance is present in every normal youth," Dr. M. Dale Baughman, of Indiana State University, told the 79th annual meeting of the North Central Association, an accreditation group.

Creation is born in exuberance, Baughman said, "Yet society today is crowded with the intolerant, the disgusted and the resentful—embittered warriors all. Such a mood is regressive and worse than dead silence.

"Our hope for an improved society requires a breed of happy warriors.

"If we can help our learners to find joy and have fun in striving for their personal goals, an improved school society is a prospect. doesn't."
help our learners to find joy and have fun in striving for their personal goals, an improved school society is a prospect..

"Perhaps the first instructional task of today's middle school and junior high school principal is to determine if he really wants the youth in his school to be full of mirth, exuberance, happiness and joy."

The natural joy of childhood, Baughman said, "is frequently destroyed in our schools through knowledge fragmentation, teacher-initiated experiences and denial of free choices to youth."

Unfortunately, he said, too often "joy in learning is considered irrelevant," and some parents ask, "If Johnny is having so much fun at school how can he be learning?"

Obviously, Baughman said, "Johnny is having fun because he's relaxed and doing the things he likes to do—and, anyhow, play shouldn't cease with childhood and it doesn't." upi 03-25 06:01 aed

Austrian pastries can snare tourist

One of the delights of a trip to Austria is the marvelous food that is prevalent throughout this friendly, beautiful land. Austrians love to eat, a fact readily evident to tourists when they visit the charming cafes, coffeehouses, konditorei and restaurants that make sightseeing in this storybook country so pleasurable.

Pausing for a fragrant cup of coffee — accompanied by some bread and Austrian Swiss cheese, and a pastry or two — is a wonderful way for the traveler to recharge batteries. How better to ready oneself for further exploration of all the fascinating places and things there are to see!

Many Austrian pastries are legendary concoctions — actually extravaganzas — and we wouldn't presume to propose that they could be easily-duplicated in American kitchens. However, Austrian breads are mighty good eating, too, and many lend themselves to adaptations here at home.

The Austrians have a knack of incorporating their fine Swiss cheese in baked goods and the results are distinctive and wonderfully satisfying as you'll see when you try these recipes. The Austrian cheese braid recipe is a streamlined version calling for hot roll mix. The herb and cheese biscuits are made from scratch.

Anyone who has had the good fortune to do much sightseeing in this mountainous country knows delicious Austrian Swiss cheese comes from the Austrian Alps where the air is clear, the streams pure and the cows a happy lot as they graze on rich green pasturage. No wonder the cheese tastes so great!

AUSTRIAN CHEESE BRAID

1 package (13-¾ ounces) hot roll mix
2-3rds cup lukewarm water
2 eggs, well beaten
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
1 package (6 ounces) Austrian Swiss cheese, diced
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 tablespoon poppy seeds

Dissolve yeast from hot roll mix in water. Reserve 2 tablespoons of beaten egg for brushing top of braid. Stir remaining egg, butter or margarine, Austrian Swiss cheese and onion into dissolved yeast. Stir in flour and mix. Beat until smooth. Let rise covered in a warm place until double in bulk, or about 1-½ hours. Turn dough out on a heavily floured board and knead until dough is smooth and elastic, or about 5 minutes. Cut dough in 3 equal parts.

Roll each section of dough with fingers into a long rope, 12 inches long. Braid ropes together on a greased cookie sheet. Turn ends of rope under to seal. Brush loaf with reserved egg. Sprinkle with poppy seeds. Let braid rise until double in bulk. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350 degrees) for 40 minutes, or until golden brown. Cool before slicing. Makes 1 braid.

HERBED AUSTRIAN CHEESE BISCUITS

2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
1 tablespoon sesame seeds
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
2-3rds cup milk
3 slices Austrian Swiss cheese

In a bowl, mix flour, baking powder and salt. Stir in poultry seasoning and sesame seeds. Cut in butter or margarine until particles are very fine. Add milk all at once and stir until dough cleans the bowl. Turn dough out on a lightly floured surface. Knead about 20 times. Pat out dough to ½-inch thickness and cut into 2-inch rounds using a biscuit cutter or glass. Place biscuits on a greased cookie sheet. Cut each Austrian Swiss cheese slice into 6 crosswise strips. Place one strip over each biscuit. Bake in a preheated hot oven (450 degrees) for 10 to 12 minutes, or until puffed and brown. Serve immediately. Makes 18 2-inch biscuits.

Celebrate lower beef price tags

All over the country, meat cases are filling with everyone's favorite — beef. Along with these increased supplies have come good beef buys. You'll be smart to check the newspaper ads and the meat case for specials too good to pass up.

If you've been skipping and missing your regular beef menu features, rejoice! Once again the family can enjoy the delicious flavor of this fine meat more and more frequently and benefit from the quality nutrition that it delivers.

Consider, for example, a compact boneless beef rump roast. It provides plenty of tempting flavor per pound, and like other beef cuts, has come down in price. A beef rump can be either roasted or braised. However, since it is cut from the round and hence somewhat less tender than roasts from the loin, a rump roast is at its best when rare or medium and carved in thin slices. Use a low oven temperature (325 degrees) for roasting.

Or celebrate beef's price drop by braising the rump in orange juice — another good buy of the season — using this recipe for Citrus Beef Pot-Roast. Inspired by South American culinary tradition, it is a dining delight. Subtle and delectably appealing flavors develop as the beef braises with lemon slices in a blend of orange juice, cocoa, mace and cinnamon. Orange slices heated with the braising beef make an attractive garnish.

Other South American good favorites will add to the total appeal of the meal. Fiesta rice can be easily prepared by adding chopped green pepper and pimiento to white rice. Buttered green beans and a tossed salad with a variety of dressings make this menu simple to prepare yet delicious.

CITRUS BEEF POT-ROAST

4- to 5-pound boneless rump roast
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup water
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 teaspoon cocoa
¼ teaspoon mace
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
2 thin lemon slices
2 medium-sized oranges, sliced (not peeled)
¼ cup orange juice concentrate, thawed
¼ cup water
¼ cup flour

Brown meat in lard. Pour off drippings. Season meat with salt and pepper. Add water, cover tightly and cook slowly two hours. Combine sugar, cocoa, mace, cinnamon and 2 tablespoons orange juice concentrate and add to meat; add lemon slices. Cover tightly and continue cooking 1 to 1½ hours or until meat is tender. Add sliced oranges and continue cooking 5 to 10 minutes or until heated through. Remove meat and orange slices to warm platter. Remove lemon slices and discard. Blend ¼ cup orange juice concentrate, water and flour and use to thicken cooking liquid for gravy.

Need for Negro colleges cited

ATLANTA (UPI) — A Rutgers University education professor told officials of the United Negro College Fund Sunday that American Negro colleges are needed to help black youths reverse "patterns of self rejection society has imposed on them."

"The black colleges are compelling America to humanize and democratize itself," he told a banquet of the fund's National Conference on Higher Education.

Sauce Italienne help to the cook

You can have an uncommon meal that's easy to prepare when you keep Quick and Spicy Sauce Italienne on hand. Use part of this thick all-purpose sauce when you make it and freeze the rest for future meals.

Pastas, meats, chicken, fish and vegetables will take on new interest with just a spoonful of this homemade goodness. The tomato flavor is enriched with a mouth-watering mixture of herbs as well as garlic, Spanish onion, carrots and celery.

When an out of the ordinary meal is called for, serve Quick and Spicy Sauce Italienne with spaghetti, meat loaf, hamburger steak or a favorite recipe of your own.

This recipe is tailor-made for diners who like their foods spicy. Reduce the amount of pepper if you usually prefer milder foods.

SAUCE ITALIENNE

1 finely chopped garlic clove (large)
½ large Spanish onion, finely chopped
1 finely chopped carrot
1 large finely chopped celery stalk
2 teaspoons oregano
1 cracked bay leaf
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon freshly ground black pepper
2 tablespoons freshly chopped parsley
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 dashes Tabasco
1 pinch chili powder
½ teaspoon white pepper
1 beef bouillon cube (or 1 teaspoon beef base)
2 tablespoons sugar
2 6-ounce cans tomato paste
2 8-ounce cans tomato sauce
2 8-ounce cans tomato puree

Saute first four ingredients for 15 minutes in enough olive oil to cover the bottom of a 2-quart sauce pan. Do not brown. Lower heat and add remaining ingredients. Simmer 15 minutes and add:

Stir and simmer 20 more minutes. This sauce can be used immediately or frozen for future use on pastas, meats, chicken, fish or vegetables.

Easter Bunny Bread will delight tots

Real rabbits or those of candy, cake or bread dough are an integral part of the Easter celebration in North America and are as important as the traditional egg.

Actually, it is the hare and not its relative, the prolific rabbit, that should be the true symbol. The hare is a symbol for the moon and the date for Easter depends upon the phase of the moon.

Whatever, the bunny and the egg also were symbols of the Anglo-Saxon spring goddess Eostre and emblematic of fertility. Both remain closely allied to Eastertime. As a special treat this Easter you can make an Easter bunny or an Italian Easter bread ring with colored eggs using the same basic dough recipe.

EASTER BUNNY OR ITALIAN EASTER BREAD

2 ¼ to 3½ cups unsifted flour
¼ cups sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 package active dry yeast
2-3rds cup milk
2 tablespoons margarine
2 eggs (at room temperature)
½ cup mixed candied fruits
¼ cup chopped blanched almonds
½ teaspoon anise seed
Confectioners' sugar frosting

Mixing candied fruits and uncooked spaghetti or colored sprinkles

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1 cup flour, sugar, salt and undissolved active dry yeast. Combine milk and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquid is very warm (120 to 130 degrees). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, or use rotary beater. If mixing by hand, beat very hard . . . about 300 strokes a minute . . . for the same amount of time. Add eggs and ½ cup flour, or enough flour to make a thick batter. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour.

Combine fruits, almonds and anise seed.

Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead in fruit mixture. Proceed according to directions below for desired shape.

EASTER BUNNY: Divide dough into 2 pieces, one piece about 2-3rds the weight of the dough and the other piece about 1-3rd the weight of the dough. Form larger piece into a smooth ball. Place on greased baking sheet. Squeeze this dough to form a head about 1-3rd the size of the body. Make an indentation in the body and place a raw egg into indentation. Form remaining 1-3rd of dough into a roll about 12-inches long. Cut off 2 pieces about 1½-inches long. Form each into a ball and place in appropriate places on body to form legs. Divide remaining dough into 4 equal pieces. Roll slightly with rolling pin to flatten. Taper one end of each piece. Tuck 2 strips under top of head to form ears. Tuck remaining 2 pieces just below the neck to form arms. Fold arms over egg.

ITALIAN EASTER BREAD: Divide dough in half. Roll each piece of dough into a 24-inch rope. Twist ropes together loosely and form into a ring on a greased baking sheet. Brush with melted margarine. Place 5 colored raw eggs into spaces in the twist. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake at 350-degrees about 30 to 35 minutes, or until done. For bunny cover ears and arms of bunny with aluminum foil for the last 10 minutes of baking to prevent excessive browning. Remove from baking sheet and cool on wire rack. Frost with confectioner's sugar frosting. Decorate bunny with candied fruits for eyes and nose and uncooked spaghetti for whiskers. Sprinkle ring with colored sprinkles. Makes 1 bunny or 1 bread ring.

No-cholesterol substitute for eggs now on market

Cholesterol-conscious Americans are being given a reprieve with Standard Brands' introduction of a frozen cholesterol-free egg substitute. The makers of Fleischmann's Margarines announced their new product, Egg Beaters, in a press conference and luncheon at the Century Plaza.

The company spokesman, Roy H. Fishman, stated Egg Beaters, the cholesterol-free egg substitute, is made from egg whites and yolk-like ingredients including corn oil and nonfat dry milk. It has the essential vitamins, minerals and protein of whole fresh eggs, but no cholesterol.

The new product is an answer to a problem confronting a great many Americans — the dietary control of cholesterol.

He cited the Inter-Society Commission Report on Heart Disease crediting the yolk of the egg as the single highest source of cholesterol in the American diet. Further, he pointed out, the commission recommended daily cholesterol intake by limited to less than 300 milligrams. Yet, he explained, just one average large egg alone contains 250 milligrams. Egg Beaters, containing no cholesterol, is ideal for low-cholesterol meal planning.

The new product, with taste comparable to whole fresh eggs, can be used in practically any way regular eggs are used except sunny-side-up and boiled. It can be scrambled, used to make French toast, egg nog, omelets, used in baking or breading — even egg salad.

It is availabe in the frozen food section of local grocery stores in two 8-fluid-ounce containers in each package. Each package contains the equivalent of 8 fresh eggs. Frozen, it can be stored indefinitely. Once thawed, the egg-like liquid can be kept in the refrigerator for 7 days.

Egg Beaters is also available for use in institutions such as hospitals, schools and the food service industry. It is packaged and frozen in 4-pound cartons containing the equivalent of 32 eggs.

To document Egg Beaters' taste and versatility, the menu for the press luncheon featured the following recipes.

This low cholesterol meal proved, once again, that sensible eating can be delicious.

These same recipes and 28 others are included in the free illustrated 30-age booklet, "Cooking With Egg Beaters." To receive your own copy, write to Fleischmann's Nutrition Department, Box 201, Madison Square Station, New York, New York 10010.

EGG SALAD

- 1 cup (1 container) Egg Beaters
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped celery
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- Generous dash pepper
- ½ teaspoon prepared mustard

Pour egg mixture into a heavy 8-inch skillet. Cover tightly. Hold over very low heat just until firm to the touch, about 15 minutes. Cool. Remove from skillet in large pieces. Dice.

Combine cubes, celery and green pepper in a mixing bowl. In a separate bowl combine mayonnaise, salt, pepper and mustard; blend well. Lightly toss with mayonnaise mixture. Chill before serving. Use for salads or sandwiches. For extra appeal, serve egg mixture in small whole tomatoes. Makes 1-½ cups—enough filling for 4 sandwiches.

BLENDER MAYONNAISE

- ½ cup (½ container) Egg Beaters
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- ¼ teaspoon paprika
- 2 tablespoons white vinegar
- 1 cup corn oil

Combine Egg Beaters, spices, vinegar, and ¼ cup oil in container. Cover and whirl on medium speed just until blended. Without turning off blender, very slowly pour in remaining ¾ cup oil in a steady stream. If necessary, use rubber spatula to keep mixture flowing to blades. Makes 1-½ cups.

HOLLANDAISE DIP

- ½ cup (½ container) Egg Beaters
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- Dash cayenne pepper
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ½ cup (1 stick) melted hot margarine

Combine Egg Beaters, salt, cayenne pepper and lemon juice in blender container. Cover and whirl on medium high speed to blend. Without turning off blender, remove cap and very slowly add hot margarine in a fine steady stream. Hold mixture over hot, not boiling, water for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes 1 cup.

CAESAR SALAD

- 3 tablespoons margarine
- ⅛ teaspoon garlic powder
- 1-½ cups bread cubes
- 8 cups torn romaine
- 4 cups torn Boston lettuce
- 2-3rd cup garlic french dressing
- ¼ cup (¼ container) Egg Beaters
- Dash Worcestershire sauce
- 1 can (2-ounce) anchovy fillets, drained

Melt margarine in a large skillet. Stir in garlic powder. Add bread cubes; saute until golden. Cool.

Combine romaine and Boston lettuce in a large salad bowl. Pour on Garlic French Dressing. Add Egg Beaters, Worcestershire sauce, anchovies and bread cubes. Toss lightly until well-mixed.

GARLIC FRENCH DRESSING: To make 2-3rds cup, combine ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon sugar, 1-16 teaspoon dry mustard, 1-16 teaspoon pepper, 1 crushed garlic clove, 1 tablespoon water, 3 tablespoons white vinegar and ½ cup corn oil. Cover and shake vigorously until thoroughly blended.

CREOLE EGGS IN PEPPER SHELLS

- 3 medium green peppers, split lengthwise and seeded
- Boiling salted water
- 1 tablespoon margarine
- 3 cups (3 containers) Egg Beaters

Drop peppers into boiling salted water. Boil 15 minutes. Drain.

Heat margarine in large skillet over low heat until bubbly. Add Egg Beaters. Begin to stir when edges start to set. Stir only occasionally until set. Season as desired. Spoon into pepper shells. Serve with Creole Sauce (recipe below) on the side. Makes 6 servings.

CREOLE SAUCE: Saute ¼ cup chopped onion in 1 tablespoon margarine until golden. Add 1 can (8-ounce) tomato sauce, 2-3rds cup chopped canned mushrooms, ½ bay leaf, ⅛ teaspoon garlic salt, dash cayenne pepper and 3 tablespoons water. Cover and simmer 15 minutes.

MUFFINS

- 2 cups unsifted flour
- 1-3rd cup sugar
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
- 1 cup skim milk
- ½ cup (½ container) Egg Beaters

Mix flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in margarine until pieces are size of small peas. Combine skim milk and Egg Beaters. Add to flour mixture. Stir quickly with fork just until dry ingredients are moistened. (Batter will be lumpy). Divide mixture evenly among 12 greased muffin pans, 2-¾ x1-¼ inches.

Bake at 400 degrees 25 minutes, or until done. Serve hot. Makes 12 muffins.

CORN BREAD

- 1 cup yellow corn meal
- 1 cup unsifted flour
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1-3rd cup margarine
- 1 cup skim milk
- ½ cup (½ container) Egg Beaters

In a large bowl combine meal, flour, sugar, baking powder and salt. Cut in margarine. Blend together, milk and Egg Beaters. Stir into corn meal mixture. Beat for one minute.

Pour batter into greased 8-inch square baking dish. Bake at 425 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes, or until done. Makes 9 servings.

SOUTHERN PECAN PIE

- ¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
- 1 cup sugar
- ¾ cup light corn syrup
- ¾ cup (¾ container) Egg Beaters
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1-¾ cups pecans
- 1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell

Melt margarine over low heat. Remove from heat; mix in sugar and corn syrup. Blend in Egg Beaters and vanilla extract. Add pecans. Pour into pie shell.

Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes, or until done. Makes one 9-inch pie.

PASTRY: Combine 1 cup unsifted flour and ½ teaspoon salt. Cut in ½ cup (1 stick) margarine until mixture resembles coarse meal. Mix in 2 tablespoons ice water. Form dough into ball. Cover. Refrigerate 15 minutes, then roll out to fit 9-inch pie plate. Fit into pie plate and shape edge.

FOR TARTS: Double pastry recipe. Divide in half. Roll out and cut each half into twelve 3-½ inch rounds. Fit into 2 ½ inch tart or muffin pans. Fill and bake at 350 degrees 30 minutes or until done.

Police revoke ban, will let streakers run

WIELFRATH, Germany (UPI) — Police have recently revoked an earlier ordinance banning a gathering of Rhineland "streakers" scheduled for next weekend.

"People would only be poking fun at us if we had kept the nudes out of town," said police chief Guenther Nothinick.

But the chief ruled the nudes may not streak on the streets but only on a soccer field.

Agriculture Department predicts huge peanut crop

Peanuts by any other name — goober peas or ground nuts — are still popular. And the U.S. Department of Agriculture says a record crop of "goobers" is expected this year, plenty to satisfy every peanut fancier's appetite.

The peanut industry has been developing since colonial days. Some of the earliest records kept by southern colonists mentioned peanuts, although not much was done with them commercially until after the Civil War. During that conflict peanuts traveled near and far with soldiers from southern peanut-producing areas. Their popularity spread as street vendors appeared selling these freshly roasted nuggets in the shell.

In those days, the work of harvesting, picking, and preparing peanuts for market was all done by hand or with crude homemade equipment. The first factory for cleaning, grading, and polishing peanuts for roasting in the shell was built about 1880 near Smithfield, Va.

As time went on, equipment was invented for planting, cultivating, harvesting, and picking peanuts and for shelling and cleaning the kernels. Mechanical shellers opened the door for development of countless peanut products and expansion of the American peanut industry. A St. Louis physician invented peanut butter while seeking a nutritious, easily digested, high-protein food for his patients. And George Washington Carver alone developed over 200 uses for the peanut.

Today, peanuts and peanut products are everywhere. Street vendors have given way to vending machines in airports and other public places, electric warmers make freshly roasted peanuts available in variety stores, restaurants have added peanut butter and jelly sandwiches to their menus, bags of peanuts appear frequently at circuses and ball games.

The forms peanuts are sold in are just about limitless. There are roasted peanuts in the shell, salted or unsalted shelled peanuts, and mixed nut combinations which include peanuts. Cookies boast the flavorful goodness of peanuts and peanut butter. And there are popular cheese cracker and peanut butter sandwiches.

Some ready-to-eat cereals are enhanced with peanuts or peanut butter, a great way to start any day. Peanut candies can satisfy any sweet tooth. Chopped peanuts are used to coat packaged ice cream bars.

Last but by no means least is peanut butter, which accounts for over half the peanut crop. That represents a lot of sandwiches and other treats as well.

People are eating more peanuts every year. Researchers tell us that people today eat over six pounds per person a year. Here are some ways to enjoy them:

PEANUT BUTTER BROWNIES

- ¾ cup peanut butter
- 1-3rd cup butter
- 2 cups sugar
- 1 cup brown sugar, packed
- 4 eggs
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla
- 3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup chopped peanuts

Topping

- 1½ cups brown sugar, packed
- ½ cup butter
- ¼ cup milk
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1 cup chopped peanuts

Cream the peanut butter, butter and sugars. Add the eggs and vanilla, and beat until well blended. Sift dry ingredients and add to creamed mixture with peanuts. Mix until smooth. Spread batter in a 9-inch square baking pan. Cover evenly with topping. Bake 35 to 40 minutes at 350 degrees in aluminum or 325 degrees in glass. Test for doneness in inserting a toothpick, which should come out clean.

HOMEMADE PEANUT BUTTER

- 1 cup freshly roasted or salted peanuts
- 3 tablespoons peanut oil
- ½ teaspoon salt, if peanuts are unsalted

Put peanuts in the container of a blender and add 1½ tablespoons peanut oil. Blend the mixture until smooth, gradually adding another 1½ tablespoons of oil or enough to make the peanut butter the proper consistency. Add salt if necessary. Makes about 1 cup.

THE BEEF SAGA

Do you realize what it takes to make a high quality steak?

Beef must travel a long and complex route through many stages of production before it arrives at your table.

Let's follow a typical steer through each stage:

(1) Conception: The cycle begins at a cow-calf operation or ranch with the mating of a bull and a cow or mature heifer. Nine months later the raw material for the nation's beef industry is produced — a newborn calf weighing about 90 pounds.

(2) Pasture: The calf usually spends the first six to nine months with its mother in pasture. During this time the calf is nourished mostly with his mother's milk. At the end of nine months the average cow and calf have consumed about 10,000 pounds of hay, grass and-or silage, 330 pounds of grain, and 70 pounds of protein supplement. The calf should now weigh around 450 pounds. At that weight the calf is weaned and either sold to a feedlot operation or put out in pasture for an additional growing period. Usually when bull calves reach weaning age they are castrated and are then called steers. A larger percentage of cattle going into feedlots are steers since many heifers are retained in breeding herds.

(3) Feedlot: Eventually, the steer goes into a feedlot. For the next four to eight months the steer does nothing but eat as much as he wants and grow to a marketable weight, which is usually about 1,100 pounds. The time he stays in a feedlot depends on the weight at which he came in and his rate of gain. The feedlot operator tries to accelerate this weight gain to about 2½ to three pounds a day.

Steers are usually at marketable weight in four to six months but if they are held for 8 months, each animal will have consumed about 3,500 pounds of grain, 1,000 pounds of hay or silage, and 360 pounds of protein supplement. When the feedlot manager thinks his steers have reached their logical slaughter potential, which would

Any poultry cut can be found for any cooking need

To make Chicken Gumbo, a New Orleans "Cajun"-style specialty, use leftover chicken — or buy it just for the occasion. Most kinds of ready-to-cook poultry are available as parts and in whole, halved, and quartered form. So you can buy just the right amount for your needs.

Mature chickens are generally preferred for rich stews and casserole dishes because they are more flavorful than young ones; however, broiler or fryer chickens also may be simmered, steamed, or braised for use in creamed dishes, stews, soups, or casseroles.

When buying chicken of any age look for the USDA grade mark in the form of a shield. U.S. Grade A poultry is the highest quality. Grade A birds are fully fleshed and meaty, well finished and attractive in appearance. Grade B birds may be less attractive in finish and appearance and slightly lacking in meatiness. Grade B is seldom printed on poultry labels.

If you are using leftovers for your gumbo remember that poultry is perishable. Left - over cooked poultry, broth, stuffing, and gravy should be separated, covered, and refrigerated. They should be used within one or two days. For longer storage, chicken leftovers should be frozen.

CHICKEN GUMBO

½ cup celery, thinly sliced
½ green pepper, thinly sliced
½ cup onion, thinly sliced
½ tablespoon parsley, finely chopped
4 chicken bouillon cubes
4 cups chicken broth
2 cups chicken, cooked and diced
10-ounce package frozen okra
½ cup cooked rice
½ cup cooked corn

Add tomatoes, celery, green pepper, onion, parsley, and bouillon cubes to chicken broth. Simmer 24 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Add chicken and okra and cook for 6 minutes longer. Add rice and corn. Heat and serve. Makes generous 6 servings.

TREASURE IN A NUTSHELL

Spanish explorers sailed to South America in search of gold during the 16th century. They also found a treasure in a nutshell — the peanut.

Of course, these adventurers couldn't foresee that peanuts would someday become one of the major U.S. farm crops and one of our most versatile foods. Peanuts can be used in any dish from soup to dessert.

These early explorers enjoyed the crunchy flavorfulness of peanuts. When they packed up and headed for home, peanuts went with them. After peanuts became established in Spain and Portugal, traders found them to be a great item to exchange for the spices and elephant tusks from nearby African nations. Once again, peanuts adapted to life in a new country. And once again they became part of the provisions on sailing ships — ships bound, eventually, for colonial America.

Today peanuts are important economically, especially in the major producing states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Texas, and Virginia. Marketing specialists with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service report that these areas have produced a record crop of peanuts this season. That means lots of eating pleasure — particularly this year, when USDA experts say peanut products will be in especially abundant supply.

The three common varieties of peanuts are Virginia, Runner, and Spanish. The shelled Virginia peanut is long and slender, the Runner is small and stubby, and the Spanish peanut is round. By and large they are used interchangeably and together in anything from a mixed nut selection to peanut butter to candies, cookies, and other tempting peanut products.

Peanut cakes are always a hit. Take your pick of these peanut treats:

PEANUT SPICE CAKE

2¼ cups cake flour
1 teaspoon baking power
¾ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon cloves
1 cup sugar
¾ cup brown sugar
¾ cup shortening
1 cup buttermilk
3 eggs
¾ cup chopped peanuts

Sift flour, baking powder, soda, salt, spices and sugar into large mixing bowl. Add brown sugar, shortening and buttermilk and mix on slow speed about 2 minutes. Add eggs, one at a time. Beat 2 minutes more and add chopped peanuts. Pour into 2 greased 9-inch pans or a loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees 30-35 minutes or until done. Serve plain or with favorite icing.

PEANUT CARROT CAKE

2 cups sugar
1½ cups peanut oil
4 eggs
2 cups flour
1½ teaspoons soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 cups grated carrots
1 cup chopped peanuts

FROSTING

1 box powdered sugar
1 8-ounce package cream cheese
½ cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups chopped peanuts

Mix sugar, oil and eggs. Mix well. Sift flour, soda and cinnamon together and add to first mixture. Fold in carrots and peanuts. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. For frosting, blend all ingredients together. Fold in 1 cup peanuts, saving ½ cup to sprinkle on top.

ASPARAGUS TIME

Tender, spring-fresh asparagus is now appearing in our markets. To take best advantage of this prized vegetable here are some tips from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service:

Choose asparagus with closed, compact tips, smooth, round spears and a fresh appearance. A rich green color should cover most of the spear. Stalks should be tender almost as far down as the green extends.

Avoid tips that are open and spread out, moldy or decayed tips, or ribbed spears. Also avoid excessively sandy spears since the sand may be difficult to remove.

For best quality, use fresh asparagus within 2 days. Always store it in the refrigerator.

In preparing asparagus, break off each stalk as far down as it snaps easily. Wash thoroughly before using. Serve Fresh Asparagus Delta for brunch or a lenten special and team it with new potatoes in a cheese sauce.

FRESH ASPARAGUS DELTA

2 pounds fresh asparagus
6 poached eggs
¼ cup melted butter
1-3rd cup grated Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste

Wash asparagus and snap off tough portion of stalk. Cook whole stalks, covered in a small amount of boiling, salted water until just done, 8 to 10 minutes. Drain thoroughly. Arrange cooked asparagus spears in 1 large or 6 individual baking dishes; place poached eggs in center of dish or dishes on top of asparagus. Pour melted butter over all; sprinkle with cheese, salt and pepper. Bake at 450 degrees for 3 to 4 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

SAUCY ASPARAGUS WITH NEW POTATOES

6 to 8 new red rose potatoes
1½ pounds fresh asparagus
Fresh garlic
MORNAY SAUCE
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash white pepper
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
1½ cups milk
½ cup grated Gruyere or Swiss cheese

Company needn't put budget out of joint

Company's coming and you don't have the slightest idea what to serve. You don't have a lot of time to prepare an elegant meal and to top things off, you're on a tight budget! Is this a familiar problem?

Chicken and Potato Stir-Fry is a recipe to cut out and save for such occasions. In just a little more than an hour, you can prepare and present your guests with a delicious main course that's a well-balanced meal, yet economical. And it shows off your gourmet talents, too.

Chicken and potatoes, two economical family favorites, are dressed up for company with green onions and carrots adding color and savory flavor to please your dinner guests.

While great for guests, this recipe could well become a family favorite. It's such a nutritious meal when you think about it—and we should think a lot about nutrition as we plan our meals each day.

It's not that hard. Take the potatoes for example — America's favorite vegetable. Most people are surprised to learn how really good the potato is. One medium size potato (3 per pound) privides almost half the vitamin C plus some of the B vitamins recommended daily.

In this recipe, the chicken contributes important protein and the carrot topping adds a healthy serving of vitamin A to the dish in a way children will like. What more could you ask for in such a simple to prepare dish!

You could ask for economy. And with potatoes and chicken always at relatively low prices, you can entertain elegantly on a shoestring budget.

CHICKEN AND POTATO STIR-FRY

12 carrots, peeled and sliced (about 2 pounds)
2 tablespoons butter
Salt and pepper
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
3 cups uncooked chicken meat, diced or cut into large chunks, (about 1½ pounds)
6 medium potatoes, peeled and sliced (about 2 pounds)
Butter
1 green onion, chopped

In heavy, covered saucepan, steam carrots in small amount of boiling water, until tender—about 10 to 15 minutes. Drain and mash, seasoning with salt and pepper to taste. Set aside and keep warm. In large skillet, heat oil, add chicken and stir-fry until just tender. Remove and keep warm. In same skillet, saute potatoes until tender, adding more oil, if necessary. Turn frequently with spatula. Season with salt and pepper. Return chicken to pan. Toss with potatatoes until thoroughly heated. Using pastry tube, pipe carrots around edge of pan. (Or just use a teaspoon and mound carrots decoratively around edge of pan.) Drizzle with butter, if desired. Slide pan under broiler and brown lightly. Sprinkle green onion over all and serve at once. Serve 6.

Scrub potatoes. Peel a small band around the center. Cook potatoes in boiling salted water about 20 minutes or until tender. Drain. Wash asparagus throughly. Bend stalks and snap off the tough end. Cut the stalks in long diagonal slices but leave the tips whole. Cook asparagus, covered, in small amount of boiling water with a sprinkle of garlic juice for about 5 minutes. Drain. Make sauce by melting butter over low heat and stir in the flour, salt, pepper, and nutmeg. Add milk. Stir constantly until sauce is bubbling. Add cheese and stir. Makes 1¾ cups sauce. Combine cooked potatoes and asparagus in a serving bowl and pour sauce over the top. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

'Phantom' driver is nine-year-old

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A "phantom" driver in a sports car led police on a chase Sunday through three red lights at speeds up to 70 miles an hour before officers forced the car to the curb.

The already astonished officers found a nine-year-old boy sitting in the driver's seat, peering up at them through the steering wheel.

Police said the boy took the 1967 Triumph from a neighbor's driveway. He was released to the custody of his parents, pending juvenile court action on joyriding charges.

usually qualify them for USDA's Prime, Choice, or Good quality grades, they are considered "finished" and sold to a meat plant.

(½) Packing Plant: At the packing plant the steer is slaughtered and converted from beef on the hoof to beef on a hook in carcass form. Up to this point weight has been gained, but from here on it's lost as the non-meat parts are removed. An average 1,150 pound steer will yield only about a 700-pound carcass after slaughter, when the hide, head, legs below the knee, blood, and internal organs are removed.

Before and after slaughter a meat inspector from, or approved by, the U.S. Department of Agriculture inspects the meat for wholesomeness, after which a USDA meat grader will grade the meat for quality and yield, if requested. The meat grader can apply any one of eight beef quality grades, but most likely will use one of the top three — USDA Prime, Choice, or Good — because most young fed beef falls within these grades. After a very short stay in the packing plant the carcass, or large cuts from it called wholesale cuts, go to the retailer.

(5) Retailer: Then, the retailer cuts the carcass into individual retail cuts, packages them, and sells them to consumers. During the cutting process, the meat cutter trims away an additional 190 pounds of fat, bone, and waste leaving only about 510 pounds of saleable retail cuts from what was once a 1,150-pound steer.

(6) Your Table: To the beef industry, consumer demand is the most important stage of all because the amount consumed and the price consumers are willing to pay determine the economic well being of the entire production system. An increase in demand is rapidly reflected all the way back through the system to the original producer, the cow-calf operator, signalling him to take steps to increase supply. But even though he'd like to, he can't hurry nature too much. It'll take a while for those increased beef supplies to reach your table. Beef demand can increase rapidly, but not beef supply. It takes at least 3 years from the time the producer decides to expand his breeding herd until more beef reaches the market.

Pilot survives nosedive crash

SALINAS (UPI) — A crop duster from Castroville was counting his blessings today after walking away from a plane crash Sunday.

Ronald L. Guiton, 35, suffered only back injuries and lacerations after his one-engine Cessna Agwagon plunged nose down into an artichoke field about eight miles north of here.

Witness Frank Gomez, who owned the plane, said Guiton struck a telephone pole, shearing off the plane's tail. He then drove the aircraft straight up dumping the crop dusting chemicals. The plane stalled and nose dived into the ground at what Gomez said was at least 100 miles per hour.

The plane was totally destroyed. Guiton was treated and released from Salinas Valley Memorial hospital.

Carrots may make vegetable eaters out of family

Mules traditionally are stubborn except when it comes to carrots. A carrot dangled in front of a mule supposedly makes him more tractable. If your family is stubborn about eating vegetables, sunny golden carrots can probably help. Carrots are good when served alone or in combination with other vegetables—and they're available the year round. Few foods are a better source of vitamin A.

Most carrots are topped (leaves trimmed off) and sold in 1- or 2-pound packages or in bulk. A small volume of bunched carrots, with tops attached, is available in some cities.

Packaged carrots are often labeled U.S. No. 1. This U.S. Department of Agriculture grade means good quality. U.S. No. 1 carrots are firm and fairly well formed, and few carrots in the package have defects. Their color is orange to orange-red, not pale orange or yellow. Most of the carrots in a package must be at least 5 inches long and between ¾ and 1½ inches in diameter, unless the package is marked otherwise. If the grade name is shown within the USDA Shield, the carrots have been packed under continuous government inspection.

When you buy carrots in bulk or when the grade is not shown on the package, look for well-formed, smooth, orange to orange-red carrots. Carrots should be firm with well-trimmed tops. Avoid carrots that are flabby or shriveled or those with large green areas (sunburn) at the top.

Also avoid topped carrots that have new top growth (green shoots on the top) and bunched carrots that have yellow tops.

Carrots can be stored in the hydrator (vegetable bin) of your refrigerator for three to four weeks. Large carrots are best for shredding. Smaller, younger carrots are good for eating raw or cooking.

For variety, try baking carrots, particularly when you are planning an oven meal. Cut the carrots in half and place them in a casserole with ¼ cup water, 2 or 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, and a sprinkle of salt and pepper. Cover the casserole and bake at 375 degrees F. for 45 minutes, or until carrots are tender. Whole carrots also may be baked with roasted meats, adding them in the last hour or so before the meat is done.

Here are some carrot ideas:

CARROT SOUP

- 3 cups sliced fresh carrots
- 1 cup diced fresh potatoes
- 6 cups chicken stock
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground mace
- ⅛ teaspoon black pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter
- Chopped parlsey
- Cooked carrot coins

Cook carrots and potatoes in stock until they are tender, about 25 minutes. Push through a sieve. Add seasonings and butter. Serve hot, garnished with parsley and a few cooked carrot coins. Makes 6 servings.

CARROTS ALLA NAPOLI

- 16 medium-sized carrot
- ½ inch boiling water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon black pepper
- ½ teaspoon oregano leaves
- ½ teaspoon sugar
- ¼ cup olive oil
- 2 tablespoons wine vinegar

Wash and scrape carrots. Cut into slices ½-inch thick. Place in saucepan with boiling water and ½ teaspoon salt. Cover and cook 10 minutes or until tender. Drain well. Place in a bowl with remaining ingredients. Marinate 12 hours or overnight before serving. Serve hot or cold. Makes 5 cups.

ORANGE CARROTS

- 2½ cups carrots, sliced
- ¾ cup water
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon grated orange peel
- 1 orange, peeled and cut into bite-size pieces
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 tablespoon chopped chives

Wash and scrape carrots; slice into ¼ inch thick coins. In saucepan, bring water to a boil; add carrots and salt. Cook covered, 10 to 15 minutes until just tender; drain well. Add peel and bite-size pieces of orange, butter and chives. Return to low heat; stir gently until butter is melted and orange pieces are warm. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

CELESTIAL CARROT SALAD

- 1 8-ounce can pineapple tidbits or mandarin oranges, drained
- 1 tablespoon honey
- ¼ teaspoon mace or nutmeg
- ½ cup plain yogurt or sour cream
- ¼ cup shredded coconut, optional

Combine grated carrots, lemon juice and salt. Add marshmallows and fruit. Blend honey and mace or nutmeg with yogurt or sour cream. Toss lightly with carrot mixture and coconut. Chill well. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

THE FLAVORFUL FUN FOOD

March is National Peanut Month. By a happy coincidence, a record supply of peanuts is available this year to satisfy every peanut fan, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service. If you're fond of peanuts, it's a great time to enjoy your favorite legumes.

Legumes? Yes, peanuts belong to the pea-and-bean family, the legumes—they aren't really nuts at all. Peanuts even grow in the ground, like the root of a plant, instead of on trees.

Peanuts and peanut butter are well worth a place in everyday menus because of their food value. Using them often in family meals is nutritionally sound. Peanuts are high in niacin and are important also for other B vitamins. Among the vegetable foods, peanuts rate high in protein content. For the most efficient use of peanut protein, some animal protein such as meat, milk, or eggs should be eaten at the same meal.

Peanuts are a good source of food energy—calories. Nutritionally speaking, peanuts are an especially wise addition to Lenten meals.

It's best to keep peanuts in tightly closed containers in the refrigerators to retain their crispness and flavor. Peanuts in the shell keep better than shelled peanuts; unsalted peanuts keep better than salted ones.

Here's a tip: Peanuts absorb moisture readily. When you want all of their crispness, as in salads and sauces, mix the peanuts with the other ingredients just before serving.

Peanut butter, too, keeps best in the refrigerator. But since it stiffens in a cold place, remember to remove it from the refrigerator a short time before using to allow it to soften. Most peanut butter is homogenized to retain its creamy texture right down to the bottom of the jar; otherwise the natural peanut oil would rise to the top. If you find any oil has risen, just stir it back into the peanut butter before using.

Here are some easy peanutty ideas:

SCALLOPED PINEAPPLE WITH PEANUTS

- 6 slices day-old bread
- ½ cup melted butter

Pull bread into tiny pieces. Mix with butter. Mix pineapple, peanuts, sugar, lemon rind and juice into bread mixture. Pour into oiled 1½ quart casserole. Bake at 350 degrees for 1 hour. Serve warm with ham, chicken, turkey, or pork. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CRUNCHY MACARONI SPECIAL

- 1½ cups elbow macaroni, cooked
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups milk
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 1½ cups grated sharp cheddar cheese
- 3 hard-cooked eggs, quartered
- ½ cup Spanish peanuts

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and rinse with hot water. Pour macaroni into a greased 1½ quart casserole. Melt butter in a caucepan. Stir in flour and salt. Gradually stir in milk and mustard. Cook over low heat stirring constantly until sauce bubbles and thickens slightly. Stir in cheese until melted. Fold in eggs and peanuts. Pour sauce over macaroni and stir to blend. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 40 to 45 minutes or until top is brown. Makes 6 servings.

CREAM OF PEANUT SOUP

- ¼ cup butter
- 1 cup thinly sliced celery
- 1 medium onion, chopped fine
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 quarts chicken stock or broth
- 1 cup creamy peanut butter
- 1 cup light cream

Melt butter in large saucepan over low heat and add celery and onion. Cook until tender but not browned. Add flour and stir until mixture is smooth. Gradually add chicken broth and bring to a boil. Blend in peanut butter and simmer about 15 minutes. Stir in cream just before serving. Makes 8 servings.

PEANUT PIE

- ½ cup sugar
- 1½ cups corn syrup
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 1½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup salted peanut halves
- Unbaked 9-inch qastry shell

Combine sugar, corn syrup, butter or margarine, and salt. Bring to boil over low heat. Pour the syrup mixture slowly over eggs, stirring constantly. Add vanilla and peanuts and pour into the pastry shell. Bake in 375-degree oven 40 to 50 minutes or until the filling is set and nuts browned. Cut pie into 6 or 8 pieces.

Peanut butter was developed as a so-called health food in 1890 by a St. Louis physician who prescribed the high protein food for his patients. It has been on the commercial market since before the turn of the century, and is internationally popular. This is a good time to buy peanut butter and other peanut products for they are in greater than usual supply now, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Peanuts, which are now in abundant supply, are produced in many states. In the eastern part of the nation they are grown from Virginia to Florida. Other important peanut-producing areas include the states bordering the Gulf of Mexico, California, New Mexico, and a few inland states.

Safety official says gas crisis a 'life-saver'

DALLAS (UPI) — Nothing in the history of motor transportation has done more to reduce traffic accidents and save lives than the gasoline shortage, according to the director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Col. Wilson E. Speir said recently that the "significance of the energy crisis has been the fact that it virtually forced an immediate reduction in the use of vehicles and led to a general lowering of speeds." If people use their automobiles responsibly, slow down to reasonable speeds, then accidents will be fewer, less severe and lives will be saved, Speir told the Texas Safety Association.

For Thursday, March 28

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Important information you get today should not be trusted to memory. Make notes. You'll need these facts in the future.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be sure to keep accurate records of financial transactions at this time. Get warranties and guarantees in writing.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be careful in dealings with persons you don't know too well. Don't be afraid to question. Be alert for evasive answers.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today you'll tell too much to the wrong person. Be sure those with whom you share confidences can keep secrets.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A friend is involved in a sticky situation. If you're not careful, you'll be drawn into it. Avoid the conspirator.

FORTUNE KOOKIES

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Spet. 22) If you make commitments for expediency's sake, without thinking things through, you'll later find yourself in a mess.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your thinking isn't as sound today as it usally is. Mistakes are likely to crop up. Pay close attention to what you're doing.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Most of your thoughts will be focused on finances. That doesn't mean you'll manage matters as wisely as you should.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You will be very indecisive. This will lead to complications in your affairs and the affairs of others as well.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Although you'll have many irons in the fire today you won't stick with one thing long enough to produce a desired result.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'd be wise to cancel your shopping spree for today. You're likely to spend far more than your budget can handle.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're very impatient to get a matter of importance concluded. Slow down — move too impetuously and you'll be sorry later.

Your Birthday
March 28

This will be a very active year. You're likely to do considerable traveling. In addition, an important new relationship will be formed.

Dog who flunks out has a poor teacher

By Dr. Frank Miller

DEAR DR. MILLER: Prudence is a pitifully dumb Dalmation puppy. I'm trying to train her by the book and I end up every training session so mad I could spit. I don't. I don't beat her either, but I honestly feel like it. She's in perfect health, I just had her checked out. Is there any way — any way at all — to wise up a dumb dog? — G. M.

Dear G. M.: Either you are reading the wrong book or you are having considerable trouble interpreting it. An angry frustrating training session is worse than useless. There must be some praise and play associated with the learning process to encourage your dog. Before putting Prudence in the "dumb" category, consider that most healthy dogs who flunk out have a teacher who has also failed.

Conservatitvely speaking, 95 per cent of the time there is a training problem, the fault lies not with dog, but with his trainer. Seek experienced obedience training help which is available in most areas. (Inquire through your local dog clubs.) A knowledgeable trainer can assist and instruct both Prudence and you in a program best suited to you both.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Sam Swift has been a very healthy lizard since I got him last spring. He eats flies and spiders and some other bugs and seems very happy even though he is alone. A friend is offering me her American Chameleon who is really in very puny shape. She thinks maybe it is lonesome and would perk up if it was around Sam Swift. I wouldn't mind trying except it looks so sickly I am afraid it might give something to Sam. Would it be worth taking the chance? — K. A.

Dear K. A.: Probably not. Sam wouldn't benefit from such sickly company even if he didn't contract some disease from it. It's unlikely the anole would be better off around Sam, anyway. Even a healthy American Chamelon is likely to be rather frail by comparison to a swift like Sam.

Nursing a long-ailing chameleon back to health is a tough task. If you decide to try, it should have its own quarters and be kept at a temperature between 85 and 90 degrees and sprayed with a mist of water daily. Try tempting it with the tiniest of succuelnt meal worms, the first one being the hardest and most important to get down.

Cancer victim is denied drug

LOS ALTOS (UPI) — A woman dying of cancer has managed to obtain the controversial drug denied her by the Stanford University Medical Center.

Josephine Bergman, 47, was receiving the drug Laetrile at her physician's office and her husband, James, said Sunday she is feeling better.

Officials at Stanford had refused to give the woman the drug, derived from apricot pits and other fruits and vegetables, because of its ban as a cancer treatment by the federal government. She instead went to her doctor, Stewart Jones, of Palo Alto, for treatment.

Bergman said he would seek an injunction against Stanford April 15 in Superior Court.

Retirement fund now?

By ROGER SPEAR

Q—I am finally in a financial position to start an investment program toward retirement 18 years from now. The way the stock market has been acting in the last year or so makes me wonder if I should wait. What is your opinion?—C.L.

A—With such a long-range goal in mind, I see no justification for postponing the initiation of an investment program. Looking back over the last 40 years, the market, as measured by the Dow-Jones Industrial Average, has moved from about 100 to 850. While the rise has been interrupted by bear markets of up to 5- or 6-year duration, over and 18-year period the trend was significantly upward.

At the present time, there are several indications which point toward an improving market tone. The number of mutual funds sitting on sizable amounts of cash has risen sharply. The bond market has begun to give ground on growing disinterest from investors eying high-yield stocks. Corporations are buying in their own undervalued shares at an accelerating rate.

Furthermore, the economic repercussions of the energy crisis now appear less awesome than originally feared, clearing much of the uncertainty which recently has hamstrung the market. With shares in many major American corporations selling only 8x to 10x earnings, the broad range of attractive investments is well worth pursuing.

Q—You recently recommended two government-backed Merchant Marine bonds. Ho do I go about purchasing these bonds?—R.G.

A—The procedure for buying bonds is a relatively simple one. First you will have to locate a brokerage firm; several of the major retail firms have offices in and around your area. Opening a brokerage account is much the same as opening a charge account at a store. Over and above the price of the bonds, which are trading somewhat above par value, you will have to pay any interest that has accrued since the previous semi-annual interest date.

The broker's commission for completing the transaction will be $5.00 to $7.50 per bond, according to the size of the order.

Q — Would you advise a single woman in her twenties continuing a monthly payment program to acquire Keystone S-4 fund? So far 68 out of 186 payments have been made.—A.D.

Q — Keystone S-4 is now below my cost price and no dividends were paid last year. Should I switch to another Keystone fund? —P.B.

A — Not only did S-4 fail to pay an income dividend in 1973, capital gains distributions have not been made since 1969. Despite the funds stated objective of higher-than-average capital growth, the performance over the last 5 years has been dismal; net asset value has dropped 43 per cent versus a 14 per cent decline in an all-fund average. By the same token, however, the fund responds strongly in bull markets. In 1971, S-4 doubled the gain made by the fund average and in the July-Sept. 1973 period did even better. Thus, the fund's broad portfolio of speculative issues should participate in any market rally and I would suggest holding for that eventuality. For A.D., continued purchase at these low levels appears warranted.

Cultural revolution in Chinese music?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Something new and yet mysterious is going on in China —some watchers say it's a renewed Cultural Revolution whose villains are yet to be revealed — and it all comes together in a new record of the "Yellow River Concerto."

The concerto first came to western notice when Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra played it during their tour of China last year. RCA has just issued a recording of it, played by pianist Daniel Epstein, along with other showpieces performed by the Philadelphia Orchestra during its tour (ARL 1-0415).

The "Yellow River Concerto" was composed by a committee —two men and two women took the bow in Peking —and has already been called "schmaltz" and slyly compared to the "Warsaw Concerto" of movie fame.

It is more than that. The committee of composers could just have well been named Rachmaninoff, Liszt and Grieg, for traces of their influence are many, but the authentic atmosphere of official revolutionary China is there, too —the flutes, the woods, the popular, patriotic themes.

For visitors to China since the thaw, it is all very familiar.

What lends the record some political interest is the inclusion of Respighi's "Pines of Rome." The Philadelphia Orchestra played this in China, and it was praised there at the time.

But in the recent mysterious movements in China, it has become one of the pieces to come under attack in the Chinese press —along with the composers Beethoven and Schubert —as bourgeois, decadent and downright destructive.

What is being attacked, of course, is something else, perhaps the group responsible for China's rapprochement with the United States and the west, but it is too early to tell.

The Spanish pianist, Alicia de Larrocha, has produced a masterpiece recording of the technically difficult "Iberia" tone poems by Isaac Albeniz (London CSA 2235-two records). It also includes "Navarra" and "Cortos de Espana."

The record is likely to set the standards for some time to come.

So many pianists are recording that from the pile of their efforts, it is possible to mention only a few arbitrarily.

Recommeded:

Jorge Bolet playing Liszt's Transcendental Etudes, and also the consolations (RCA CRL 2-0446) — Bolet is a brilliant pianist and a brilliant interpreter of Liszt. Two record set.

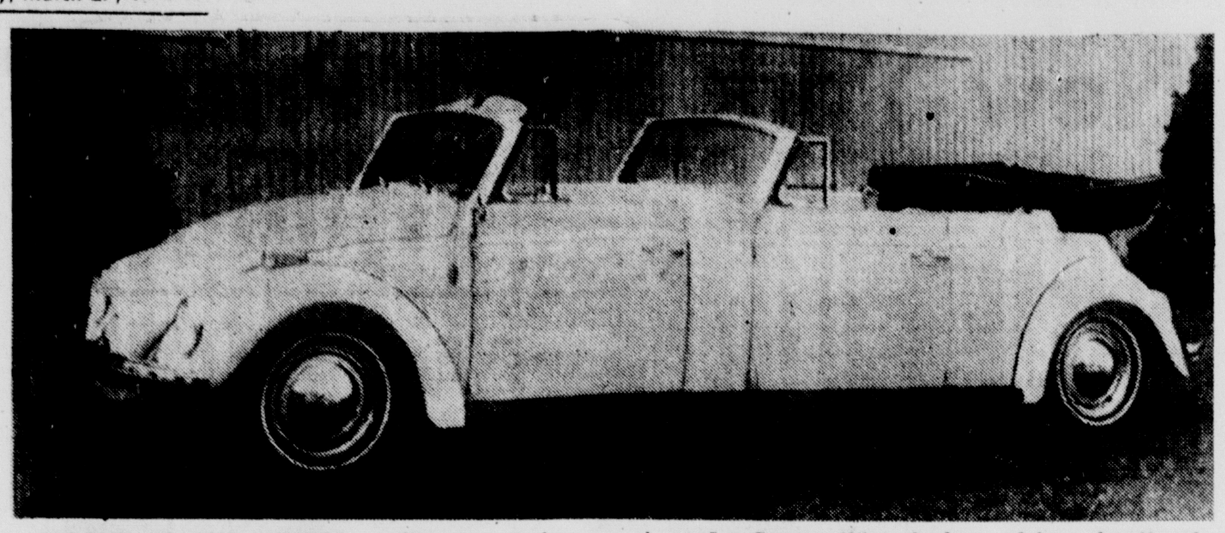
Jorge Bolet playing Rachmaninoff transcriptions of concert favorites (ARL 1-0357).

Rudolf Serkin playing Beethoven Sonatas No. 11 in B flat and No. 24 in F sharp (Columbia M32294).

Vladimir Horowitz playing two Beethoven Sonatas, No. 23 in F minor (Appassionata) and No. 21 in C major (Waldstein) (Columbia M31371).

Marie-Francoise Bucquet playing a selection of pieces by Arnold Schonberg (Philips 6300 510)—Mlle. Bucquet was the sensation of the current concert season in New York, playing a modern repertory seldom touched by other major pianists.

Sviatoslav Richter playing Schumann's Bunte Blatter pieces plus three short Brahms pieces (Angel-Melodiya SR40238)--The Bunte Blatter pieces have seldom been recorded. This is the second set to be available in America and the first by a pianist of international standing.



BIGGER STATUS SYMBOL — One way to keep the big car status symbol in a small-car economy is to put two Volkswagens together. It's not only longer but more thrifty. The "big bug" was built by a La Crosse, Wis., dealer and has chauffered governors, parade marshals and homecoming queens.

San Pedro firm gets OK to move cannery to San Diego

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Van Camp Sea Foods won approval from the state Coastline Commission recently to move its tuna cannery from the San Pedro area to a 28 acre site in San Diego.

The commission approved the site at Harbor Drive and 8th Street by an 8-3 vote, over the objections of San Diego Chicano groups and San Pedro cannery workers.

The move was supported at the Commission meeting by San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson and other city and county officials who argued the decision should be based on environmental issues and not economics.

There are 1,400 cannery jobs at stake in the move.

Those opposing the relocation said the cannery would be near a residential neighborhood that would be subject to plant odors.

"This is not a matter of tuna, but it is a 'red herring' being dragged before you by San Pedro unions," Wilson told the commissioners.

City officials said 1,900 persons live within three quarters of a mile of the plant site.

AAA paints improved gas picture

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The American Automobile Association said Tuesday motorists will have less trouble buying gasoline next Sunday and fewer stations will run out of gas as monthly allotments dwindle in the last days of March.

In its 11th "fuel gauge report," the AAA said 23 per cent of the stations it contacted said they would be open Sunday, compared to 17 per cent a week ago.

It also said that only 3 per cent of the stations reported they were out of gas as the end of the month approached, the same percentage as last week.

The report said fewer stations are limiting the amount of gasoline customers may buy and that more stations are remaining open after 7 p.m. and after noon on Saturdays

Schlesinger-Sears vows are exchanged

Pilgrim Congregational Church was the setting for the marriage of Miss Sheila Ann Sears and Jerry P. Schlesinger.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Judd Jr. of Claremont and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Schlesinger, also of Claremont, recited their vows before Dr. Benton Gaskell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory chantilly lace over pleated organza fashioned along period lines. The bell-shaped skirt flowed from a princess-line bodice. Lace accented the collar, sheer yoke and long fitted sleeves.

Miss Sandra Soward was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Nancy Judd and Patty Schlesinger.

Tony Spear was ring bearer.

Steve Spear was best man and Bill Sears was usher.

Assisting at the reception in Pilgrim Hall were Mary Stafford, Cheri Smith, Linda Judd, Dottie Bishop and Gloria Baltierra.

The newlyweds will make their home in Garden Grove.

At an electric range, always remember: you can save energy by using the lowest heat setting that will do the job.

Fashion tale

Textures and tones tell the winter fashion tale for Ginori, where heavy emphasis on pant suits and colorful sweater combinations guarantee action and attraction. "We're out to achieve a vibrant warmth through deep colors and full-bodied fabrics, said Ginori president, Alan Duddle. "Our flame-stitched wool sweaters are a good example of what we have tried to do. They're bright and bold-and fresh-black bodies with flame - stitched stripe combinations or beige and light and dark green."

Marketing changes could help consumer

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's no time like the present for innovations in the marketplace. Some honest-to-goodness changes could help us consumers keep our personal thermostats lowered instead of wasting energy on poor packaging, poor service, poor quality, even as prices push higher and higher.

Against this setting of economic, energy and environmental crises, what better way to cool us customers than with a crash program of product and service improvement. Otherwise, that consumer rebellion will deepen.

It sends my own temperature soaring to see one supermarket I patronize repricing an item already on the shelves, upward two to three times; that is profit on top of profit from what the item cost the market originally and is outright robbery.

Almost as irksome are the housekeeping habits of so many markets.

Why, for instance, must shelves be restocked, with the aisles filled with boxes at peak shopping hours? Wiggling a cart through them is like broken field running—at snail's pace. Empty cartons and carts in disarray detract also. And there must be some way to speed up things at the checkout counter!

As long as we've brought up packaging, I've noted some improvements since I first started an annual "why don't they" gripe column a few years back.

But there still are enough peeves to keep me going. One spice manufacturer, for instance, marks the top of its plastic containers "pour" sift" and "spoon." The "spoon" halfmoon slit is a great idea, if it were only large enough for a teaspoon to enter, let alone lift out a tablespoon of, say, dry mustard. A reader calls for more convenient openings on cocoa cans for similar reasons, so the entire contents can be used.

Packing complaints still dominate the comments National Family Opinion, Inc., receives from its approximately 100,000 homemaker consultants on marketing.

Their latest "why don't they" list included:

—Package brown sugar in cup-size packages so part of the contents don't harden, and measuring would be simplified.

—Put liquid glue in push-pull top containers like the ones for dishwashing liquids.

—Put tabs on plastic covers to prevent tearing nails when opening coffee or shortening.

—Cut the height of some of the cereal boxes; they're outgrowing the space on cupboard shelves.

Some markets prepackage vegetables, which brings up the gripe about those who predetermine the amounts the housewife purchases.

You need only a couple of small yams, for instance, for a family of two. You either buy five or six pre-packaged or go without, for the produce manager snarls if asked to weigh out just two. Yams don't keep well, so there you are with enough to feed six people, the rest to lie in the refrigerator unused and eventually to be thrown out.

Or, you buy a couple of tomatoes, beautiful to look at through the plastic. But when you get them home and open them, their base, hidden by the paper tray, is spoiled!

Ask The Cook

By Nan Wiley

By any chance do you have a recipe for champagne cake? A friend of mine said it was served at a dinner she attended and was delicious. Mrs. Finis Gault. Taft, Calif.

With a rash of similar requests, all from the west coast, I knew the cake must have originated there so I contacted the Wine Institute at San Francisco. Here is the wonderful three-part recipe they sent at once.

You will need 2¾ cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2-3rds cup shortening, 1½ cups sugar, 1 bottle (2 5ths pint) California champagne, 6 egg whites; also coconut filling, fondant frosting and 6 large marshmallows sliced into 4 rounds per marshmallow.

Resift flour with baking powder and salt. Cream shortening with just 1 cup of the sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in flour mixture and champagne alternately to a smooth batter. Beat egg whites until stiff. Gradually beat in the remaining ½ cup sugar, continuing to beat to a stiff meringue.

Fold about half of the meringue into the batter, mixing thoroughly with a wire whisk. Gently fold in the remainder. Turn into 2 greased and floured 9-inch round cake pans. Bake at 350 degrees 25 to 30 minutes or until cake tests done. Let stand 10 minutes; turn out on wire racks to cool.

When layers are cold, put them together with coconut and filling between layers. Take about 2-3rds cup of the fondant frosting and spread a thin layer over top and sides of cake. (This seals any crumbs.) Pour about ½ cup additional frosting over top of cake, quickly spread to a smooth layer. Cover sides of cake with a second layer of frosting.

Dip marshmallow slices in remaining frosting to coat both sides and set at random on top and sides of cake for the "bubbly" effect.

Now here is the coconut filling: combine ¼ cup butter, 16 large marshmallows quartered and 1 tablespoon white wine in double boiler. Set over boiling water, stir occasionally until marshmallows melt. Take from heat, stir in 1 cup flaked coconut. Cool until thick enough to spread between layers.

Fondant Frosting: Sift 1 pound powdered sugar into top of double boiler. Add ¼ cup light corn syrup and ¼ cup water, stir over boiling water until smooth. Blend in 1½ teaspoons vanilla, a dash of salt and a few drops almond extract.

For a pink champagne effect stir in just 2 or 3 crops red food coloring. Keep frosting warm while using so it spreads smoothly. High altitude areas should adjust 1 leavening to what cookbook charts show for your area. It varies every 1,000 feet.

Why not hurry the spring season a bit by making ice cream? It's fun and easy, and with the booklet, "Heavenly Homemade Ice Cream," as your guide, you can successfully whip up this treat. For your copy send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Nan Wiley in care of Progress-Bulletin, Register and Tribune Syndicate, 715 Locust St., Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

Colburns presented Grange pins

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Colburn were presented 25-year pins at the recent meeting of Fair Valley Grange in the Grange Hall, 11667 S. Monte Vista Ave.

The couple first joined the Townsend Grange 196 in Townsend, Mass., on April 14, 1947.

Combination

A thin bangle or slender link bracelet can highlight an otherwise plain wristwatch when you wear them together.

Ask Dr. Brothers

Intentional accident

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I'm a 60-year-old man. My doctor has informed me that I have to stop smoking. I never felt that this would be much of a hardship because I've always had great self-control. But, I find that it's almost impossible. I've been trying for three weeks now and I'm so ill-tempered that no one wants to be around me.

My wife stopped a year ago and she's most unsympathetic with my agony. The crazy thing is that ever since I tried to stop smoking I've had a series of accidents. First, I broke my toe, then I cut my hand slicing bread and last week, I sprained my back. I'm now smoking a little preferring to wait until I'm out of pain to start on the tough, rigid regime of no cigarettes whatsoever. — T.M.

Dear T.M.: I don't think it's "accidental" that your injuries began with your attempt to quit smoking. Most "accidents" are not really accidental at all. They serve a definite purpose although we may not realize it. Accidents are often self-punishing and attention-getting. You may feel so disgusted with yourself because you can't break the smoking habit, while your wife could that you want to punish yourself.

Before you laugh at this idea, consider the possibility that your unconscious may have this desire even though your conscious mind rejects it as absurd. You may also be using any disability resulting from the accidents as an excuse for postponing the day when you really stop. This may be dangerous, for your "accidents" may become more serious and more numerous as your unconscious rebels more violently against your doctor's orders.

Smoking, like eating, drinking and drug addiction, is, in itself, an addiction. It has the components of a physical addiction in that after a period of smoking, one may find it extremely difficult to stop, just as you are finding out.

It may help if you analyze why you started smoking. Studies reveal that most teenagers start smoking in the seventh, eight or ninth grades. Even gagging on one cigarette a day is enough to start the habit. Some adolescents start smoking out of curiosity, but more begin out of a need to conform and to be accepted by friends, or to give themselves courage and to appear tough and sophisticated. Smoking is most common among children from large families in which older brothers, sisters or parents smoke and where parents condone the habit.

As the young smoker gets used to the throat irritation, he gradually becomes conditioned to a high and regular intake of nicotine. He builds up a tolerance to nicotine and when it is cut off, there are frequently withdrawal symptoms — feelings of anxiety, distress, restlessness and irritation.

Smokers use cigarettes to release tension and to calm nerves. There is also the oral factor. Researchers have found that persons who were weaned too early as babies often have greater difficulty giving up cigarettes. When such persons do stop, they often chew gym, bite on pencils or nails, or use food as a substitute. The compulsive smoker, like the compulsive eater and drinker, usually has problems that go back to early disturbances between the mother and child. The compulsion to smoke may begin with the mother's attitude towards food and feeding habits, and the way the child reacts to these.

Perhaps a good way to stop smoking is to take a tip from Alcoholics Anonymous and quit an hour at a time and a day at a time. Begin by quitting a minute at a time and then extend it. Go from one twenty-four hour period without cigarettes to the next twenty-four hour period. Your frustration will gradually diminish.

Australian to address Pilot Club

Miss Elizabeth McLellan of Brisbane, Australia, will address members of the Pilot Club of Pomona Valley Thursday at 7:15 p.m. at the Heritage House, 1767 N. Garey Ave.

Miss McLellan will discuss her native land. She will also sing and play the guitar. She received her master's degree from Vanderbilt Divinity School at Nashville, Tenn., and is now studying for a doctorate in theology.

Miss McLellan is serving as assistant minister at the United Methodist Church in Yucaipa.

The program has been arranged by Mrs. Clarice Schmidt, chairman, Mrs. Beulah Vail and Miss Elsie Fossum, members of the eucational and international relations committee.

Sponsored by the Italian faculty of Scripps, the movie is open to the public free of charge.

Comedian, ventriloquist will entertain at Knott's

BUENA PARK — Knott's Berry Farm's John Wayne Theater will spotlight comedian-musician Bernie Burns and ventriloquist Lou Dupont Saturday and Sunday.

Teamed up for the two-day stint, Burns and Dupont star at 5, 7 and 9 p.m. Saturday and 2, 4 and 6 p.m. Sunday.

Admission to the theater is included in Knott's admission price.

Burns' act is built around a variety of musical comedy. He plays harmonicas of varying sizes, guitar and piano. He has played the state fair circuit from Arizona to Alaska.

Originally from San Antonio, Tex., Dupont graduated from the University of Washington and became a practicing sociologist. But soon his moonlighting as a ventriloquist became a full-time career.

A unique three-way conversation highlights Dupont's act. In it he uses a dummy that has a dummy on its knee.

Supervisor raps hike in speed limit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — It is "unwise and uncalled for" to lift the 55 mile an hour highway speed limit, County Supervisor James Hayes said Tuesday.

"The same people who now say it's okay to return to high speed limits and to rip off other fuel conservation programs are the ones who were saying all along that no real energy crisis exists," he said.

"We have to continue to conserve gasoline if we hope to get by."

Hayes was reacting to calls from Assemblyman Walter Karabian and Highwway Patrol Commissioner Walter Pudinski to raise the speed limits back to their previous level.

Hayes found support from Gov. Reagan, who told a news conferesce in Sacramento Tuesday that the lower speed limit would be in force for "some time" because it is needed to save gasoline.

UPI writer who "broke" the story about the first atomic bomb to retire

ATLANTA (UPI) — On a quiet Monday morning almost 30 years ago, Chiles Coleman was suddenly faced with describing the horrible devastation of an atomic bomb to a world that knew nothing about nuclear energy.

"I didn't even know what the word atomic meant," recalled Coleman, who was manning the United Press Washington desk at the time the White House announced the bombing of Hiroshima.

But the simple, three-page statement by President Truman described the bomb as equal to 20,000 tons of TNT, and Coleman was quickly able to visualize the destruction. Newspapers throughout the world bannered his story announcng that the United States had entered the atomic age.

That quiet Aug. 6, 1945 quickly turned into the "biggest and toughest" story of Coleman's distinguished career, which has helped chronicle history, including the South's civil rights struggles and the nation's first manned space adventures.

The 61-year-old Coleman, who is retiring next month after 39 years with UPI, spent four "very interesting, provocative and educational" years on the UPI Washington desk from 1944-48, highlighted by his coverage of the bombing of Hiroshima.

With the first bulletin, Coleman knew the bombing was a big story but its true significance did not register until a short time later. "You just can't imagine the mass of material that was released after that first bulletin," he said.

The Washington desk quickly fielded stories on how President Truman had broken the news of the blast aboard the cruiser Augusta while on his way home from the Potsdam Conference, how the Senate Appropriations Committee had approved $2 billion for Project Manhattan to build the bomb without knowing what it was, and how Oak Ridge, a city 82,000, had been built in the hills of East Tennessee with its existence kept secret from the world.

"We also got the story of Alamogordo (N.M.) where the test shot had been made about a month previous," recalled Coleman. "We had tried our best to find out what blew up out there. We knew something did. The Army finally convinced us that an ammunition dump had exploded in the wilds of New Mexico somewhere."

After his four-year stint in Washington, Coleman spent 14 years as UPI's Southern Division news editor, directing coverage of the South's major civil rights battles and the first steps of the space program at Cape Canaveral.

"There was all kinds of pressure from all sorts of people in the South over the civil rights story, including some subscribers who said quit talking about it and it would go away," said Coleman.

"There was almost equal pressure from the civil rights people to get the story out and to blow it up even more than it deserved. It was one of those situations that you were getting enough hell from both sides that you knew you were pretty much right down the middle.

Coleman also had the responsibility of assigning staffers to tense areas where their lives could be endangered.

"My gut feeling was that the chances of having a staffer killed in action had dropped maybe from a million to one to a 100 to one as a result of the civil rights flareup.

"These guys were taking risks but they were being told not to take unnecessary risks. Every guy that went out on a civil rights assignment was told by me or someone else that he wasn't any good to UPI with a hole in his head or lying on a street knocked out by a brick, but to stay the hell out of the way and keep the communication lines open."

One of the last major events that Coleman directed before being promoted to assistant to the UPI Southern Division manager in 1962 was the first U.S. orbital flight by John Glenn.

The account of Glenn's flight was carried on the UPI A-wire without a break for 10 hours.

"At that time, it was a matter of national pride and concern," said Coleman. "The Russians had put a guy in orbit and we hadn't been able to. It was worth the whole A-wire.

"The space program came into our view from practically nowhere and then practically disappeared," he said, referring to the lagging interest in the latest Skylab flight.

Coleman, scholarly in appearance, joined the UPI Kansas City bureau in 1935 in the depression but was transferred to Atlanta 10 days later. His father and grandfather had been Kansas lawyers and judges but his goal had always been to work for a wire service.

Never really attracted by the glamor of on-the-scene reporting, Coleman preferred the role of an editor.

"I wanted to be the guy who laid the last hand on that piece of copy before it went on the wire," he said. "And I didn't want it to go on the wire until I had laid my hand on it."

An avid tennis and bridge player, Coleman was forced to curtail his physical activity during a series of spinal operations over the past 12 years which left him with almost no use of his legs and restricted use of his arms.

Now wheelchair-bound, he still maintains a sharp interest in journalism with a critical eye for sloppy reporting.

"The most important thing anybody can do is bring out the truth and see that both sides are given equal treatment," he said. "This is why I wanted to work for a wire service—to produce an impartial set of facts by which people can make their own judgment.

"I truly believed then and now that given the proper set of facts, the public will make the proper choice 98 per cent of the time."

International space venture on the boards

HOUSTON (UPI) — A space flight with an international crew is planned by 1980 utilizing a Skylab-like orbiting laboratory called Spacelab, according to an official of the European Space Agency.

Heinz Stoewer, Spacelab project manager, said the mission could be the first orbital mission carrying crews from countries other than the United States and the Soviet Union.

The European astronauts will be trained at the Johnson Space Center for the mission.

The Spacelab itself is currently under development by the European agency, made up of Belgium, Denmark, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, the United Kingdom and West Germany.

Germany, according to Stoewer, will finance 50 per cent of the estimated $360 million cost. Spacelab will be funded, developed and controlled by the research organization. The United States is considering buying five of the labs.

The European crews will pick up the operational costs of each mission they go on, Stoewer.
